“Blessed be the LORD God of Israel; for He has visited and redeemed His people, And raised up an horn of salvation for us in the house of His servant David; as He spake by the mouth of His holy prophets, which have been since the world began; That we should be saved from our enemies and from the hand of all that hate us; to perform the mercy promised to our fathers and to remember His holy covenant; The oath which He sware to our father Abraham, That He would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies might serve Him without fear, in holiness and righteousness before Him, all the days of our lives.” Luke 1:68-75;

PSALM 68

God shall arise and by His might Put all His enemies to flight
With shame and consternation.
His haters, haughty though they be,
Shall at His august presence flee
In utter desolation;
For when Jehovah shall appear,
He will consume, afar and near,
All those that evil cherish.
As smoke before His dreadful ire,
As wax is molten by the fire,
So shall the wicked perish.

THINKERS: There are two kinds of thinkers in the world; Low class, and High class thinkers. It has nothing to do with how wealthy you are, or what type of job you have; it has to do with your view of the future. Low class thinkers are only concerned with themselves, and their immediate surroundings. Those wishing to establish a One-World Government for example are High class thinkers. It does not matter to them if their plan does not happen in their lifetime. They will keep working at their goals for the sake of future generations.

Are you concerned about your children's future? Are you a Low class, or a High class thinker? If you are a High class thinker, what are you doing about instructing your children in the Law of the Lord? You are told in Deuteronomy 6:6-9, “And these words which I command thee this day shall be in thine heart: and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shall talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. And thou shalt bind them for a Sign upon thy hand$ and they shall be as frontlets between thine eyes. And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thy house, and on thy gates.”

So as well as instructing us as to what we should teach our children, notice also that it is to be the opposite of the “mark of the beast” as it shall be a sign on our hand and between our eyes, that is our forehead. The sign of God comes from obedience to His Law. Rejection of His Law leaves one with the “mark of the beast”. Write for our Bible Law Course lessons.

A WAY OF LIFE: On a recent tape I heard, it was stated: “Religions are man-made, Christianity is an ethic, a way of life, and is of God.” Where does that leave section 116 of the Federal Constitution?

PRIVATISATION: This seems to be the favourite subject of some politicians. I wonder why they are so keen to dispose of some services, in exchange for some folding green stuff. Could it be that in order to keep the “borrowed money” economy afloat, much money has to be borrowed into circulation?

The most common way of doing that rapidly is to start a war. As the climate does not appear quite right for that just yet, perhaps private industry can be coaxed into borrowing vast sums of money in order to purchase services from the government, which the government will still control through regulations anyway?

Perhaps all those contemplating buying these services from the government ought to read the book, “War Cycles - Peace Cycles” before doing so. (Still some copies available @ AU$17.00 posted).

CONGRESS AND NATIONAL SIN

Congress is the legislative body of the United States, consisting of the Senate and the House of Representatives. The senators and representatives comprising the Congress are sent there by the people, to not only enact laws themselves for the good of the people, but to uphold the Constitution and rule the people on the basis of Constitutional Law.

In other words the government of these United States is not a Democracy as we so often hear it said (demos: the people, i.e. democracy is mob rule, the majority), but we are a Republic, which is a rule of the people through duly elected representatives on the basis of Constitutional Law.

What is generally lost to sight these days, is that men who occupy positions in government, are not there to exercise their own will, or that of a political clique on the people, but they are there as the representatives of God. Government is as much the institution of God as is the church, and the men who rule in governmental positions, are as much the ministers of God in government, as is the preacher, the minister of God in the church.

Paul says as much in Romans 13. In Romans 13:1 (Moffatt Translation) it reads, “Every subject must obey the government authorities, for no authority exists apart from God; the existing authorities have been constituted by God”. Verse 3 in the King James Version it reads, “For he is the minister of God to thee for good.” The State, in its care of the lives, the property, and the welfare of its citizens, is a kind of earthly providence entrusted by God Himself with this authority. It is a high office that is to be filled with great dignity. How far we have strayed from this Divine concept of government.

Only too often our leaders are governed by a form of humanism that makes man his own god. He is thus left to do as he wills or thinks best, regardless of any Divine injunction to the contrary. There is no Divine standard to which he must conform. If the people want it (democracy), or if that is what some political clique has assayed to do, that makes it right or best. In other words, we are taking the way that seems right unto us; we are groping in the light of our own understanding, and it is leading us into the ditch.

The Authority to Rule comes from God

We would also seem to have lost sight of the fact that the right of man to rule over his fellow man, in whatever form the government may take, can only come from God. Armies can compel submission; the popular will may create offices, and choose men to fill them; but man could never create authority. It belongs to God, and what is “ordained of God”, is the maintenance of Law and justice for the welfare of the people and the punishment of wrongdoers by lawfully constituted public authority.

This is God’s world. In His providence, He gave man dominion over it; not to do as he pleased, but as God pleased. Man, regardless of his office or position, was to carry out the will of God in seeing that justice was done for the good of all.

God the Supreme Ruler

What the judges and the rulers of men today would seem to have forgotten, or overlooked, is that God is the Supreme Ruler and Judge to whom all those who undertake to fill this office must answer. In Psalm 82:1 we find the psalmist saying, “God (Jehovah) standeth in the congregation of the mighty; He judgeth among the gods”. At first this might seem to refer to angels, but verse 6 points out that God speaks of judges and rulers as gods. The reason for this is that to them was given God’s Word, and God gave them authority to speak and act in His name.

It was, and is, the Divine purpose that judges and rulers should feel that God is in them in their judgments and decisions, and that they dishonor Him when they render unjust or partial judgments. God has appointed them to a Divine work. They represent the justice and righteousness of God; and not only that, God holds them responsible for doing what is right. He is the Judge of judges. Actually the word “judge” has a much broader usage than what we commonly give it today. It suggests all kind of official positions in which we may stand; all places in which we are placed to rule or influence others.

The Rulers and their Duties

With these thoughts in mind, we would do well to note God’s charge or accusation of the judges. In Psalm 82:2, He asks, “How long will ye judge unjustly, and accept the persons of the wicked?” The magistrates of that day (like many in our day) were guilty of favoring the rich and the mighty, of accepting bribes, and showing a general indifference to justice, and were neglectful of their duties.

What were those in public office to do? In Psalm 82:3-4, we read, “Defend the poor and fatherless; do justice to the afflicted and needy. Deliver the poor and needy; rid them out of the hand of the wicked.” Moffatt says, “Rescue them from the grip of evil men”. The failure to mete out justice and the failure of magistrates to rule in righteousness and to obey the Divine precepts was an act of sin. Sin is a transgression of Divine Law; and what is not generally recognised these days is that public officials who transgress God’s Law for the nation are guilty of national sin.

You see, a nation is a moral personality. Personal pronouns are used of nations. Nations can sin through the acts of their leaders, and only national leaders can repent of their ways and get the nation back to God. It is not enough to have congressional prayer breakfasts, or prayer meetings, and call on God for help, while all concerned make no confession of sin or no appreciable effort, to turn from the evil of their ways. (Note Proverbs 28:9 - CIM). And what with many preachers looking upon the Law of God as something outmoded and done away, there is often no consciousness of sin or wrongdoing on the part of our leaders. (So let us bring it to their attention - CIM).

Our Major National Sin

From the day that Congress instituted and legalised the Federal Reserve Banks, and gave them control of our money, they have been guilty of national sin. And that sin has led this nation ever closer to the brink of national bankruptcy. Wicked and unscrupulous men have been preying on the weak, the fatherless, the poor, and all Americans, through interest-bearing debt and mortgage foreclosure; until the American people are becoming renters on a land they once owned.

The banks profit off the debt. They force individuals and corporations into debt by refusing to spend and issue into circulation the money needed for the conduct of business. There would be no profit for them in doing that. The banks are the cause of depressions and recessions; they are the cause of inflation and the economic crisis in which we find ourselves.

Under the control of the Federal Reserve, the American people have no alternative, but to go into debt. And ever-increasing, interest-bearing debt is the cause of ever-increasing prices, and ever-increasing prices necessitate ever-increasing wages. Yet so cleverly have the money lenders carried on their trade that even most congressmen have not caught on to the evil of the system and the cause of our economic dilemma.

Our Failure to Cancel Debt

According to Biblical Law, every 50th year was to be a year of jubilee in which all debts were to be cancelled and forgiven. This was to prevent the strong and greedy from amassing great wealth at the expense of the poor and the weak, and to prevent oppression and injustice. They were to do this in the fear of God, that God might bless and prosper them. Read Leviticus 25:8-17.

Our failure to abide by this law could well be the reason why we have a cracked Liberty Bell. It quotes from Leviticus 25:10 in a hypocritical sort of way about "proclaiming liberty throughout all the land" but we then fail to obey the Divine injunction of forgiving every man his debts.

Only Congress can right this wrong. It was Congress who got us into this mess, and any time they muster the wisdom and the moral courage, they can get us out of it. But this they will never do as long as they get their advice from so-called "money experts" who have abused the power in their hands to dispossess the American people of their property and wealth. May God be pleased to open their eyes to the acknowledging of His Truth.

POLITICS: Much has been said and written about this subject, and it has often been stated that what is required is Statesmen, not politicians. While that may be true, the comment that I heard recently sums the subject up adequately, I feel. Look at it this way: the word "Politics" is made from two words, POLY which means "many"; and TICKS which are parasites and bloodsuckers. Therefore what one has with a system of Politics, is a multitude of Parasitic Bloodsuckers!

ARE YOU? In Acts 11: 26, we read that "the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch". Webster's 1828 dictionary defines a disciple as one who "receives or professes to receive instruction from another; a follower; an adherent to the doctrines of another; to teach, train or bring up. So one who learns, follows, and then teaches others. Do you do all three?"

SATAN: A number of readers have written about the involvement of some "satan" in the mess that Western nations find themselves in today. In order to reach some deeper understanding of this subject, I have decided to serialise a booklet called, "Who Was the Tempter of the Human Race" written by John R. Fiske Jr. I do not know if it is still in print, or available in quantity. It begins with a statement by Pastor Sheldon Emry as an introduction:

"After being unable to contact the author or original publisher of this un-copyrighted pamphlet, which came into our hands in 1977, we have herewith reprinted it for the perusal of our Christian Brethren. The original copy which we received was undated but it is thought to have been written a number of years ago. The reader will recognise that all of Mr Fiske's arguments are not perfect, and we would guess that Mr Fiske may have just begun to see the error of the common teaching on the "Devil", and in this attempt to show its error, he may have used some faulty reasoning.

"Therefore, we do not agree with ALL of the premises or conclusions drawn by the author, Mr John Fiske, but our purpose in reprinting this article is to show our readers that some men of some time ago began to see the impossibility of the great and powerful "Devil" as taught by so many of the professing Christian denominations. It is hoped that the reader will be moved by the reading of this short pamphlet to make a further study on his own as to just what the Bible does and does not teach on Satan, the devil or devils, the serpent, etc., Sheldon Emry."

From the date on this statement, I draw the conclusion that this pamphlet is what started Pastor Emry off on further study in this subject, which resulted in a series of sermons in 1978. I agree with Pastor Emry's statement that he does not agree with ALL conclusions; nevertheless it is well worth the time to study.

WHO WAS THE TEMPTER OF THE HUMAN RACE?

By John R. Fiske Jr.

Who was the Tempter of the human race? The orthodox (?) answer to the foregoing is that he is a fallen angel. He once lived in the home of God. He became ambitious of God's angels. His forces were defeated and expelled to the earth, thus providing man with a supernatural tempter.

Now if it can be proved that at man's creation everything in the universe was in a state of perfect harmony, "good", in God's eyes, then the theory is delivered a death blow. Carefully consider Genesis 1:31, "And God saw everything that he had made, and behold it was very good."

The clause, "that he had made", is all-inclusive. It does not permit a single exception. If one existed, then it would be a "thing" that God had not "made", which is inconceivable. Furthermore, if God saw "everything" then nothing escaped the all-seeing Eye. If one "thing" did, then that "thing" could say, "God is not the all-seeing One, He cannot see me or what I may do!" The thought defeats itself. When He "saw everything that he had made," He "saw" the angels in His heaven and elsewhere in His universe. He "saw" Adam, the Serpent, and Eve in Eden. He "saw" the cattle upon a thousand hills. He "saw" all forms of animal life from the simplest to the most complex. What, then? Behold, "everything" thus "seen" was "very good". If so, then at the time there was not a wicked "thing" in the universe; and the idea opposed is rendered untenable.

What then, "tempted" our first parents? Our answer must be narrowed to just one of three things: God; His angelic creation; or His animal creation. Did God tempt Adam and Eve to sin? Was He the Tempter? The thought is sinful in the extreme. James 1:13 declares He tempts not "any man." Did someone of his angelic creations tempt them? Here is the battlefield. Here is where the battle must be won or lost. If it can be proved that no angel ever tempted our first parents, then the theory of a supernatural devil is destroyed. The theory that the devil is a fallen angel is the very breath of life to the idea of a supernatural devil. Again we ask: Did an angel tempt Adam and Eve? Our answer is an emphatic "No!" for these six reasons:

1. Luke 20:35-36 and Mark 12:25 declare that "in the resurrection" the saints will be "equal" to and "as" the angels. Now if their "equals" can sin and die, then the saints "in the resurrection" will still be able to sin and die" But if their "equals" are sinless and deathless, then they also will be sinless and deathless.

2. Hebrews 1:14 declares the angels are "all" spirits. What is a "spirit"? John 3:6 says, "That which is born of the Spirit is spirit". Since the "angels" are "all" spirits, it then follows that they are "all" "born" of God's Spirit, and can no more sin and die than He can still and die. 1 Corinthians 15:44-45, in the Diaglott confirms this. Paul there showed an "animal body" to be an "animal" and a "spiritual body" to be a "spirit". Then since the angels are "all" "spirits", they are, therefore, "all" spiritual bodies. As every "animal body" is a product of the animal when born of the animal, so every "spiritual body", angelic or saint, is a product of the Spirit when "born of the Spirit." As every animal body is a partaker of mortality when born of the animal, so every spiritual, body is a partaker of immortality when born of the Spirit.

As every animal body is capable of sin when born of the animal, so every spiritual body is incapable of sin when born of the Spirit, whether saint or angel. They can no more sin and die than can the Spirit, their Father, can sin and die. Sinlessness and deathlessness are characteristics of the "Family". That the angels are "sons of God" and so born of His Spirit is a Bible doctrine (Job 38: 4, 7; Ephesians 3: 15). These shouting "sons of God" before man's creation were His angels. His "family" dwells in two places: "heaven" and "earth". The angels are the part in "heaven, and the saints the part on "earth." Both are, or will be, partakers of His sinless nature, They can no more sin than He can.

3. If the angelic nature permitted sin and death among the angels in the past, since their nature remains unchanged, it would still permit sin and death at the present or any stage in the eternal future. Who knows but what a new Lucifer might arise among them today, or any age yet to be, and lead off in wild rebellion what is left of God's angels right in His own home. The theory is untenable and jeopardises the finished work of Christ of whom it is written, "He will make an end of sin and death" (Daniel 9: 24; 1 Corinthians 15: 26), and "thoroughly purge his floor." (Matthew 3: 12).

4. Matthew 6: 10; As God's "will" has been "done in heaven", everything there is sinless and deathless. When His "will" is "done in earth as it is in heaven," then everything here will be "as" sinless and deathless "as" it is in heaven. But if the accomplishment of that will permits sin and death there, then the accomplishment of that will on earth "as it is done in heaven" would still permit of sin and death here. But since it is certain that when that "will" when fully accomplished here "as it is in heaven", means a sinless, deathless state here, so that certainly is the condition of things in heaven.

5. Hebrews 2: 9, 16; Here we are told that Jesus took not on Himself the nature of angels but ours, "for the suffering of death." But that would be no reason if angels are mortal. But being immortals, we can see the reason. So two propositions are necessitated: angels are immortal, and man is mortal. "For the suffering of death," He did not take on their "nature" but ours.

6. Matthew 18:10; If “their angels do always” see God’s face, they must “live” always. If they live “always”, then they are immortal. Since mortals cannot See God’s face and “live” (Exodus 23:20), and since “their angels do always behold” God’s “face”, it follows therefore they are not mortals but immortals. In view of these six reasons, we are certain no angel ever tempted the first pair. If not, then the theory combatted is delivered a death blow, and should be abandoned.

Since God then, was not the Tempter, and no angel could have been the Tempter, what remains? The animal kingdom. Did some animal tempt our first parents? Genesis 3 clearly teaches that such was the case. An animal known as “the serpent” is declared to have been “the tempter”. Genesis 3:1 (Smith and Goodspeed’s version) describes it as follows; “Now the serpent was the most clever of all the wild beasts that the Lord God had made.”

Now, because such a “serpent,” as the one described, no longer exists, does that prove that such a one did not once exist as Genesis 3 asserts. The estimated number of all species is 750,000. Of these, 500,000 are extinct, There may have been hundreds of thousands of which there is no trace. Of the serpent family, there are twelve known species of which seven are extinct. There could have been others of which all traces have vanished.

Among these is the one described in Genesis 30. Now here was an animal which was “the most clever” of them all. It stood at the very apex of animal intelligences. It had the power of speech, and in some ways was superior to man for it deceived Eve. It seems to be lacking in moral faculties, and in that respect and some other ways, inferior to man. But it talked. So did Balaam’s ass (Numbers 22: 28, 30). If God was able to do this by an “ass”, He surely is able to create an animal “the most clever” of them all, and endow it with the power of speech. If the animal “man” was so endowed, shall we question His ability to so endow the “most clever” animal, long since extinct, with the same power?

It is suggested that an angel, a fallen one, operated through the serpent. This theory is erroneous for these reasons:

1. No angel could have done so for the six reasons given. Furthermore, at that time, absolutely “everything that God had made” was “good”, and so there were no wicked angels to tempt Adam and Eve.

2. The obvious reading of Genesis 3 is opposed to the idea. It names four characters: Adam, Eve, the Serpent, and the Lord God. All these are represented as having “said” and done certain things. Nothing is said of a fifth character.

3. The Lord God deals with just three. He holds each individually responsible for what he had done, and said to each in turn, “Because of what thou hast done” (vv 13, 14, 17), and then passes His penalty. He viewed them as responsible and not as mere tools through which some other intelligence operated, and so fit subjects of punishment. No punishment is named for any super-being operating through any of the three.

4. The Bible attributes great mental power to the Serpent. He is the “most clever” of all animals. His deception proves this. Paul declared that through his subtlety “he beguiled Eve” (2 Corinthians 11: 3). We are exhorted to be “wise as serpents” (Matthew 10: 16); a useless exhortation unless based upon a fact. This is all eliminated by believers in an angelic tempter. They ascribe the mental powers displayed by the tempter to an angel working through it.

For these reasons, we are soundly convinced the tempter of our first parents was really a member of the animal kingdom, long since extinct, but the “most clever” of them all. Being a “beast” and “the most cursed of all animals” (Genesis 3: 14, Smith & Goodspeed Version), he had the “life” and nature of such, and so has long since passed away into death.

Since the original “Serpent, Devil, and Satan” has long since ceased to exist, what has perpetuated the tempting since? We have proved, the utter impossibility of God or any of His angels playing that role. What continued the work thus begun by an animal must belong in some way to the animal kingdom. Our answer is found in the desires of the flesh of men. Since these desires stepped in immediately and continued identically the same kind of work begun by “the Serpent”, they, in a sense, may be regarded as an extension of the original “Serpent”. Hence its names and gender are frequently applied to these “desires,” thus constituting them, in a primary sense, the “devil” of the Scriptures.

There are a number of minor extensions, such as the Roman Empire, Balaam, the man who tempted the Saviour, etc. These are rare and exceptional in nature. That the Roman Empire in all its historic phases is a political extension of the original “Serpent” is to be seen from Revelation 12: 3, 9; 17: 3, 9-16. Here “the beast” or “Serpent”, had “seven heads”. Angels and men have one head each, so it is neither an angel nor a man.

What, then, are the “seven heads”? Verses 9 and 10 give a two-fold interpretation - “seven mountains on which the woman (city of Rome) sitteth” (vs 18). It is a fact that the “city” of Rome is built on seven hills or mountains, and had “seven kings”, or forms of government. “Five are fallen” - that is in the past; “one is”; the last “not yet come”. It is a fact that Rome at that time had already had “five” forms of government: consulate, dictatorial, decemvirate, and triumvirate, “one is”, the imperial, and one “not yet come”, the Gothian. Note further, “the beast”, or “serpent”, had ten horns. The “ten horns”, verse 12 says, are “ten kings” or kingdoms. It is a historic fact that the Roman Empire was divided in 476 A.D. into just “ten kingdoms”.

So it is a certainty, then, that the “Serpent” of Revelation is the Roman Empire in its three historic phases, pagan, papal, and Christian, in its capacity of deceiver. In its pagan phase, by imperial decrees, it deified its deceased emperors and great men, and compelled men to worship them: In its Christian phase, it deified Jesus and made the Holy Ghost into a separate god, and by its imperial decrees, forced such upon the church; and in its papal phase, it has deified millions of its deceased saints. Thus in a political way it has done the same kind of work, deception, which was done by the “Serpent” in Eden, and so it is regarded as an extension of it. (To be continued).

Read again what Pastor Emry said in his introduction, about not agreeing with ALL of Mr Fiske’s premises, and also consider the following: If an angel had rebelled against God, could it remain alive? 1 Samuel 15: 23 tells us, “For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft”, and the margin note for “witchcraft” is “divination”, and refers to Deuteronomy 18: 10 where such are called “abominations” which God would drive out of Israel. Also, as “rebellion” is sin, and Romans 6:23 states, “For the wages of sin is death”, how could sin have existed prior to Adam’s sin, when everything in creation was “very good”, Romans 5: 12 tells us that, “sin” entered into the world by “one man”, not by one fallen angel!

THE MESSIANIC JEWS: When Pastor Emry passed away this spring, Pastor Ben Williams, his replacement at America’s Promise, received the following letter in part, and signed by The Messianic Jews.

“Dear Pastor Williams:

“Congratulations on the death of Christian Nazi Sheldon Emry! We prayed to the God of Israel for a painful and agonizing death for this Nazi scum, and God answered our prayers. We applaud and rejoice to God for snuffing out the life of Nazi Emry, who was a cancer to the whole world.

“God has assured us that Nazi Emry will take his place in hell along with Adolph Hitler and Satan, and that the same fate will befall all his followers.

“All of your prayers to the False Messiah Jesus, the Bastard Son of Satan, are for naught, and you will all experience similar fates.

“Your blasphemous Christianity is an abomination to God and man.

“May Sheldon Emry burn in hell.

The Messianic Jews.”

Now if I or another Identity preacher were to write a similar letter to some Jewish congregation on the death of their rabbi, can you imagine the rage and howls that would be heard across America? Not one newspaper has cared to publish this letter, though I have sent it to several. It does seem as though we have a double standard in America, doesn’t it? (Courtesy Col. Jack Mohr’s Christian Patriot Crusader).

BIBLE LAW QUIZ: Everyone has heard the words of the Lord’s Prayer. “Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven...”

In Webster’s dictionary, part of the long definition of the word “will” includes “something wished by a person” especially by one with power and authority; specifically, (a) a request; as it is his will that you appear; (b) a command; decree; as, “His will be done.”

As part of the definition in Webster’s we find a Scripture quotation, “His will be done.” Notice that Webster’s says that “Thy will be done” is a command.

You may wish to perform an experiment. Approach any of your friends and mention any one of God’s Laws. He will generally respond in one of several ways:

- A. Well, I don’t see why I should have to do... (the law you just mentioned), after all... (reasons why his way is better).
 - B. Oh, that is done away with; you see, we are under the law of love and grace now, etc.
 - C. If that’s what God wants, that’s good enough for me.
1. Which of the attitudes above reflects Jesus Christ’s attitude, “Thy will be done” - A, B or C?
 2. What is God’s name according to Isaiah 42:8? (K.J.V.) “I am the ____ that is my name”.
 3. The name of the President of the United States is:
 - a) The President.
 - b) Ronald Reagan.
 4. Is “The President” a name or a title?
 5. Is “The Lord” a name or title?
 6. Who made Israel to sin?
 - a) A Supernatural Satan.
 - b) The Civil Ruler. e.g. 1 Kings 22: 52, 2 Kings 21: 16.
 7. In Acts 16: 31 we are told to “...believe on the Lord Jesus Christ”. How do we “believe” on Him?
 - a) Do what is right in His eyes.
 - b) Do that which is right in our eyes.
 - c) Just acknowledge Him as our personal Saviour.

WHAT IS WRONG WITH HUMAN RIGHTS: The “human rights” idea has been cried up for an alternative to divine law as “the basis and foundation of government” ever since the Declaration of Rights of Virginia in 1776. It is a foundation of sand.

What are called rights of life, liberty, property, or any of the other of a long list of claims are in fact conditions that prevail when the common law of nations is upheld. Since this common law must pre-suppose a divine author, unbelief forces men to seek another explanation.

A “right” is a legal claim to own or do something. Rights cannot stand on their own merit. As a ground of law, they are indeed “nonsense upon stilts,” being derived from law.

A return to the universal law of God is the only rock upon which government can stand, and which in turn upholds the benefits so wrongly attributed to imaginary impersonal natural forces.

UK SWAMPED WITH AIDS CASES

Dr. Paul Cameron, nationally respected expert on the homosexual movement, told America Today that he helped lead the fight against sodomite rights legislation in Lincoln, Nebraska, and Houston, Texas. In both cases, the bills were defeated by margins of greater than four to one. The latest vote was in Houston, on January 19 1985, when over 81,000 votes were cast against the sodomizers’ rights bill, compared to approximately 18,000 in favor of it.

Much more frightening news comes from England. Dr. Cameron also called attention to the December 15, 1984 issue of LANCET, the British Medical Journal, which outlined a potentially horrifying story. The respected journal told of a case of an English husband and wife who have both contracted AIDS. The husband is now dead and the wife faces the same fate. LANCET states that there is a “distinct possibility” that this may well be the first documented case of heterosexuals contracting the dreaded plague from the bites of a mosquito. The ramifications are far-reaching and worrisome beyond the British medical community.

AIDS KILLS BUSINESS TOO

Broadmindedness may be the most expensive mistake in American business history. Companies settling for union agreements treating sodomy as a preferred minority category are finding more than they bargained for. AIDS is making those provisions far more expensive than similar ones guaranteeing non-discrimination towards women and ethnic groups.

It takes the typical AIDS victim two years to die, and the morbidity management is more expensive than many traditional terminal illnesses. Observers in the field predict health costs will skyrocket.

Business leaders in Houston counted the numbers and led a fight to prevent city adoption of a sodomite rights ordinance. Mayor Kathy Whitmire leads the other side with an eye on the solid sodomite endorsement she got in the last election. The city of 1.6 million people may have as many as 225,000 sodomites.

When the votes were counted in the public referendum, Houston came down solidly against protecting sodomites from discrimination in municipal employment. Business leaders in 50 other large cities with such ordinances are taking a hard second look at the problem.

OPPOSING MINDLESS MODERATION

Anyone reading America Today understands that the nation is facing problems. The days when toleration was normal are past. The San Francisco Democrats seem determined to have their way at any price.

That shouldn’t come as a surprise. The issues of life are finally religious. Jesus said, “No man can serve two masters.” Sister Boom Boom probably wouldn’t use the same terminology, but the message would be the same.

America cannot go on tolerating both Christians and humanists. The Federal Reserve, feminism, and the NEA (National Education Association) will crush people who walk in the old paths and cling to old truths. The Marxist concept behind these movements and institutions is totalitarian. The Soviet doctrine that deviation is insane follows inevitably.

Who would want to live in a society populated in large part by the insane? Advocates of compulsory state education, abortion, and fiat currency cannot really take us seriously. When they are honest, they admit we appear irrational and unhealthy to them.

An excellent illustration is the dilemma of the contemporary farmer caught in the debt squeeze of the Federal Reserve and the agricultural subsidy programs. When faithful men search the Scriptures for answers nothing matches the present options.

The secular humanists see this as proof that the old ways are inadequate and obviously wrong. On the other hand, Reconstructionists see the same evidence as proof most of the system must be rejected and replaced with one directed by Scripture.

We are not the ones who forced the issue. We hold the same perspective as the patriots who founded the nation. That the humanists are free to speak at all is proof we have always been tolerant.

Now that humanism has flowered and wants to destroy the old ways we must rethink all of the compromises we have made over the past two centuries. If one must go when we are finished, then let it be the other side and let the going be total.

The founders had confidence in God and the authority of His law. The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution are covenants rooted in the Bible? The Bible is not just a guide for avoiding hell. It is the Science for Science, government, economics, and art. There is a better way than the Federal Reserve System. The prophets taught it when the Hebrew republic flourished.

Who can look at the widow of a farmer gunned down in a dispute over a writ or at Idaho farm children in foster homes and say the compromises of two centuries were worth the price? Compromise is the American way and it is the easy way, but in the end it is often too expensive to endure. Getting things back in order will be difficult and we will many blunders, but we have no choice. The Bible is full of stories of enemies sent to force people back to old paths and proven truths.

Christians never claim that the Law of God redeems or saves them from hell, but they insist that it accurately represents God's mind and it alone correctly identifies right and wrong. Jesus said, "For verily I say unto you, till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise from the law, till all be fulfilled". (Matthew 5:18)

We aren't going to have peace on the farms till we return to currency based on gold and silver and we aren't going to see an end to abortion clinic bombing until we agree that abortion is murder and murderers must be executed to protect the nation from God's judgement.

Reconstruction is tedious, but that is hardly relevant when the alternatives are closed. The only option is to turn to God's Law. Then we can move on confidently.

The difference between a pair of pigeons and a young married couple is that the pigeons can still make a deposit on a house!

We placed an ad in a Queensland rural newspaper for "Billions for the Bankers" and have had a number of responses. We are looking at advertising in other avenues. With each copy sent, a leaflet offering the Bible Law Course, and one offering a chance to see "Heirs of the Promise" is included.

Two recent weekly tapes from America's Promise were of excellent calibre. One dealing with "Hate" which the churches tell us we must not do. The other dealt with the ninth commandment; this one will be of interest to people having to fill out census end tax forms. It may not say what you think it says! (Both messages on one tape 536/542 for $3.00 posted)

I would have liked to include some other items, but space has run out on me. Only a limited amount of information can be given in this way. May I suggest for a deeper understanding, borrow our tapes and listen to them.

May the God of Israel bless and keep you.
