PROBLEMS FACING AUSTRALIA

*from the Canadian Intelligence Service
Special Supplement - March 2000*

A few notes respecting the mounting economic/financial problems facing Australia, and Jeremy Lee's revealing book,

Upon The Millennium: What Will We Tell Our Children?"

On November 19, 1993, at a meeting of the Asia Pacific Economic Community (APEC) in Seattle, under the chairmanship of US President Bill Clinton, Australia lost the final remnants of its sovereignty, bringing to an end a nearly-50-year process which began when Australia's governing cabinet agreed to sign the November 19, 1946 Bretton Woods international banking agreement after World War II.

Now, Australia is rapidly sliding into Third (or Fourth) World economic status. Since the acceleration of "free trade" agreements in the 1970s, pushed by a succession of socialist governments according to pre-arranged plans cooked up in London, Moscow, New York, Washington, and other power centers, Australia's moral, social, political and economic life has been ruined. If you want to see what the New World Order looks like - or means for your children - look at Australia.

"The last half of the '80s and the first half of the '90s" writes Jeremy Lee in Upon the Millennium, "carried Australia through an escalating crisis which saw tens of thousands of domestic enterprises either close down, move offshore, or be swallowed up by foreign multinationals. The latter, given full rein by the Labour Party (don't just blame Labour - the Liberals are exactly the same! CIM). cut through the Australian economy like sharks. Satiated by a limitless choice of targets, they simply toyed with disintegrating Australia. They kept the names of the 'icons' they had swallowed where it suited them. As Australian-made disappeared from the retail shelves, they were replaced with foreign-owned goods - either from overseas or from foreign-owned productive units in Australia.

"Hard working Australians stood bewildered in fields of unmarketable fruit and vegetables while overseas produce was shipped in to fill market space which once carried Australian goods; orange juice from Latin America while Australian citrus rotted on the trees; fresh and frozen vegetables from Southeast Asia while Australians plowed their unsalable produce back into the soil; pork from China (shouldn't eat it anyway! so God's Law says, CIM) and Scandinavia... The importation of steel based items ... and electrical products were legion."

Meanwhile, it is said "there are 56 taxes on a loaf of bread by the time it reaches the consumer."

Oh, the glories of 'free trade'! Australia, which emerged from World War II with one of the strongest economies in the world, the highest standard of living, and were totally self-sufficient with its broad base of small farms and locally-owned industry, is now a debtor nation, almost entirely foreign-owned, a cog in the New World Order. Its once-proud steel industry is now Chinese-owned ... though Australians were required to borrow the money from the international bankers to pay for the Chinese purchases. The standard of living is in free-fall; real wages are declining; unemployment is rising, as is homelessness, suicide, mental illness and environmental disasters, as the countryside empties out into overburdened urban areas.

To the politicians, of course, things never looked rosier. Australia is now "multicultural" and a "partner" in the international order.

Jeremy Lee's Upon The Millennium: What Will We Tell Our Children? tells the story of what happened to Australia, but also what is happening to the UK, Canada, the United States, and the rest of the so-called First World as a result of 75 years of international banking agreements and post-World war II trade agreements.

Briefly, the strong economies of the once-sovereign nations of the once-Christian West have been sacrificed on the altar of socialism. In painstaking, meticulous, chronological detail, Lee shows how NAFTA and GATT, the WTO, the IMF, and thousands of other international bureaucracies fulfill Joseph Stalin's 1936 Comintern conference agenda to establish "regional groupings" that would eventually amalgamate in one world order.

On the heels of economic controls come the so-called social legislation, the anti-hate laws, the affirmative action laws, the cultural-diversity requirements, hundreds of thousands of pages of laws issued from the United Nations bureaucracies and rubber-stamped in parliaments by legislators who haven't a clue what they're voting on. Lee isn't whistling Dixie here. For example, the 1991 Stockholm Initiative Memorandum states:

"The world therefore needs a system of sanctions to deal with those situations when a country, for whatever reasons, chooses not to comply with the order it has agreed upon. Clearly, this will require a new concept of sovereignty. Given the interdependence of today, the scope of sovereignty is in reality much more limited than either politicians or the public want to admit. For most nations, this will be a difficult political transition - for the major powers as well as for many countries where nationhood is barely a generation old."

In other words, nations which show a little rebelliousness at the arrival of the New World Order may get the Yugoslavian treatment, or maybe the Australian treatment.*

Speaking of Yugoslavia, it is said that democracy finally won out and Milosevic was ousted. But did you know that the American taxpayers funded the political campaign against Milosevic to the tune of $40 million Dollars! So much for 'democracy'!

As for Jeremy Lee's "What Will We Tell Our Children"? Might I suggest the following?:

*"Now therefore hearken, O Israel, unto the statutes and unto the judgments, which I teach you, for to do them, that ye may live, and go in and possess the land which the Lord God of your fathers giveth you. You shall not add unto the word which I command you (the hundreds of thousands of pages of laws issued from Canberra or the United Nations - or from anywhere else for that matter, CIM), neither shall ye diminish aught from it (like, abortion is OK now, adultery is OK now, homosexuality is OK now, and USURY is OK now, etc, CIM), that ye may keep the commandments of the Lord your God which I command you. Your eyes have seen what the Lord did because of Baal-peor (interracial marriage - Numbers 25, and even if some want to argue the 'racial' aspect, certainly intermarriage with a forbidden people!!! CIM): for all the men that followed Baal-peor, the Lord thy God hath destroyed them from among you. But ye that did cleave unto the Lord your God, are alive every one of you this day. Behold, I have taught you statutes, and judgments, even as the Lord my (Moses) God commanded me that ye should do so in the land whither ye go to possess it. Keep therefore and do them: for this is your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the nations, which shall hear all these statutes, and say, Surely this great nation is a wise and understanding people [Israel!]. For what nation is there so great, who hath God so nigh unto them, as the Lord our God is in all things that we call upon him for? And what nation is there so great that hath statutes and judgments so righteous as all this law, which I set before you this day? Only take heed to thyself, and keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen, and lest they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life: but teach them thy sons, and thy son's sons: Specially the day that thou stoodest before the Lord your God in Horeb, when the Lord said unto me, Gather me the people together, and I will make them hear my words, that they may learn to fear me all the days that they shall live upon the earth, and that they may teach their children (nowadays we call it 'home-education', CIM). And ye came near and stood under the mountain; and the mountain burned with fire unto the midst of heaven, with darkness, clouds, and thick darkness. And the Lord spake unto you out of the midst of the fire: ye heard the voice of the words but saw no similitude; only ye heard a voice. And he declared unto you (the forefathers of Anglo-Saxon-Israel) his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, even ten commandments; and he wrote them upon two tables of stone. And the Lord commanded me at that time to teach you statutes and judgments, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go to possess it. ... " But, neither our fathers nor we obeyed His voice! Now whether Jeremy Lee believes the Israel-Identity message or not, I do not know, but he is certainly aware of it. But never have I heard from him or others like him, that all the problems we face today are the result of our disobedience according to Deuteronomy 28 and Leviticus 26, which list the curses (which are on us today) for disobedience. If Lee and others like him would only tell the same message, to white Australians: we have sinned against our God, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and transgressed His Law and His covenant that He made with our forefathers, and THAT is why these things are happening, and people then told their children, perhaps the children could start obeying even where the parents did not. But with true repentance and a change of direction (following God's way, instead of man's - parliaments' - way) and they cried to God for the bondage they are suffering, God in His mercy may hear and deliver them.(Exodus 2:23-24) Certainly people need to be told that they are Israe and that they are not going to get themselves out of this mess.

And that was part of the reason for the removal of weapons, that people would become totally helpless, and have to learn to rely on God only! So start telling your children THAT!

Because it seems to me that there are quite a few older people who know this and are aware of this message but who are not passing it on to the next generation. That means things will continue to get worse, as greater numbers turn away from God to do their own thing instead of learning obedience to God's Law.

Our readership has gone down because over the last few years quite a number of elderly people have died. Where are their children to carry on? I know that some did not have any, and died intestate. That too, is a mistake. Years ago, W.B. Record wrote the following:

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU

There was a motion picture by the above title some years back. It had to do with "living it up NOW." In other words, spend your money now, for you can't take it with you when you depart this life.

The purpose of this article is not to encourage "living it up" and having a high old time while you live, but to set forth some timely thoughts worthy of your most serious consideration; because you cannot take either your money

Discovering Australia's Christian Heritage, by Col Stringer

Few Australians know anything of their nation's rich heritage and the fact that many of our early explorers, pioneers and politicians were men and women of God. It is unknown and sadly untaught that the first spoken words over this nation by one Fernandez de Quiros on the day of Pentecost 1606 not only named Australia "South Land of the Holy Spirit," But also claimed it in the name of Jesus and for the proclamation of the Gospel. How many Australians are aware that Captain James Cook, Captain Charles Sturt, Edward John Eyre, Ludwig Leichardt, Flynn of the Inland and many other famous names were Christians?

or your property with you when your call comes.

The question I am asking you to consider is this - Have you arranged for disposition of your money and property against that time when it will no longer be in your control?? Have you? The reason for asking you this question, is due to what I have observed in several instances. And there are doubtless many more just like them, of which I have no personal knowledge.

Imagine a person having quite a bit of this world's goods, yet having neither chick nor child; a person whose life has demonstrated a definite financial interest in the Kingdom message and Israel identity, leaving all their earthly possessions (not to children of their own, for they had none) but leaving everything to relatives who had not the slightest interest in the things which had meant so much to the deceased; relatives who were quite well fixed themselves, they too, having neither chick nor child (or it would have gone to the State).

Now, of course, that was their right and privilege. But I cannot believe it was their intention, because during their life they had shown a very marked financial interest and cooperation in supporting the message that was dear to their hearts. Yet they departed this life, leaving everything to those whom they had previously declared had no interest whatever in the message.

It would be a different matter entirely if the deceased had dependant children, or relatives who were in financial straits. But even then, it would hardly be part of wisdom to leave everything to them, making no provision whatever for the ongoing of the Gospel ministry which they valued so highly. This is a most serious oversight, and neglect of a duty and responsibility which should have been attended to while they had it in their power.

Many people make no provision for disposition of their money and property until they become so ill they are not able to do so. A will made when one is seriously ill is quite apt to be contested by relatives who have no interest in the desires of the sick one; their one aim being to get possession of the property. Just plain old greed.

The thing to do is to make provision for distribution of one's money and property while one is still in health and of a sound mind. Otherwise your wishes and intentions may never be carried out at all. It certainly should not be left to disinterested relatives.

To you who read this - Have you made provision for disposition of your money and property in keeping with your own wishes? Or are you neglecting it, as so many others have done??? This is a matter worthy of your most serious consideration. And it is something which should not be postponed to some future time; for that future time that you envision, you may not reach.

Whatever disposition you wish to make of your money and property, to whatever good purpose or persons you wish it to go, TAKE CARE OF THE MATTER NOW while the opportunity is yours. Your own lawyer will tell you this is the wise thing to do. Having taken care of the matter, you will have peace of mind while living, and when your call comes you will know that you have not been guilty of neglect!"* -----

Thus far W.B. Record's article. I think, personally, his most telling line in this article, is "It certainly should not be left to disinterested relatives." We all have a duty to help propagate the Gospel of God's Kingdom on Earth, and if one leaves an inheritance, it should go (mainly) to those who have an ongoing interest in continuing what you supported, in regard to furthering that kingdom. Each new generation should be able to build on what their forbears did. It is time- and resource-consuming to try to proselytize each generation anew. The covenant was made to be on-going, therefore children are born into this covenant (that's why they need to be Baptized) and should be educated accordingly (which today means - home education!), then they can carry on from where the parents left off, and not have to continually keep covering the same ground. This is what happens when the next generation rebels and turns away - sometimes never to return to the faith! Please take this to heart and TEACH YOUR CHILDREN!!!

"Woe to the rebellious children, saith the LORD, that take counsel, but not of me; that cover with a covering, but not of my spirit, that they may add sin to sin;"

THE ENEMY WITHIN

Those of us who have come to understand the wonderful truth that Jesus Christ is the Redeemer of Israel realize the importance of humbly seeking His will and His purposes for each of us as He prepares His kingdom. He is faithfully working out that divine purpose through the New Covenant process which is significantly inner-connected with the spiritual intuitiveness and "service attitude" on the part of those aspiring to be sons of God. To this end, I feel especially led to share with you the following:

The Bible says that within Yahweh's covenant people there is a potential to seek and follow the works of the flesh: "Adultery (race-mixing), fornication (unlawful sexual encounters), uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like things" (Galatians 5:19-21).

It would have been easy for me to list those works of the flesh and blame all of them on Talmudic Jews, and some of you no doubt would have praised me for doing so. Often when I point out these shortcomings of the White race, I am ridiculed. Throughout the gospels, Jesus spent maybe one-tenth of His time confronting the anti-Christians, but the other nine-tenths of His time He spent working with the lost sheep of the House of Israel.

The Bible also warns us that our carnal mind is at enmity with God and that Israel's heart is far from Jesus Christ. It is our house that must first be set in order, not theirs. Amos 2:1 & 2 states the following:

"... O children of Israel, against the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying, you only have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will punish you for all your iniquities."

The question of the "ENEMY WITHIN" is not resolved by simply looking within, but it does resolve where we must first start. Judgment must begin in the House of God, meaning within and among God's covenant people. This is where 2 Chronicles 7:14 comes into the picture:

"If my people (Israel), which are called by my name (Christian), shall humble themselves (not their enemies), and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways (that's repentance - turn around and go the other way); then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and heal their land."

If Israel will do this, it will set Israel right with God, and with Him on their side, they can and will cleanse the land. The Scriptures, however, warn us about another aspect of this enemy within. They reveal that certain religious leaders have conspired with the civil rulers to rob and plunder Israel. This corruption is exposed in Isaiah 3:12-14:

"As for my people, children are their oppressors, and women rule over them. O my people, they which lead thee cause thee to err, and destroy the way of thy paths. The Lord standeth up to plead, and standeth to judge the people. The Lord will enter into judgment with the ancients [literally means elders or aged] of His people, and the princes thereof: for ye have eaten up the vineyard; the spoil of the poor is in your houses."

This is an indictment against corrupt religious (and political) leaders who lie to the people so that the people will not discover the truth of the secret or Mystery Babylon(ian) bondage they are under. A few chapters over in Isaiah 9:14-16 a promise of deliverance is given:

"Therefore the Lord will cut off from Israel head and tail, branch and rush in one day. The ancient and honourable, he is the head, and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the tail. For the leaders of this people cause them to err; and they that are led of them are destroyed."

Part of the house cleaning which is needed in Israel is among those religious leaders who look to the civil rulers for their perks, benefits, inspiration, and direction. Over the years I have frequently heard "ministers of the gospel" change their values, political outlook, and reinterpret the Word of God in order to be politically correct. These religious leaders in turn pass these vain aspirations on to their particular denominations, and the people end up dancing to the tune of leaders who cause the people to err. This goes full circle, because the people love to have it so. They love to satisfy the lust of the flesh rather than follow the leading of holy spirit. Yes, the sons of God have a big job ahead of them, and you will know them by their fruits. Look for those leaders and follow those Christians who have the fruits of the spirit manifest in their daily walk. Remember Jesus' warning in Matthew 7:15&16:

"Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruit."

THE ENEMY WITHOUT

Let us begin with the birth of Jacob and Esau. It should first be mentioned that there is a corrupt and misleading teaching being presented in certain "Identity" or Christian Israel circles. It is said that the devil seduced Isaac's wife Rebekah and a short time later, Isaac also had sexual relations with her. From these two unions, Esau and Jacob were born. To justify their belief, they quote Genesis 25:23,

"And the Lord said unto her, Two nations are in thy womb, and two manner of people shall be separated from thy bowels; and the one people shall be stronger than the other people; and the elder shall serve the younger."

Incidentally, the translators added the word "manner." There is no word representing "manner" in the Hebrew text. Therefore, it should be read, "two people shall be separated from thy bowels," and of course two people (Jacob and Esau) were separated from her bowels.

The words "two manner of people" is the phrase they emphasize to somehow "prove" that Rebekah was seduced by the devil or some child of the devil (they cannot seem to make up their mind as to which). In other words, they teach that Esau's father was the devil and that Jacob's father was Isaac. Those who teach this heresy have added "the doctrine of devils" to that verse. (this teaching sounds like what Laurie Richardson was promoting when he wrote to The Strategy objecting our ad for "Give The Devil His Due" tapes by Sheldon Emry. The people obviously have no understanding of Telegony, and should hear Earl Jones' tape by that name, #C-030, CIM). The Scriptures warn us not to add or take from the Word of God. This corrupt teaching is a follow on of the dual seed-line doctrine that is taught about Cain and Able. This is a deceptive Jewish doctrine. Both the Talmud and the Jewish Cabala teach and promote this dual seed-line doctrine. (Beware of any who teach this - they are promoting Talmudism! CIM). It is therefore essential to review the birth of Jacob and Esau and determine what the Scriptures really teach.

The question needs to be asked, WHO CREATES EVIL? Does some 'devil' or 'satan' create evil, or does God Almighty? The scriptures clearly tell us in Isaiah 45:7, "I form the light, and create darkness: I make peace, and create evil, I the LORD do all these things." and in Prov 16:4, "The LORD hath made all things for himself: yea, even the wicked for the day of evil."

God Almighty has no equal, He alone is Sovereign. He does not duel it out with some other devil-god because there is NO bad god to oppose or act counter to. Dualism has no Biblical standing. Satan does not and did not go on some sexual escapade, creating little devils (what sort of perverts would that have made Eve and Rebekah, if they had had sexual relations with some evil "devil"? CIM). Furthermore, I'm incensed that some people so readily accuse the mothers of our race to be whores! Someone needs to point out to these seedline people that Eve "... gave also unto her husband [Adam] with her; and he did eat." (Gen 3:6) and in Gen 3:17, Adam is punished for his sin: "And unto Adam He said, because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife [obviously something that should be done cautiously, and definitely rejected if you know its against God's Law], and hast eaten of the tree ... cursed is the ground for thy sake." In Genesis 3:22 we read: "And the Lord God said, Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil; and now lest he put forth his hand, and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever." What was God Almighty concerned about? Was He concerned that Adam would go and have sex with "THE TREE OF LIFE"? How ridiculous and absurd! Incidentally, this is the type of Christ the Jews portray in their perverted films about Him such as in The Last temptation of Christ. Some people believe that White Adamic Israelite children are always good sweet little angels who always get along as brothers and sisters. I have a brother, and I can tell you that we certainly did not always get along when we were young. Israelites are just as susceptible to greed, hate, vengeance, paranoia, lust, jealousy, envy, strife and other lusts of the flesh as anyone else. Consider the alarming number of white rapists, murderers, thieves, and sodomites there are in the world today (because they are not being punished according to God's Law, their numbers are increasing, CIM). Furthermore, this presentment that "devil" DNA or blood is more powerful than Adamic blood is a lie. This idea that some satan has the upper hand is not only a lie, it is blasphemy! In Genesis 25:19-25 it says:

"And these are the generations of Isaac, Abraham's son: Abraham begat Isaac: And Isaac was forty years old when he took Rebekah to wife, the daughter of Bethuel the Syrian of Padan-aram, the sister to Laban the Syrian. And Isaac entreated the LORD for his wife, because she was barren: and the LORD was entreated of him, and Rebekah his wife conceived. And the children struggled together within her; and she said, If it be so, why am I thus? And she went to inquire of the LORD. And the LORD said unto her, Two nations are in thy womb, and two manner of people shall be separated from thy bowels; and the one people shall be stronger than the other people; and the elder shall serve the younger. And when her days to be delivered were fulfilled, behold, there were twins in her womb. And the first came out red, all over like a hairy garment; and they called his name Esau."

In this passage Isaac entreated the Lord because his wife Rebekah was barren. Certainly they had tried without success to have children and were in deep travail over her barren condition. They knew it would take a miracle for her to conceive. Who answered Isaac's prayer, Satan, or God Almighty? (or the IVF doctor?) Who healed Rebekah's barren condition, Satan, or God the LORD? (or the IVF doctor?). The Jewish-controlled movie industry is fond of producing movies promoting the belief that Satan or one of his demons seduces women, thereby spawning children of the devil. Certain segments of seedline Identity are also fond of promoting this Talmudic doctrine. In the book, THE HOLY KABBALAH by A.E. Waite, page 287, it states: "Another account, on the authority of Rabbi Eleazar, recurs to the earlier thesis, specifying that Cain was begotten from the serpent but that after intercourse with Adam, Eve conceived again, and so brought two sons into the world - one of the serpent and one of the works of Adam." (however, according to 'Telegony', everyone of Adam's race born after that, would have been polluted with/from that original conception! Hear Earl Jones' tape on Telegony.)

This book took its source of information concerning the story of this alleged cohabitation from the Jewish Talmud. The Jews love to teach this dual-seedline message because it promotes and mystifies their racial assimilation, the very core of the religion they are practising. As Pastor Ted Weiland points out in his book EVE: DID SHE OR DIDN'T SHE?, (#804 @ $16.00) which exposes the dangerous fallacy of the seedline doctrine, there are numerous Talmudic sources which promote the seedline hypothesis. On page 97

he lists several places in which the Babylonian Talmud promotes this teaching:

"For when the serpent came upon Eve he injected lust into her." (Shabbath 146a, Talmud)

"...at the time that the snake had intercourse with Eve, he introduced filth into her." (Yevamoth 103b, Talmud)

"Now the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field, etc." (Genes III.1) "More subtle" that is towards evil; "than all the beasts" that is, the idolatrous people of the earth. For they are the children of the ancient serpent which seduced Eve... " (Zohar I, 28b, Cabala)

The Word of God does forewarn us that the Esau-Edomites are enemies of Christ and His kingdom people, the Anglo-Saxons, Scandinavian, Germanic and kindred people who clearly bear the marks of true Israel. But why did God Almighty declare "Jacob have I loved, Esau have I hated." (Romans 9:13) Why did he not declare: "Abel or Seth have I loved, Cain have I hated," especially if Cain was of some devil? Why did not Yahweh declare "Jacob have I loved, the Hittites or Jebusites or Philistines have I hated"? It was not out of some Satanic conception that God Almighty declared "Jacob have I loved, Esau have I hated." it was because Esau despised his birthright and chose to assimilate his Adamic seed.

We know that modern day Jews for the most part are of Khazar and Edomite descent. They intermarried with the Hittites, Jebusites, Perizzites, Canaanites, and Amorites who were already fairly integrated themselves (see Genesis 36:1-8), and have been active down through the ages is proselytizing their Talmudic faith through miscegenation, and misinformation. They do not rely upon public witnessing or come knocking on your door to share their faith. Their religion is integration.

The bulk of modern day Edomite Jews are of a mongrelized, Turkish Mongolian descent, known as Khazars. Arthur Koestler, author of The Thirteenth Tribe (#396 @ $14.00), himself a Jew, wrote this book about modern Jewry, and explains on page 17,

"...they are more closely related to the Hun, Ulgur and Magyar tribes than to the seed of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Should this turn out to be the case, then the term 'anti-Semitism' would become void of meaning ... The story of the Khazar Empire, as it slowly emerges from the past, begins to look like the most cruel hoax which history has ever perpetrated."

These Turkish mongrelized Talmudic Jews are the chief proponents and instigators of moral corruption for the advancement of miscegenation. In the book, The Jew In American Politics, author Nathaniel Weyl quotes Norman Podhoretz, a highly valued "liberal-to-radical Jew" among Jewish intellectuals, who was editor of Commentary, a very influential Jewish magazine. Podhoretz provides this most revealing declaration of Jewish moral corruption on page 263:

"I share this hope, but I cannot see how it will ever be realized unless color does in fact disappear: and that means not integration, it means assimilation, it means - let the brutal word come out - miscegenation. The Black Muslims, like their racist counterparts in the White world, accuse the 'so-called Negro leaders' of secretly pursuing miscegenation as a goal. The racists are wrong, but I wish they were right, for I believe that the wholesale merging of the two races is the most desirable alternative for everyone concerned."

Perhaps Dick Smith should go into these items as well!!

Is this radical-liberal thinking the exception among Jews? No, it is the norm because the Edomite Jew (for the most part) believes that racial assimilation will conquer and defeat white-Adamic Jacob Israel. They are trying to get the birthright back, and they are using every means to prevent Jacob (Israel) from inheriting it. Look back at the above quotation, the hatred this Jew has for the white race is very apparent. Their goal through control over the movie industry, the media, the public-school system, and every other arena of mind control is to make this assimilation a reality. This should put every white Caucasian under alert to this present danger and threat to our survival. Unfortunately, most Caucasian people have been so duped that they cannot recognize any threat to their survival except a falling stock market.

On page 182, Arthur Koestler, in his book The Thirteenth Tribe, quoted from Raphael Patai who reveals that the Jews are not really a true race of people:

"The findings of physical anthropology show that, contrary to popular view, there is no Jewish race. Anthropometric measurements of Jewish groups in many parts of the world indicate that they differ greatly from one another with respect to all the important physical characteristics - stature, weight, skin colour, cephalic index, facial index, blood groupings, etc."

Most Christians, and nonChristians alike have little knowledge or understanding concerning the Biblical history of Israel. They will not take the time to study this issue for themselves, and, as a consequence, they have become an enemy of the truth due to their own ignorance. In fact, even among Kingdom believing people there is the misconception concerning the Jews. As an example, portions of modern-day Jewry have a Semitic origin in part if they are of Esau/Edomite descent. Remember that Esau was Adamic, and even though the Esau/Edomites are a very racially mixed "race" of people, they originally stemmed from a Semitic origin. The bottom line is that no matter which group of Jews you look at, they are both racially mixed and therefore they cannot and do not fall within the definition of a "true race" of people.

Enter now into the equation the Papal religious system. Recent international events in the Middle East have certainly linked the Vatican with the Zionist agenda. It is a known fact that the Jesuit order has been heavily infiltrated with Jews and since the inquisition, a segment of the Jesuits has been the militant and political force for the Vatican. The Catholic Church has its marching orders and is in complete sync with Zionism. All other Judeo-Christian denominations fall in line in varying degrees with the policies set by Zionistic Catholicism, and sadly, as Rome goes, so they go. The Jewish money-changers were at the very doors of the established religious institutes throughout the territory of the Kingdom of Judah during the earthly ministry of Christ some 2,000 years ago. Jesus Christ turned the table on those money-changers and drove them out of the church. House cleaning preserves The Way, and most churches need a good house cleaning. Any church that joins with and supports the cause of Talmudic Judaism is carrying on the ways of the money-

Now, while the foregoing about Esau/Edom is true, are the Celto-Saxon and kindred end-time Israelites without blame for our national moral decay? Are we absolved of our guilt and accountability?

Personally, I have read numerous books and articles that blame the Jews for all problems and negative events which plague the white race. And while I certainly agree that the anti-Christians have formed, promoted, and turned many of the wheels of wickedness, it is the white Adamic Israel people who have been willing riders on those wheels of hell.

Even if nationally the Caucasian people were alien-free (and we certainly long to see that day), Israel's problems would still be of Israel's own carnal making. She is still unregenerate, rebellious and full of sin. Certainly we can and should point out the corrupt deeds of the wicked. Furthermore, we are to stand vigil as God's watchmen on the wall to warn of the enemy within our gates or within our hearts. Whenever Israel came under captivity of her enemies, it was not because of her aliens' sin, but because of her sin.

Pastor Dave Barley.

Mr. Leibler does not want to see the elimination of Jewish nationalism and the creation of a multicultural state in Israel(i)(i in brackets added by CIM, throughout), but is extremely happy to oversee the demise of Australian nationalism, culture, institutions and values to be replaced by a multicultural Australian state.

Any opposition to his Australian vision he would label as racism. Mr. Leibler should be awarded a gold medal for his ability to drive such a two-faced agenda.

Betty George, Jan Juc*

It would be most instructive to know from the Isi Leiblers of this world why multiculturalism was something that "we are all proud of" in Australia [Herald Sun, Sept 27] but that it is not for Israel(i)? Such blatant hypocrisy!

However, the gold for bigotry and extremism must surely be a walk-over for political Zionists when they warned that multiculturalism was under threat during the Pauline Hanson debate in 1997. Most fair-minded Australians would recognize that political party politicians who are elected to represent only the electors took unto themselves a bipartisan policy on immigration and multiculturalism for the past 20 years.

They will now question why they "never ever" had a Melbourne Jewish leader and Zionist Isi Leibler has shown himself to be the ultimate hypocrite in the item "Multiculturalism not for Israel" (we are speaking of the Jewish state in Palestine here! CIM)[Herald Sun, Sept 27].

In Australia he has wielded his enormous power to help build a political system where minority groups

The item "Multiculturalism not for Israel(i)" [Herald Sun Sept 27] exposes Jewish leader Isi Leibler for what he is

Mr. Leibler would be among the first to brand someone racist or anti-semitic if they dared to speak out about multiculturalism. Mr. Leibler says "there is no place for multiculturalism in Israel(i)" but has the opposite view of multiculturalism in Australia.

He has the audacity to say that during the Pauline Hanson debate in 1997 he warned that multiculturalism was under threat by extremists.

What, may I ask, are Zionists if they are not extremists? I oppose multiculturalism, not because I am an extremist but because I believe in Australia - "I am, we are Australians" and Zionism, like racism, does not fit here.

Alan Salter, Moorabbin*
(and Tuesday Oct 3)

It depends where you live.

As a staunch defender of multicultural policy for Australia, surely Jewish leader Isi Leibler must also promote multiculturalism for Israel(i). Alas, no. Mr. Leibler defends Zionism in Israel(i) on the grounds that it is a Jewish state for Jews and that any introduction of multiculturalism would end the concept of Jews as an ethnocentric people (Herald Sun, Sept 27).

Many Australians view multiculturalism as an end to the concept of an Australian identity. However, to voice such an opinion would attract the "racist" label, and the most vociferous criticism would come from people such as Mr. Leibler.

WE NEED TO RETHINK THE CRAZY POLICY OF MULTICULTURALISM

by Andrew Bolt

Apartheid was evil because people were jailed for being of a different race (I think he got that wrong, he must rely on the media for most of his info! CIM) And Australia's multiculturalism is a scandal now that people escape jail for being of a different culture. We badly need to rethink our crazy policy of multiculturalism, after the County Court decided not to jail three members of an ultra-orthodox Jewish family who had helped to steal $20 million from Australian taxpayers.

Head of the family Nachum Goldberg was jailed for five years for running a money-laundering scheme to help businessmen (Jewish, no doubt, CIM) avoid paying tax. But his accomplices, wife Rita and sons Napthali and Hershel, were freed on suspended sentences after Judge Michael Strong said "prison for a Jew of this orthodoxy would be extraordinarily difficult." Rita Goldberg, for instance, would find jail "offensive to her religious beliefs and her cultural background." Prisons would have trouble giving her kosher food. She also faced the humiliation if warders forced her to bare her head, shaved in the tradition of her Adass community.

You may wonder why the judge was so sure of the Goldbergs' piety, given they cheated us of $20 million, and refused to help us get it back by revealing the names of the businessmen involved. No Jewish law condones money laundering, so the Goldbergs are relaxed about some aspects of their religion, at least. Nor does Judaism forbid the jailing of criminals. Being jailed might offend Mrs. Goldberg, but not Jewish law.

Of course, Judge Strong is right to take into account the fact that jail might hit some people harder than others. But this shouldn't usually excuse a criminal from jail altogether. The law must be more impartial than that, or its punishments will become dangerously arbitrary. Cultural groups would jockey for special justice, and courts would entrench cultural differences, instead of binding us as a community under one law.

I suspect judges of say, 30 years ago wouldn't have shared all Judge Strong's sensitivity to a criminal culture. But multiculturalists have since insisted our institutions adapt to ethnic and cultural groups, rather than the other way around. So if jail doesn't suit ultra-Orthodox Jews, then jailed they may not be.

Likewise, governments pay ethnic groups to run their own radio stations, welfare programs and clubs, rather than have them line up with everyone else for mainstream services. Multiculturalists like this ethnic fragmenting of Australia, with Professor May Kalantzis, dean of RMIT University's education faculty, calling our "weak nationality" a "virtue." She goes on about "creating in Australia a new kind of nation ... a nation without nationality." Or to be precise, a nation without an Australian nationality. Want to know how it works? Go back to the Goldberg case. Here is an allegedly pious family, happy to help cheat our community of $20 million. Why? Did they feel it wasn't really their community they were helping to rob?

Maybe - given how Melbourne's 1200-strong Adass community rallied behind them, paying their $1 million legal bill, school fees and mortgage. A bewildered Judge Strong asked: "Why has this level of support been provided? ... Attempts were made to explain it on religious and cultural grounds. I am unconvinced. I find it morally indefensible."

But such ethnic solidarity isn't limited to the Adass. Not when Palestinians in Sydney and Canberra this week firebombed synagogues. Not when Kurds last year trashed a Greek consulate. Not when our main Aboriginal body ATSIC, is led by Geoff Clark, who has backed demands that half our land be put under black rule where "the law of the white man would not apply."

Only last month, the local Middle East Herald praised information technology, which it said would help Arabs to support Arab causes overseas, and meant "national boundaries become less significant as they are transcended by cultural identity." That's code for saying it's more significant to be Arab than Australian.

In a new book on multiculturalism, Dr. Mark Lopez says "a strongly nationalistic population would have been less likely to tolerate" the idea for so long. But our tolerance may finally be snapped by the Goldbergs. If so, it may be the only good we get from the millions they helped to steal from us.

THROUGHOUT YOUR GENERATIONS

by Wilfred Marks, Jr.

A few people have written to Destiny Publishers inquiring whether Christians are to keep the laws established by God through Moses pertaining to the feast days (in particular the Feast of Tabernacles) since the Bible indicates in several places these feast laws are still in effect. For instance, in the 23rd chapter of Leviticus, where the Lord sets forth the laws concerning these feasts, we are told they were to be: "a statute for ever throughout your generations in all your dwellings" (vs 14 and also 31 and 41).

Does this mean we are to celebrate these feasts today as one would celebrate some other religious holiday? If so, would this not mean that people should engage in such rituals; the proper performance of which (according to the law) would require animal sacrifices? Of course not!

So, what are God's people living today to do about these feast dates for it does say - throughout your generations? The answer is they are to be celebrated (or perhaps more accurately we should say fulfilled) by Christians today, but not in the way we would think at first glance. At the time of Christ, God's people in Palestine were keeping the Passover and related feasts (as modern-day Jewry does to some extent today). But Jesus became the Passover Himself (1 Cor. 5:7).

Thus, for Christians to celebrate the Passover by keeping the rites of sacrifice would, in essence, be saying to God the Father, "we don't think Jesus' sacrifice was good enough to fulfill the Passover laws." Of course, no one would think of saying such a thing to God, but by attempting to be justified through the performance of the Passover laws (or other feast laws) is to do just that.

Prior to the time of Christ's first coming, Israel celebrated the Passover in order to be justified (made righteous) before God. But was it the actual performance of these laws and sacrifices that justified them? No! Rather, it was the fact that by faith they were performing rituals which foretold (or foreshadowed) the sacrifice to one day be made by Christ. Thus Paul wrote:

"Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith. But after that faith is come, we are no longer under a schoolmaster." (Gal 3:24-25).

In other words, the law (which included the feast days) was a schoolmaster. Now a schoolmaster is one who teaches by making students perform exercises or drills and takes tests so as to prepare for the realities of life later on. In the same way, the laws pertaining to the feast were instruction, training, or rehearsals for the actual events which were to be performed by God the Father, through the Son, Jesus Christ. It is God who performs the requirements of the law. The feast laws were merely earthly foreshadowings of the work performed by God:

"For since the law has merely a rude outline (foreshadowing) of the good things to come instead of fully expressing those things, it can never by offering the same sacrifices continually year after year make perfect those who approach [its altars]." (Heb 10:1, Amplified Bible)

THE LAW

God's Law is divided into four types: Commandments (to the individual); Statutes (laws pertaining to groups of individuals and nations); Judgments (rulings or penalties in the breaking of either the Commandments or statutes); and Ordinances (LAWS OF RITUAL AND SACRIFICE). Many believe all these laws came into being under Moses at Mt Sinai, but the Bible states:

"Because that Abraham obeyed my voice, and kept my charge, my commandments, my statutes, and my laws." (Gen 26:5).

Abraham was keeping God's Commandments, Statutes and Judgments 430 years prior to the Exodus under Moses. What Moses did at Mt Sinai was to arrange the law into a system for Israel to use as a nation. However, when the people sinned at Mt Sinai, further law (Ordinances) pertaining to animal sacrifice and rituals for the cleansing of sin were added. This is the law Paul referred to when he wrote:

"What I mean is that God made a covenant with Abraham and promised to keep it. The Law, which was given four hundred and thirty years later, cannot break that covenant and cancel God's promise." (Gal 3:17, GNB).

The Lord did not really desire this type of ritual and sacrifice contained in the law, which was added at Sinai. Mr. Howard Rand observed in Primogenesis that, when Moses received the Commandments written on the tablets of stone by God the first time, there was writing on both sides (Exodus 32:16). But after Israel sinned and Moses broke these tablets, the Bible did not say the same about the second set of tablets (Exodus 34:27-28). They contained only the Ten Commandments and were inscribed by Moses, while the first ones were written by God. Mr. Rand wrote:

"What was the writing upon the reverse of the original tables of stone, engraved there by the finger of God Himself? It is very evident that on the reverse side of the first tables perfect laws of spiritual liberty were inscribed which would have brought freedom from the bondage of the law that was added because of the sin of the people ...

"When Israel was organized into His Kingdom, it was very evident that God intended His people to attain to a higher standard of worship than that which was embodied in the ritual of animal sacrifices. But when Israel turned to idolatry they demonstrated their unfitness to receive the perfect law and it became necessary to suspend for centuries the operation of the perfect law of faith and liberty until the men and women of Israel were ready and able to comply with its requirements. It was not until Jesus Christ came that justification by faith could be made the standard of spiritual conduct. With the coming of Pentecost, after the crucifixion, the Christian Church was born, for Jesus Christ had fulfilled the requirements of the law set forth in the ordinances." (Primogenesis, pgs 220 & 221).

Nevertheless, it should be noted that many of the laws of ritual and sacrifice (including the feast day laws) were not "added" at Sinai, but were meant to be there from the beginning because they represented (foreshadowed) the sacrifice Jesus was destined to make even before Abraham; for Jesus was the "lamb slain from the foundation of the world" (Rev 13:8)

From Exodus, Chapter 25 until near the end of Chapter 31, we find many instructions given to Moses by God concerning the building of the Tabernacle and how the rituals and sacrifices were to be conducted. These were all given prior to Israel's rebellion, which led to the added laws of ordinances.

The same is true concerning the feast day laws, for in the 23rd chapter of Leviticus where Moses presents the feast laws in their most comprehensive form, we find in verses 14, 31 and 41 that they were statutes (not ordinances) to be celebrated throughout our generations. In fact, the Passover was instituted while Israel was still in Egypt. (Ex. 12). But once Christ came and was crucified, died and was resurrected, then the only thing that has remained for God's people was to have faith in the performed and completed work of Christ. As Jesus said, on the cross, "it is finished."

The work of fulfilling the feast laws (and all the requirements of the laws of sacrifice whether added at Sinai or not) is a work which God has taken the responsibility for. As Abraham prophetically said to Isaac as he was about to offer him up: "My son, God will provide himself a lamb for a burnt offering” (Gen 22:8).

Thus Paul could declare in Galatians 3:17 that the laws given by Moses at Sinai (and the bondage they entailed) were unable to disannul or hinder the eventual fulfillment and success of the covenant promises made by God to Abraham.

HEAVENLY PATTERN

The Tabernacle was a tent at the center of the Israel encampment which was not only the center of worship in Israel, but was the place at which the priest conducted and oversaw the many sacrifices to be presented to the Lord.

The Tabernacle was portable and was carried place to place by Israel during the forty-year wilderness wandering and into the Promised Land. But with David, plans were put in place to build a Temple, which was built under Solomon’s reign. Yet the Tabernacle, Solomon’s temple (and the later Temple built in Jerusalem) all followed a specific pattern given to Moses - a pattern, which Moses was instructed to carefully follow (Exod 25:8-9). The reason being that the earthly Tabernacle (and later Temple) were patterned after heaven itself:

“[But these offer service merely as] a pattern and as a foreshadowing of [what has its true existence and reality in] the heavenly sanctuary. For when Moses was about to erect the tabernacle, he was warned by God, saying, See to it that you make it all [exactly] according to the copy [the model] which was shown to you on the mountain.” (Heb 8:5, Amplified Bible).

The Tabernacle (and later the Temple) had to be cleansed (purified) by animal sacrifices (Hebrews 9:19-21) as we are told by the writer of Hebrews (probably Paul):

“And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without the shedding of blood is no remission [of sins]. It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heaven should be purified with these [animal sacrifices]; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these. For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us.” (Heb 9:22-24).

The earthly Tabernacle and its sacrifices were only a pattern (foreshadowing) of the heavenly original which required a better sacrifice:

“Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he (Jesus) entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us [Israelites].” (Heb 9:12).

Under the Law, it was the High Priest who oversaw the offerings and sacrifices made. Such sacrifice was carried out day after day, year after year. But of Jesus we read:

“Who needeth not daily, as those high priests to offer up sacrifice, first for his own sins, and then for the people’s: for this he did once, when he offered up himself.” (Heb 7:27).

Once Jesus came and offered His sacrifice, the Law concerning the Passover Lamb was fulfilled. Yet Jesus was not only the sacrifice, He was the High Priest who offered it as well:

“But Christ being come an high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building.” (Heb 9:11).

LIVING SACRIFICES

As we noted, the Tabernacle (and temple) was a specific pattern, which reflected a greater heavenly structure. That structure is the Church, the Body of Christ:

“Built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief cornerstone; In whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord; in whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the spirit.” (Eph 2:20-22).

All (the Elect) who accept Jesus Christ as Savior become part of the overall structure:

“Come as living stones and let yourselves be used in building the spiritual temple, where you will serve as holy priests to offer spiritual and acceptable sacrifices to God through Jesus Christ.” (1 Peter 2:5, GNB).

While the shedding of blood was necessary for the remission of sin, the Lord does not really delight in such blood sacrifice. David wrote:

“For thou desirest not sacrifice; else would I give it: thou delightest not in burnt offering. The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.” (Ps 51:16-17).

Why would God require in the law, so many kinds of rituals and sacrifices, if He doesn’t really delight in them? Again, remember the law is a schoolmaster to bring us to Christ. Could it be that each sacrifice, each offering and ceremony prescribed in the Law, reflects (foreshadows) in some way, some aspect of the living sacrifices made by Christians (as “living stones”) in the Christian life? So we are told:

“Through Jesus, then, let us continually offer up to God the sacrifice of praise, that is, the tribute of lips which acknowledge his name, and never forget to show kindness and to share what you have with others; for such are the sacrifices which God approves.” (Heb 13:15-16, NEB)

The Old Testament Laws pertaining to sacrifices, rituals and feasts are not so much works for Christians to perform. Rather, they foreshadow a life-style to be lived out. We are the “living sacrifices” (“living stones”) with whom God works; with Jesus being the chief cornerstone. It is God who does the work. It is for Christians to have faith in the work God will do (or already has done) and to yield themselves as living sacrifices for the work God may wish to do through them.

IN REMEMBRANCE

At the Lord’s Supper, Jesus broke the bread and passed the cup symbolic of His body and blood, and told the disciples “this do in remembrance of me” (Luke 22:19). Jesus made the sacrifice. He only asked the disciples to remember the work He had already completed. When you think about it, the holidays we celebrate are really memorials (remembrances) of some notable or great thing already done in the past. Is not Thanksgiving a memorial of God’s blessings already given (at least that’s what Thanksgiving once was). Even national holidays like the Fourth of July, which is a memorial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, remembers something already accomplished. The same is true with the feast days of God. It is God who performs the feast - it is for us to observe (remember) and have faith in the work once completed.

Thus, in a sense, Christians still do celebrate Passover today “throughout your generations.” By its observance of the Lord’s Supper, Christianity recognizes that Jesus Christ has already fulfilled the Mosaic Law concerning the Passover. In remembering the work already done we, as Christians, are keeping the Passover “throughout your generations” in accord with God’s Law. Of the Feast of Tabernacles, Zechariah tells us that following the great age-ending events during the day of the Lord, that:

“It shall come to pass [in that day], that every one that is left of all the nations which came against Jerusalem shall even go up from year to year to worship the King, the Lord of hosts, and to keep the feast of tabernacles.” (Zech 14:16).

But note that the keeping of this feast day will be “in that day.” That is, it will be as a memorial after the completed work is performed by Jesus Christ, as He directs His people through events which will end this age. It is Jesus Christ as High Priest (Heb 6:20) who actually directs and performs the feasts as prescribed by the Law. It is us, His People, who are participants (as “living stones”) and observers of God as He performs the work.

This is perhaps not the best of analogies, but it is as if one could talk to their Christmas decorations and ask them, “Do you observe Christmas every year?” It is really the owner of the house who observes Christmas. The decorations are merely put in place by the owner as a memorial or remembrance of the holiday. Yet the decorations by virtue of their having been brought out of storage by the owner of the house for the holiday, do, so to speak, “observe” the passing holiday.

In a similar way, we are the ornaments of God’s house, and He will bring us out of storage (Ezekiel 37:12) and put us in place (John 14:2-3) to observe (as memorials and remembrances) His Feast Days.

The Passover was completely fulfilled by Jesus at the cross, but the Feast of Tabernacles has not yet been fulfilled in all its requirements by God. When one day it is, we will observe it as a memorial “throughout our generations.”*

DO HOME EDUCATED CHILDREN MISS OUT?

by Merrin Larson

Many Parents want to home educate so that their child will not miss out on anything. While this sounds good, it is unrealistic. No matter how you teach, your child will miss out on things. For some things, missing out is a great idea! Missing out on other things though, could mean that in the future, the child’s ability to function as a Christian adult would be compromised.

By missing out, you are not doing a worse job than the schools. Schools miss out on things all the time; they have to - it is impossible to do everything. Schools prioritize; they choose what they regard as most important, and do those things. Home school parents must do the same. Ask yourselves: Which things are essential? Which of these should be done this year? Which things are important? Which of these could be done this year? What things are so trivial, that they can safely be ignored? (If you follow a well-structured course in each major subject area each year, you will find that most of these questions will look after themselves; you will not need to make dozens of decisions; you will just need to choose which book to do for the year in that subject).

It is very easy, when looking at our yearly planners, to think that there is a lot more time available than there really is; that quite a bit can be achieved each day; and that time passes slowly. But reality swiftly steps in and reminds us. In order to make the best use of our time, we need to concentrate on the most important things.

What are the most important things? For most Christian parents, the primary focus is giving God His rightful place, so they do some form of Christian Studies. Another priority is ‘the basics’: Maths, English Grammar and Writing, and Spelling and Vocabulary. Many parents are concerned with their own lack of competence in these areas, and do not want their children to have similar deficiencies. For a number of parents, there are concerns about their ability to teach these subjects. In these cases, it becomes especially important to choose curriculum wisely.

The third priority is often concentration upon the academic standard of the above work, as well as giving the child a good standard of godly general knowledge and skills in other broad areas such as literature, history and geography, and science.

When assessing academic quality, parents are quick to realise that academic quality and entertainment do not usually go together. In an earlier edition of Light of Life, an article mentioned how plain books, or those with simple illustrations, were more effective in teaching reading and comprehension to young children than very colourful books with detailed illustrations. The same principle is often true in other subjects for older children. The most effective English grammar programme, for example, is the Rod and Staff curriculum. By effective I mean that students who have done the course are the most competent students in that subject. While I would not say that ‘plain is best’ is true across the board, it is quite common for ‘coloured and variety’ to receive a higher priority than they deserve.

By what criteria should curriculum be assessed? I would suggest the following guidelines:

- a framework which makes Christ-likeness the focus, not entertainment;
- early work is easy, but becomes increasingly difficult;
- work is presented in a logical, step-by-step, easy to understand manner;
- earlier work is revised as part of the later work;
- the end-of-year standard is of a high academic quality;
- sufficient repetition for the average student to succeed;
- help for the teacher such as text answers and additional assistance, tests and test keys, and
- work is set out in such a way that the student can do at least some of it by themselves.

In the HEA programme, our aim is that by the end of Year 10, the student who has worked well should have built an academic foundation which has equipped him to go to work, undertake TAFE studies, or spend Years 11 & 12 qualifying for any tertiary course which is within his ability.

What sort of time is involved in achieving a good standard? The average primary-aged child would need to spend four hours per day, from the beginning of the second year of schooling until the end of Year 6, working (not sitting staring at books) on academic work. What sort of breakdown do we recommend for that time? For example, the average Year 5 student who is working near his grade level, spends one hour on Maths, half an hour on Grammar or Writing, half an hour on Spelling Vocabulary, one and a half hours on History/Geography or Science, and half an hour on Literature/Reading. Many families finish the academics, other than Literature/Reading, before lunch. Then, other subjects such as Arts/Craft, Health and Physical Education, Home Economics and Music can be done after lunch on an unscheduled, relaxed basis. Family Devotions (Christian Studies) are often done at tea time, and can be followed by Literature/Reading, as everyone helps with the dishes, or at bed time. In this way, formal home schooling can be boxed into the first half of the day, leaving the mother free to spend time with younger children and fulfil her other duties for the second half of the day.

Choosing good curriculum can make home schooling easier for both parent and child. While you cannot make sure that your child will receive an education which covers everything, you can make sure that he does not miss out on anything of real importance.* Courtesy Light of Life, Box 3284 Belconnen MDC, ACT 2617 - ph 02 6259 3944.

The Tares Have Risen Above The Wheat

Col. J. Richard Niemela

History it appears has reached that prophetic time when false claimants to privilege, when obstructors of a true course through a Christian life are revealed - those who now possess the Dominion! Reached a time when these pretenders to the Kingdom are exposed for who and what They are - "Tares." Weeds growing in the Wheat fields of Christianity.

Lukewarm Christians may be surprised, disappointed and filled with anxiety when they realize that these false associates, misleading Shepherds and alien "strangers" have been "seeded" and are growing among them. Pretenders determined to misguide and steer the Wheat from the Harvest, the gathering of its fruit into the Kingdom of the LORD.

When that Biblical Sower scattered His seeds on the wheat fields of this world, these seeds were the Word of God, strewn on His fields, the wheat fields of His Kingdom 1. But after this seeding, an enemy of men scattered his own seeds, his "Tares", into these wheat fields, while men slept. Many are still asleep, blind to an insidious growth among them.

Throughout history, the Sower's plants often experienced diversions from truth, always needing nurturing, cultivation, watering and sunlight. The Tares seeded among them conspired and competed for dominance, blocked the sunlight, and corrupted God's cultivation, while disguising their true purpose! These counterfeit seeds sown among the wheat produced a plant able to emulate the wheat - to subtly intertwine roots with their neighbors, prohibiting removal, while presenting an appearance of legitimacy.

From an old church dictionary comes a clear description of the term, "Tares":

TARES: [Matthew 13] Zizania-Latin, Zowan-Arabic, Sonin-Hebrew: zan means nausea. Not the Scottish vetch, but "darnel"; at first impossible to distinguish from wheat or barley, until the wheat's ear is developed, when the thin fruitless ear of the "darnel" is detected. Its roots too, so intertwines with that of the wheat, that the farmer cannot separate them, without plucking up both, "till the time of the harvest." The seed is like wheat, but smaller and black, and when mixed with wheat flour causes dizziness, intoxication, and paralysis; "Lolium temulentum," bearded darnel, the only deleterious grain among all the numerous grasses. Ivraie, French for "tipsy grass" whence our harmless "rye grass" is named. Hollow professors, having the form without the reality of godliness, nay, even hurtful and bad [Isaiah 29:13, Matthew 15:8, Mark 7:6, Ezekiel 33:31]. None but the Lord of the Harvest can distinguish the seeming from the real. The attempt to forestall His judgment for the sake of securing a pure church has always failed, and has only tended to foster spiritual pride and hypocrisy 2.

Tares - Useless exploitative plants that sprout and rise up to crowd a fruitful wheat - in reality, weeds - that during growth are almost impossible to distinguish from the wheat or barley. Only when its rigid, erect stalk is exposed above the bowing, bending wheat, waving its small dark and noxious fruit, is it finally recognized!

When the Wheat is ready for harvest, it bows before the LORD, offering its fruit, seemingly in a sacrifice. But the Tares, with a lighter seed, are finally exposed - rigidly erect above the Wheat - just before the Harvest. Now conspicuous - arrogantly proffering as Cain, a debilitating offering! Certainly, "The children of the wicked" 3.

Now, in this time before the Harvest, as the LORD informed His disciples, as His Word informs us as well, is when His angels (messengers) are required [as in the Third vision of George Washington]4. Angels (messengers) to cut, bundle and burn the Tares - before the Harvest begins. Tares so entrenched today, that only His angels (messengers) can restore to men, a righteous Kingdom.

Passing centuries have seen the "Christian Wheat" ripening in the wheat fields of the LORD, but counterfeit Tares surreptitiously rose as well, their growth running parallel as antagonistic principles usually do. Tares disguising their true intent while being assimilated among the pliant wheat. Over the years, driven by progressive promotions, there developed an association, a false affinity between these two plantings - between Christian Wheat and the Tares of Talmudism. Pharisal Babylonian Talmudism - existed long before the time of Jesus, but continues today as the "life's-blood of Judaism" - so termed by their rabbinical leaders! Possessing a subtle, insidious determination to intertwine its evil roots with Christianity, it diverts Christians into a new toxic association, a religion, now called "Judeo-Christianity."

Judeo-Christianity, a relatively recent term is now used to describe Christianity by associating it with "Judaism," assuming by inference that Christians owe an allegiance to the so-called Jews and their religion of Talmudic Judaism. In fact, the two religions are the antithesis of each other, diametrically opposed. The Talmud was purposely designed, while Judah was in Babylon, to circumvent the rigid rules and instructions of Moses as found in the books of the Law (Pentateuch).

The ancient Babylonian Talmud, originally known as the "Oral Traditions of the Elders," is still in print, but has been restricted from view over history. Its words are corrupt, subversive and severely anti-Christian; it spawned such damaging instructions as found in the Humanist Manifesto and the diabolical Protocols of Zion (available from CIM #463 @ $4.45), often denied, yet its dictates have been and are being realized!(see also The Plot Against Christianity #395 @ $25.10)

Jesus Christ's view of the Pharisal Talmudism in His day, is yet manifest in the Zionist Judaism of today. Revelation 2:9 and 3:9 and other applicable Bible verses are as vivid and clear in condemnation today as then. How well the LORD understood this deception, the "entangled" roots of both religions falsely intertwined, guided by misled, blinded shepherds who promote a confused growth process. Trying to justify a "natural" outgrowth of both "plantings." A comingling, an intertwining of roots has led to the false assumption that both were sourced and seeded together - that they are, and have been - synonymous - evolved into "Judeo-Christianity," two "blended" religions assumed to have sprung from the same fields of the LORD over the ages. The Bible indicates otherwise, and historical events prove that these two faiths are not united in the platform of belief in Christ, the only avenue into the kingdom as the Word demands.

Over the course of history, naive, "blinded in part," forgiving Christians accommodated the growth of opposing Tares, saw them rise in their fields, then through deceit, often involving both in chaos - leading in many instances, to banishment, even the reapers sickle - foreshadowing those dire prophetic events promised by the LORD, just before the final "Harvest."

In the Parable of the Householder (found in Matthew 13), His loyal servants reported the appearance of Tares among the growing wheat, their growth disguised to avoid detection while exploiting associates, as is their nature. As Matthew notes, the wise Householder advised His servants to permit their growth and not remove them, as their roots, now so entangled among the wheat inhibits weeding - the Wheat would be uprooted. Just before the time of the Harvest, when the Tares have risen above the pliant wheat, conspicuously overshadowing their host, the reapers are instructed by the LORD, their mission - remove the Tares; To "gather out of His kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity." "Gather ye first the Tares and bind them into bundles for burning," seems to imply that the Householder (Christians) will not be able to do so, as the Tares, now so entrenched that only "His messengers" can ... "cut, bundle and burn" them.

"Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the Kingdom of their Father" 5.

How perfect and infinite is the planning of God. The most minute annotation, the most simple Biblical instructions so dovetail together in this path of history across the generations, that His concern for even a sparrow fits into it all. This gathering of the Tares by the LORD's messengers, the burning of them before the Wheat is housed in the Kingdom, implies in a literal sense, that the Wheat will see, as Psalm 91:8 promises, "with thine eyes shalt thou behold the reward of the wicked." A further confirmation of this end-time event is noted in Psalm 37:34, "...when the wicked are cut off, thou shalt see it." Consider well the words "see" and "behold." Both references confirm Jesus' words in Matthew 13.

How does this seeing with "their eyes" speak to those who promote the pre-tribulation "rapture." The misguided Shepherds of Churchianity would have Christians away, sitting in comfortable arm chairs in the clouds, with the LORD, watching events unfold here on earth. Never Christian! You will be a witness to this event, and your "roots" to the past are important; Israelite!

Clearly, at the harvest, the now untangled Wheat, the Righteous, will shine forth as if they had been under a cloud - black clouds, much like those in Gen. Washington's revealing Third vision for America. The Tares, the ungodly pretenders, the false claimants to the covenant privileges, the corrupters, the obstructors, now protruding above the wheat, will be exposed to the heavenly reapers, the LORD's messengers.

Today it is obvious that the Tares have risen above the Wheat in the wheat field countries of the LORD, those nations of true Israel, no longer "lost" yet still experiencing the "blindness in part" that St. Paul notes in Romans; blind only however, "until the time of the Gentiles has come" (Rom 11:26, which refers to Genesis 48:19, the seed of Ephraim becoming a 'fullness of nations'). That time is close. The Tares have achieved dominion 7, have risen to crowd our Christian heritage with a noxious presence, have induced a Talmudic anti-Christian immorality and control on the people, their alien influence rises in the courts, in our schools and churches, all now thoroughly immersed in the doctrinal sea of the Talmud and its commentaries.

Their toxic policies filter through the financial and political institutions dominated by the Tares, making this once Christian nation subservient to a humanist, One World Order under very identifiable Tares. Many of today's Christians, like the passive wheat, quietly submit to entangled roots, accommodating as ever, as Christians are wont to do, willing to forgive, almost docile in their blindness to today's rising growth of the Tares.

But, not all are that "blinded," many are rapidly beginning to realize and see, as did the disciples when they asked the Master to "Declare unto us the Parable of the Tares," to recognize the oncoming resolution to this ancient, contentious issue. Our LORD, in the most detailed elaboration of His parables was most specific in describing to whom this parable applied and why - How it would be resolved, when it would happen, and the final results 8.

Today's growth of the Talmudic Tares, now rigidly obvious above the Christian Wheat, stimulates this growing awareness, while the blindness is being corrected, the scales are being removed; the truth of the Kingdom is emerging! A clear indication that the time of the Harvest is approaching. The ancient historical mixing of seeds of good and evil, the intertwined roots, the disguised growth, the different offerings of fruit has also induced the Tares to become a stumbling-block to the Wheat, deceptively being led away from Biblical truths.

In the end, this deception leads to that final solution promised by the LORD to His disciples and now to us, awaiting that announcement, a blast from the Seventh trumpet. The final absolute separation of the Tares from the Wheat by His messengers - approaching as you read. Confirmed by the LORD's own words to the Pharisees: "but He answered and said, every plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up"⁹. This great historic controversy between good and evil may have reached the limits of Divine forbearance. Today this controversy has been increasing in intensity and will to the close of the age; to when the tares of evil are finally removed and the Kingdom is restored (to Israel, Acts 1:6).

GIVE UP THE SPIRIT

Adam de Witt

Basically, the thrust of Brother Ben Williams' message "Give Up The Ghost" (#176 Oct 2000) was very good. But our American brethren are often more learned in Greek and Latin than they are in English. This is not a slur on my part, it is simply an observation upon just how far the knowledge of our roots has waned. The sad thing about brother Williams' message is that the point I tend to remember most is that we ought not use the word 'ghost.' I had to re-read the article to grasp the real thrust, namely, that we really are to give up the false idea that some spook or spooks take hold of us.

Often we hear tapes in which some preacher says, "our English word 'Ecclesia' means..." "The fact is Ecclesia is NOT an English word, it is Greek. And so too, the word 'spirit' is not English.

English is a West Germanic Dialect. Other West Germanic dialects include: Dutch, Low & High German and Friesian. The North Germanic Dialects are Swedish, Icelandic, Danish and Norwegian. The East Germanic dialects are no longer spoken, these were: Vandalic, Burgundian, and Gothic. But ignorance is causing the West Germanic dialects of English and Dutch to be replaced by imported French/Latin and Greek words.

Spirit means exactly the same as Ghost. Both words can also mean spook and both are used the same way in Bible translations. In the new translations, the Saxon/Germanic word 'ghost' has been replaced by the papal-Latin word

'spirit.' A rose is a rose by any other name. Thus we see that Judeo-Christians still believe in spooks even though they use the word spirit. If 'spirit' and 'ghost' makes us think of spooks then choosing one to replace the other does nothing to clarify matters.

"Grieving the holy spirit" - quoted from 'Giving Up The Ghost'. In this case 'spirit' can still be taken to mean some unseen power floating around out there. Clearly 'spirit' is a word that can mean spook. Spirit or Ghost would be best rendered 'righteous thinking.' Basically, they who translated the new English versions of the Bible were just as ignorant as those who translated the old versions. The modern translator also believed that 'spirit' meant spook, otherwise they would have used the words 'mind,' 'thought,' 'thinking,' 'mental' and 'mindset' where apt.

The words Ghost and Spirit are often translated (in the case of the Hebrew text) from the word 'ruach' or 'ruwach.' (recommended: Kingdom Bible Studies, goes into a lot of detail giving numerous scriptural examples, write to CIM). Anyone who understands our Germanic dialects can soon spot some important word links. 'Ruach' means wind or breath. Guess what ... we have that very Hebrew word in our Germanic dialects. 'Rauch' in German; meaning smoke ... 'Rook' in Dutch; meaning smoke and 'reek' in English; meaning stench. As it happens, 'Ghost' is not such a bad translation when we understand that the word 'gas' is derived from ghost. 'Gas' is actually an even better word in so much that it implies 'fuel.' Oil is also a fuel and olive oil is used for anointing; it is also the oil for lamp stands. When it burns it symbolizes holy gas/ghost literally, a righteous thinking.

That is why 'Geest' (Dutch for Ghost) is also used to mean the alcohol in booze, as does Papal-Latin 'Spirit(s)'. Having written all that, I can agree that 'Ghost' may confuse those that lack understanding of symbolism, but so does 'spirit.' Yet the Bible is full of symbolism. I believe God deliberately did this. If the aim is to rid the Bible of symbolism then getting rid of 'ghost' is like putting two lumps of sugar in the sea and saying, now it is sweeter. If the aim is only to get rid of 'spook' ideas, then both spirit and ghost must be given up, and the more blunt and to the point words: thoughts, mindset, thinking, and so on should be used. So let's give up the Spirit oh .. and ghost.

RIOTS OVER SOARING FOOD PRICES

HARARE: Army reserve units have been called in to help police in Zimbabwean townships battle protesters against rapidly rising food prices after two days rioting.

"The time has come to say enough is enough," Information Minister Jonathan Moyo said. "We have to protect the average person and that involves using all organs of the state including the army." Police said the National Reaction Force, which groups army reserve units and riot police, had been reactivated to tackle the riots which erupted on Monday in two townships and spread yesterday to three others.

Vehicles have been torched, shops looted and nearly 60 people have been arrested in two days. The township roads were strewn with rubble, broken glass and smouldering piles of debris.

Prices have jumped by an average one third in October alone, and official inflation is running at an annual rate of 62 per cent. Less than half the workforce have jobs.

The farming industry, the backbone of the national economy, is on its knees, government coffers are bare, fuel is scarce and the Zimbabwe dollar is sinking steadily, making imports increasingly expensive. =====

After having heard previously about the treatment of White farmers in Zimbabwe by Blacks, the above does not surprise me at all. This is typical of the destruction of a once prosperous nation, once those who can't handle it are given control of the country. Look for the same to happen in South Africa.

But, is this what our political leaders are doing to Australia? It is predicted that most small business in Australia will be forced to close (many have already gone) mainly because of the IMF-imposed GST. Australia is down from 300,000 farmers to just 90,000, For more on this, I suggest you get and circulate the new video GST MANDATE (#CI-303 @ S.D.$20, or LOAN ONLY @ S.D.$5, for New Zealand $25Aust and $10Aust respectively) with Ian Henke (Institute for Taxation Research) and Len Clampett. Show it or lend it to your friends and acquaintances. Copy it and give it away.

2.5 Will Protestants and Catholics unite to form a world church that will attempt to suppress all other religions?

These churches are already largely united, doctrinally speaking. Most preaching on this subject is based upon the futurist interpretation of Revelation, in which soon the "Antichrist" will rise and form a world church and kill anyone who refuses to join it. But if that is the case, then why worry at all? After all, according to most futurist theology, the church will not be here anyway during the oppressive reign of the "Antichrist."

We do not believe that this great united church will be any worse than the World Council of Churches is today. For one thing, too many Christians have already been forewarned of such a day and would not join. Many have been taught that this is somehow connected with the "mark of the beast," so they would be fearful of losing their salvation by joining such an organization.

This interpretation of the future "world church of the antichrist" has been used for two related purposes. First, it blinds people to the fact that the "antichrist" is already ruling the world; and secondly, it gets people to join "the true church" (meaning their own, of course) as a means of controlling the people.

2.6 The Bible has a lot to say about the wicked. Their monstrous greed and selfishness is running rampant. What is God doing about these criminals?

Those wicked criminals happen to be God's servants, according to the Scriptures. All that greed and selfishness is well described by the prophet Joel, where they are called locusts, cankerworms, caterpillars, and palmerworms, "my great army which I (God) sent among you" (Joel 3:25). These wicked people are the worms and parasites that do nothing but feed themselves greedily. (there is talk of putting a spa in John Howard's plane! CIM)

God has sent them among us in order to judge us for our refusal to obey His Law (Ezekiel 5:16,17). These wicked people THINK that they are doing this just because they want to rob us and get rich off our labour, but they do not understand that God is the One who is directing them to do this against us (Isaiah 10:5-7 and vs 13-15). Ezekiel 38:4 tells us that God is actually putting hooks into their jaws and dragging them here to rob us. All of this because we have refused the Law of God, and thus we are under the curses of the Law for disobedience.

Fortunately for us, the Bible also tells us that one day this plunder will end in their final destruction (the Final Solution). This will occur as soon as our nation repents and turns to His Law. It is a great comfort to know that all these wicked enemies are under the absolute control of the God who loves us. We know then that God has the power to stop them at the exact moment He has planned to save us.

2.7 In Acts 9:7,8 we read that when God struck Paul down on his way to Damascus [resulting in Paul's conversion], his companions heard the voice of God but saw no-one. However, when Paul recounts the story in Acts 22:9, he says that the others saw the light, but did not hear the voice. How do we resolve this apparent contradiction?

Assuming that the Bible does not contradict itself, we can only conclude that Acts 9:7 means that Paul's companions heard a sound, but could not distinguish the words that were being spoken to Paul. Thus, they heard not the voice. In Acts 22:9 Paul means that his companions did indeed hear the sound of the voice, though they did not understand the words.

We have another example in Scripture where God's voice from heaven was heard, but the people did not understand the message. It is found in John 12:28-30, where Jesus prays, "Father, glorify thy name. Then came there a voice from heaven saying, I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again. The people therefore that stood by and HEARD IT, said that it thundered; others said, An angel spake to him. Jesus answered and said, This voice came not because of me, but for your sakes."

So we see that in this case the people again heard the voice, but many thought it was thunder. They "heard" the voice, but they did not really hear it either. The word "voice" in both John 12 and Acts 9 comes from the Greek word phoney. It can refer to a sound of any kind, not just vocalized sound. For example, in Acts 2:2 on the day of Pentecost "there came a sound (Greek: echos) from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting." Then in vs 6, reading from a literal translation, it says, "Now this voice (Greek: phoney) having come, the multitude came together and were confounded."

The multitude heard the sound of this "wind" and saw how it seemed to fill this particular house where the disciples were meeting, and so they gathered around the house to see what was going on. Vs 2 says that this sound resembled that a rushing wind, but vs 6 calls it a "voice," phoney, the same term as used in Acts 9 and 22.
