WE SHOULD ROAST RUDOLPH, TAKE THE CLAPPERS OUT OF "JINGLE BELLS," AND BURY SANTA CLAUS

By Arnold Kennedy

A "DIFFERENT" CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

Even a very brief search of the history books of various nations and peoples, shows that many had a mid-winter "festival" embodying all the customs of the modern "Christmas," such as feasting, drunken revelry, sexual excess, burning a log, decorating a tree, giving gifts, etc., and it was ALWAYS done in conjunction with THE ANCIENT RELIGIOUS PAGAN CUSTOMS! When we look further into the particular day, the 25th of December, some more rather strange things are discovered.

FIRST, Christians observed no such day as "the birthday of Jesus" during the lives of the Disciples, or those that followed immediately after them.

SECOND, no one has ever come forward with even one verse of Scripture admonishing believers to observe any such "celebration" of "the birthday of Christ," nor is there any. Both Old and New Scriptures, give no instructions about celebrating Jesus' "birthday." More than that, Christians are told to remember the death of Jesus Christ in the Communion service, never His birth. So then there is no right place for any, "Come let us adore Him" by the "Come all ye faithful" in the sense of a Christmas festivity.

THIRD, the description of Jesus' birth night tells of a time to be taxed. of shepherds in the field with their flocks at night, and the city of Bethlehem full of travellers ("no room for them in the inn"-Luke 2:1-8). Common sense and custom would have the Roman governor collect taxes at the time the people had money from the harvest (taxed: #582, apographe, from 583: an enrollment, by implication, an assessment: -taxing. [I think this could also be read to mean some form of census, CIM]). Midwinter, when the sheep were kept indoors also does not allow December 25th, to be the time when the shepherds "watched their sheep by night."

FOURTH, are all the "goings-on" Christians subscribe to really a nebulous "spirit" they call the "Christmas spirit," and many praise as the workings of that "spirit?" If that were the Spirit of God as churches claim, would that Spirit cease to operate after the holiday period, as church people often demonstrate by their actions that it has ceased?

In fact, the "Christmas spirit" seems to cause almost all to act in a manner that is totally out of line with the teachings of Jesus Christ. Stores raise many prices, often pushing cheap and flimsy merchandise for "gifts," men exchange bottles or cases of whiskey, beer and other mind-distorting, mind-altering drugs; employers give "Christmas parties" with free liquor often with tragic consequences in auto accidents, or with illicit sex liaisons. Tens of thousands of families, caught up in the so-called "Christmas spirit," overspend and lay an additional burden of debt upon themselves for months and even years afterward. One does not have to be very bright to see that this is not the Spirit of God at all!

FIFTH, in addition, untold millions of little children are deceived about the existence of a pagan creation called "Santa Claus." Parents, who under most circumstances would severely punish their children for telling lies, blithely lie to these same children, and do it with a smile on their faces and joy in their hearts! This is completely contrary to the Word of God.

SIXTH, the only birthdays celebrated in the Bible were those of pagan kings.

SEVENTH, historically, the Christian world did not commemorate the birth of Jesus Christ until the 5th century. Christians considered it to be a pagan practice to celebrate birthdays before the influence of Rome came into being. But later, when it encountered pagan practices, it either stamped them out or adapted the festival rites to the false Christian faith. It adopted the statues portraying Isis and the child-god Horus, merely renaming them Mary and Jesus. This same system of assimilation gave rise to Christmas as we know it.

Wherever the Christians went, they discovered that the latter half of December was the time of the Winter solstice, when the days began to lengthen was the time when the Sun-God turned in his path and started back to his people; it was Saturnalia, a time for licentious-rev-into sinful behaviour. Icons, by their nature, rely on the five senses, and human invention. An imposing building, for example, can inspire feelings of intellectual or technological superiority. A sleek sports car can stir feelings of power, lust and freedom from restraint, an image of a leader or celebrity can stir feelings of jealousy, consanguinity, animosity, or a host of other emotions.

Ancient societies, of course, DID idolize graven images, such as the golden calf of Canaan, or the Mars temple of the Greeks (a people supposedly advanced intellectually). In Acts 17, the Apostle Paul was witnessing the Gospel of the Kingdom of Jesus Christ to his Athenian kinsmen, a people of many idols (vss 16 & 22, who considered our Lord "a foreign god" (v.18). Still, they arrested Paul to find out what this "new thing" was he was preaching. The constant need for "something new" is idolatry in itself, and a sign of spiritual emptiness (1 Tim. 6:6-9). Paul, after observing their altar of the "Unknown God" (v.23), expounded on how the Creator dwelt: "not in temples made with hands" (graven), but in the hearts and minds of His followers, of those who repent of their sins, and keep His commandments.

Solomon, in his earthly mind, imagined the "house" he was building for YHVH, was such a place (1 Kings 8:13), though the Creator's intent was to dwell in the hearts and minds of Israelites, on their obedience (1 Kings 6:11-14). It is common for humans (man-like) to confuse the physical with the spiritual, and build icons and idols upon that misunderstanding. Remember that heart circumcision was an Old testament precept first (Deut 10:16).

Beware what (or who) you iconize! Flee idolatry! (1 Cor. 10:13-14). We have a kinsman advocate! (Acts 17:28).

EUROPE, THE STOMPING GROUND OF TRAITORS.

From our European Desk, by Adam de Witt

After "the War," the Dutch folkmoot (government) cried, Holland is overcrowded, so we must egg [urge or encourage, from Old Norse, eggja - 'incite'] our folk on to leave for the immigration lands, USA, the Australias (Aus & NZ), British North America (BNA or to use the pagan name Canada) and Suid Afrika. In the UK the same was said and fostered. Yet as they were shipping Saxons out, the besnarers (traitors) began to ship heulings (coloureds) in. Foremost in this programme of snaring were the churches. When the heulings started to pour in, both the politicians and church cretins cried, "Holland is not yet full". In the UK the catch cry was, "There is no shortage of room in Britain."

These catch cries are still being broadcast today, often in the media or at schools. At least once a week, we get to hear tidings on the TV news (here in Holland) about some woe caused by the heulings and what needs to be done. On RTL TV news (a regional station in Rotterdam) we were shown graphs highlighting which neighborhoods were the most darkened. Some were more than 64% coloured. That is to say, whites were outnumbered. The broadcast showed a white woman in tears for being badly treated by heuling shopowners, crying, "How far is this to go?" A white elderly man said, "I feel like wearing a badge saying, 'I am a true Rotterdammer.'" This film clip was followed by a politician saying, "yes, but Holland is not yet full, these immigrants have enriched our culture." Funny, I seem to have heard that unimaginative line before. Let me see now - Ah yes, in Australia ... in the USA It seems the unimaginative Canaanites are at it everywhere.

Anyhow, what is the government's answer to the woe? Get the heulings to move out into smaller towns where they can better integrate - translated into English: Get them into smaller towns where they can bastardize what pure whites are left through interracial wedding and bedding.

Huelings who come to Europe but wish to go to the UK tend to gagle around in harbour towns, squatting in old warehouses and homes. In the Southern Netherlands (commonly called Belgium), scores of huelings had broken into a comely 18th year-hundred gothic styled home. They utterly wrecked it. The council's answer? Pull down the lovely building. That's it - smash Saxon culture, instead of the beasts who ought not be here.

Twice weekly the VRT (Dutch language national broadcaster of Belgium) broadcasts a TV show called "Luchthaven" (air-haven or airport). It is all about the daily goings-on at Saventem airport outside Brussels. In each edition, immigration officers are dealing with huelings pouring in with lame tales of woe. The officers have to work out if the hueling claim to come to Belgium is justified and that they really are tourists or would be migrants. Often the hueling's paperwork is "iffy." Female beasts when they feel they are failing in their bid, put on the waterworks. One such hueling pretended that she was not a migrant but an invited swimmer for an olympic pre-choice set of games hosted by Germany. So she was interviewed by the immigration officer. "How long does it take to swim 100 meters?" he asks her. Her answer, "10 seconds." Immigration officer, "10 seconds? No one can do that." Her answer, "But we have different swimming pools in Nigeria." This is for real folks!

The show then cut to a scene of an elderly white man at customs being told to open up all his bags. He was angry because he was the only one on the flight to be searched - the crux being, all the other passengers were heulings. He was shouting, "This is pure discrimination. I am a true Fleming (southern Netherlander) and I am being searched like a crook, yet all the blacks you let go through. Here, I'll drop my pants, go search, blacks can do anything in this land!"

In Holland (the northern Netherlands) a group of young white males have set up the NVU (Nederlandse Volks Unie, or Netherlands Folk's Union). When I called the head man I was pleased to learn that he knew all about the Illuminati, the Canaanites and the Identity movement. He said that the Dutch have been made to live in fear, they say nothing, see nothing, hear nothing. I say this: the Canaanites may think they have us all sewn up, but beware, it is the lull before the storm. Jacob shall be as a fire, and Esau (Canaanites) as stubble!

The Dutch Prime Minister (Minister President) Balkenende, has his Dutch Deformed (Dutch Reformed) knickers in a twist over satirical comedy shows mocking Dutch royals. He has raised the issue in babel-ment (parliament) to put an end to it, claiming it to be the thin end of the wedge that will put Holland on an unwholesome (immoral) path! WHAT?! Is this bloke for real? Is he just out of his tree? or a few bob short of the full quid? Baby-slaughter here (abortion) is as normal as chips with mayo. Whites wed and bed huelings by the droves, and whites who do not race-mix refuse to wed, whereas homo-queers insist to wed! And this goody-two-shoes-church-going-idiot fears Holland could be on a down hill slide when one mocks the royals! Oh, silly me. I simply don't get it. It seems I must accept this rule: self-righteous church monarchists insist that the royals are beyond reproach whereas one can belittle, mock, kinslaughter (commit genocide by way of outright slaying of innocents, anti-white laws, anti-white propaganda and race-mixing) of my kinsfolk of "kings and priests." We can all jolly well "pop our clogs" (die) through the poison caused by Babylonian wine (see Babylonian Wine, #764 @ $2.25) [Canaanite propaganda and anti-white social programmes), and yet the land is deemed wholesome?

Those Israelites (Saxons) who have never learned God's Laws learn it through being crushed. God uses Esau (Canaanites, both Ashkenaz and Sepharvaim broods) to do the stomping. A little more crushing and soon the wine press is full. These Saxons are called the grapes. Grapes need crushing to get wine. Esau gleefully crushes. Now the grape sap is stewing! It is about ready to become the Grapes of Wrath! The besnarers stomping ground will soon become a field of Esau stubble!

Then at last, Europe can live up to its name... Europe comes from 2 true Hebrew words, Char + apha, or Churapa>Urapa>Europa. It means: the White Faces!

HOW ISLAM IS WINNING THE WEST

by Barney Zwartz

As Islam flourishes in the West, Christian minorities in Muslim countries are being increasingly persecuted.

A government school in an Islamic stronghold in England now teaches only an Islamic syllabus, according to a documentary on Britain's Channel 4 last week. All students have to study the Koran, and non-Muslim girls must cover their heads.

Dr Patrick Sookhdeo, a London-based international expert on Islam and advisor to governments, tells the story to illustrate Islam's growing strength in the West - as the plight of Christian minorities in Muslim countries gets worse.

Islam is flourishing in the West, he says, through increasing numbers of Western women who marry Muslims and convert, through intensive conversion campaigns, through a faster birthrate, through immigration of marriage partners, through multiple marriages - which, while not legal, do occur - and through asylum seekers, official and unofficial. Sookhdeo does not think Britain will soon be predominantly Muslim, as some predict, but pockets are already Muslim majority areas, such as Bradford, Birmingham and Leicester. The Bishop of London says inner London will have a Muslim majority by 2020.

"Society has moved a considerable way to meeting Islamic demands to consolidate Islamic identity," he says. Last year, Britain introduced pensions that comply with sharia (Islamic law), and this year sharia-compliant mortgage providers.

He fears voluntary separatism, even apartheid. "Because Islam has a peculiar identity which is religiously based, increasingly we have a separate community developing, with Islam as the primary identity and the British identity as secondary."

Meanwhile, Sookhdeo says the West - crippled by guilt over the crusades and its colonial past, and its won loss of identity - rushes to appease Islam, thus condemning Christian minorities to increased persecution.

Sookhdeo - founder of the Institute for the Study of Islam and Christianity, and of the Barnabas Fund, an aid group for persecuted Christian minorities, who was in Australia last week to incorporate the fund here, says the difference in how the West and Muslim worlds treat religious minorities is becoming starker.

He says 40 million Christian live under Muslim majorities, where they increasingly find themselves an embattled minority, with dwindling rights, trapped in poverty and uncertainty. Numbers range from large minorities - 15 million in Indonesia, 9 million in Egypt and 3 million in Pakistan - to just a few dozen, as in the Maldives. In Saudi Arabia there are officially no national Christians.

In most of these countries they are despised and distrusted second-class citizens, facing discrimination in education, jobs and from the police and courts, where the witness of a Christian is worth less than a Muslim's. Now it's getting worse. There are several reasons, he says.

First is the widening imposition of sharia law. In Sudan, the government has imposed sharia and the Arabic language on the Christian south. The result is 3 million Christians dead so far and up to 5 million refugees. In Nigeria, where 12 of the 19 states have declared sharia, 15,000 Christians have been killed in the past few years.

Second is the rise of militant terrorism groups. Long before Osama bin Laden targetted the West, Sookhdeo says, he was attacking Christian minorities. His training videos feature troops firing on a cross. In Indonesia, the Laskar Jihad has killed about 30,000 Christians.

This is the increasing pressure extremists are putting on moderate Muslim governments, who appease them by restricting Christians further. In Egypt, for example, last week 22 Christians were arrested.

The fourth factor is the apostasy law of Islam, which prescribes death for deserting Islam. Because the Christian minorities lack oil or geopolitical significance, Western governments are little concerned. But more painful, Sookhdeo says, they feel betrayed by the indifference of the Western church, which embraces interfaith dialogue and claims Islam is all about peace.

Sookhdeo does favour dialogue. He says it is important that religions talk to each other and promote peace. Asked by Muslim organizations, he spoke out against injustices by the then Yugoslav president Slobodan Milosevic and the Serbian church.

"Where Christian minorities are suffering in a horrendous way we have called on Christian and Muslim leaders to speak out. Muslims have been quiet and sadly, most church leaders have been quiet. So in the dialogue the status of Christian minorities have not generally been on the agenda. Not only myself but many Christian leaders see that as a betrayal."

Sookhdeo believes the Western church is paralysed both by uncertainty about its own theological foundations and guilt about its past. Secularism has neutralised the Christian faith in the West and pluralism has marginalised it, creating a spiritual and moral vacuum that Islam is filling. "The church has engaged in appeasement. Faced with Islam, she has no consensus and tends to acquiesce."

THE SOVEREIGNTY OF GOD by Pastor Dave Barley

Is God Sovereign? That may appear to be a rather obvious question to ask. Most people would say: "Well, of course God is sovereign," but what is their basis for believing that "God is Sovereign"? How would they define "sovereignty"? Dealing with the sovereignty of God issue is one of the most perplexing, and yet, it is also the most exciting. The question is really this, "Just how sovereign in God Almighty?"

I was reading the following Bible verses recently and they struck me as being ideal verses for sharing some important truths about the Sovereignty of God. One of the biggest disputes concerning the Sovereignty of God is over man's so-called "free-will." Armenians believe that man has free-control over his will, and that God Almighty is a gentleman who will not interfere with man's free-will. This is also the philosophy taught by Judaism. Judaism teaches just as Bette Midler's song tells it that "God is watching us from a distance." If you have listened much to the well-known radio talk show host Dr. Laura Schlessinger, she tells her audiences the same thing.

Well, let's see how that philosophy stands up to the truth of God's Word. Psalm 135:5-14,

"For I know that the LORD is great, and that our Lord is above all gods. Whatsoever the LORD pleased, that did he in heaven, and in earth, in the seas, and all deep places. He causeth the vapours to ascend from the ends of the earth; he maketh lightnings for the rain; he bringeth the wind out of his treasuries. Who smote the firstborn of Egypt, both of man and beast. Who sent tokens and wonders into the midst of thee, O Egypt, upon Pharaoh, and upon all his servants. Who smote great nations, and slew mighty kings; Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og king of Bashan, and all the kingdoms of Canaan: And gave their land for an heritage, an heritage unto Israel his people. Thy name, O LORD, endureth for ever; and thy memoria, O LORD, throughout all generations. For the LORD will judge his people, and he will repent himself concerning his servants."

Verse 14 stated: "and He (Yahweh) will repent Himself." Did God make a mistake and have to repent of that mistake and correct the situation? Absolutely not! He is sovereign. Men have to repent, not God Almighty. The term repent in this verse means that Yahweh will stay his judgments.

There are some deep spiritual truths in these verses. As an example, who smote the firstborn of Egypt, and who smote great nations and gave their land for an heritage unto His people Israel? God Almighty certainly used individuals such as Abraham, Joseph, Moses, Joshua, and so forth, but can any of these men truthfully claim that they accomplished the many miraculous feats by their own fleshly abilities? No, as the scripture verses we just read stated, THE LORD IS ABOVE ALL, AND HE DOETH AS HE PLEASES IN THE HEAVENS AND IN THE EARTH.

Genesis 18:14 opens with these words: "Is any thing too hard for the LORD?" I remember, as a child, I would look up into the heavens at nighttime and see the vastness of the universe, and wonder to myself: "Just how big and powerful is God? Is He really the all-knowing, all-powerful, omnipresent being? Is He beyond time and space as we know them? Does He really hear my prayers? Does He know our every move and words that come out of our mouth? Can we do anything outside of His Will?"

Just how great is our God? Does He hold the future in His capable hands? How much control and authority does He exercise over His creation? Are we really free to do our own will outside of His Will? Is our will sovereign, or is His Will sovereign over all things? Do we control our destiny, or does God Almighty control our destiny?

These are certainly deep issues, and they really play havoc with our carnal minds. The Bible tells us that the "carnal mind is enmity with God." But guess who created us with "carnal minds" in the first place? Here's a hint: "it wasn't the devil." The Bible also tells us that, "His ways are higher than our ways, and His thoughts are higher than our thoughts."

We are all aware of the Bible passage found in Isaiah 45:7, which says: "I form the light, and create darkness: I make peace, and create evil: I the LORD do all these things." Is there anything about this Bible passage that is vague or uncertain? It is very direct, and it is quite clear to me that God is sovereign, and that He created all things with a pre-determined plan and purpose. Man's will cannot, and has not, and never shall be a surprise or disruption to the plans and purposes of God. Adam had no more free-will than Jonah or the Apostle Paul. Sure Jonah tried to run from God Almighty and His calling and purposes for him, but Jonah's will had no chance of altering Divine Purposes.

Now some people might rebel at this, and say, "I thought we were all created with a free-will," but the Word of God does not say that man has a "free-will," and furthermore, what happened to Jonah's so-called "free-will" in this situation? How come Jonah's free-will was not allowed to do its own thing and make its own decision? Jonah's free-will didn't stand a chance, did it? Jonah ran from God, because he did not want to participate in preaching repentance to the Assyrians, did he? Well, if we have "free-will," then why didn't God Almighty just let Jonah make up his own mind and exercise his own so-called free will? After all, the Scriptures make it quite clear that Jonah did not want to go preach repentance to the Assyrians.

Let's examine a few verses on Jonah's situation and see just how free his "free-will" was in the first place. Jonah 1:17 states: "Now the LORD had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah. And Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights." Very interesting, "the LORD has prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah." That must have been quite a fish, or whale. But again, who prepared the "great fish" to swallow up Jonah? Yahweh did! He didn't just sit back and allow Jonah's "free-will" to be the determining factor. Ephesians 1:11 says,

"In whom also we have obtained an inheritance, being predestinated according to the purpose of him who worketh all things after the counsel of his own will:"

Now some people want to argue against this Bible passage, but that does not change the truth that is contained therein. We are predestinated according to His purposes, and He worketh ALL things after the counsel of HIS OWN WILL. Our so-called "free-will" is not even in the picture. We can add to this what the prophet Daniel said, "And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and he doeth according to his will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, or say unto him, What doest thou?"

Dan 4:35.

Nothing man does is concealed from God Almighty. He is omnipresent, and He not only knows all the ways of man, but He doeth according to His Will “among the inhabitants of the earth: AND NONE CAN STAY HIS HAND.” Now, in this situation with Jonah, Yahweh prepared a great fish and what was the predictable outcome? “Then Jonah prayed unto the LORD his God out of the fish’s belly.” Jonah 2:1.

God Almighty will use various circumstances and conditions to mold, shape, and conform us into His Will. In God’s timing and purposes, just as happened with Jonah and saul (before he became the Apostle Paul) the natural gives way to the SUPERNATURAL. “But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord.” 2 Cor 3:18.

When God was through with Jonah, was he changed? How about Saul on his way to Damascus to persecute Christians? Absolutely, Saul’s old nature was supernaturally changed to that of a Paul. The previous scripture verse said, “BUT WE [Israelites] ALL, with open face ... are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord.” OK, now open your eyes to what God Almighty is doing in your life. Is Jesus Christ changing you? Did He only work out His Will in Jonah’s and the Apostle Paul’s life? No, “BUT WE ARE ALL being changed from glory to glory by the Spirit of the Lord.” Your “resistance” and “kicking against the pricks” is not interfering with or altering God’s purposes, Will or Direction in your life one little bit. You are not in control (though you may think that you are); HE IS!!!

Some of you may ask, “If this is true why should I strive to obey God if my life is already planned out, or predetermined? What difference does it make what I do? I might as well be a robot.” Well, let me ask you a few questions. Does God know the future? Does He know if your name is written in the Lamb’s Book of Life? You say, “Yes, of course He does.” Well, here’s another question. If this is true, then is there anything you can do to alter or change this? You may say, “NO.” Well, listen, if there’s nothing you can do to change this, then what difference does it make, I might ask? Your life is already written and predestined to end in a particular way, and there’s nothing you can do to change this. So, I could ask, what difference does it make? Do you really have a choice? Can you change or alter in any way whatsoever what you are predestined to be, or do, or when you will die?

But let’s get back to the question, “Why should I do anything, if my life is already pre-programmed out according to God’s Divine Purposes?” Well, here’s the answer. Because you are not God, and you don’t know the future, so you must live as if you had free will. You see He created all things for a purpose, and we are His creatures, products of His creation. The Word makes it very clear that before the foundation of the world God chose us and predestinated us (see Eph. 1:4-6). It’s almost laughable when man tries to put Yahweh in a definable form so that his carnal mind can somehow be appeased. Here’s what the Word of God has to say about this matter:

“For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the LORD. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts.” Isa. 55:8-9.

Though it may be hard on our carnal mind, it will not even come close to comprehending the greatness, the might, and majesty of Yahweh. you say, well, God’s the pilot and in between birth and death, there are many uncertainties that God has allowed man and his “free-will” to run its course. After all, why does God Almighty chasten man if man does not have free-will? First of all, such a question does not explain why the away the many verses that clearly declare God is Sovereign over all things, and is therefore in control of all things, and directs all things. [unlike man, who creates government, and then can no longer control what he created! CIM] As an example, Deut. 32:39 says, “See now that I, even I, am he, and there is no god with me: I kill, and I make alive; I would, and I heal: neither is there any than can deliver out of my hand.”

In other words, if you have a newborn baby, who gave you that baby? If that baby dies, who caused his or her death? If you are wounded or chastened, or experience tribulation, who caused it? If you asre healed, or restored, who did the healing? God, the creator of all things, through Jesus Christ. Now your carnal mind may say differently, but I prefer to stand on God’s Word. Therefore, whatever “will” man does have, is not a “free-will” though some may insist upon referring to it as such. Our “will” is a directed and managed “will” that is inspired according to Divine Reason. [the same applies to those politicians, that reign over

As long as you think you are in charge of your life, you will not come to the realization that Jesus Christ has ordained all things, including you and I, to fulfill His purposes according to His order of the ages. The Apostle Paul eventually came to this understanding, to which he said in Colossians 1:29, “Whereunto I also labour, striving according to His (Jesus) working, which worketh in me mightily.” Paul was labouring according to Jesus’ working, a work that was working in Paul “mightily.” This was no small matter to Paul. If Paul was doing his own thing, then what was Jesus doing in, through, and with Paul? Which was it? Was paul doing the work, or Jesus doing the work in Paul? You see, Paul’s “Labour” was his labour according to what Jesus was doing in him.

The Bible says, “God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself” (2 Cor. 5:19). The Kingdom of God is the end toward which God moves His creation. The glorious Kingdom of God is briefly characterized as the time when men will not do their own will, but the Father’s. All social rules, all government, laws of every kind are an infringement on the will of the individual. If we were absolutely alone in the universe, we might be a law unto ourselves, but if this world were unleashed from the will of God, it would die in utter chaos. Because it is directed by the Will of God it has order and what we see as something out of control is never out of His Control. Colossians 1:16-17, “For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him: and he is before all things, and by him all things consist."

Isaiah 40:15, "Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the small dust of the balance: behold, he taketh up the isles as a very little thing."

Armenianism is the theological position that man has "free-will." But the Bible says in Romans 9:11, "For the children being not yet born, neither having done any good or evil, that the purpose of God according to election might stand, not of works, but of him that calleth." What about the Bible passage which says: "Choose you this day whom ye will serve." Doesn't this prove that we have free choice as to whom we will serve? OK, does your choice change or alter God's choice, because Jesus said in John 15:16, "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you." So who really does the choosing? Is it both, as some claim, or is it our choosing of His Choosing? We can equally state that, "our salvation is of His Salvation, or His Saving Grace." We don't and can't save ourselves, for "SALVATION IS OF THE LORD," Jonah 2:9. Interestingly enough, those were the very words spoken by Jonah, just before the big fish vomited out Jonah onto dry land. He certainly didn't come to the wrong conclusion that he had saved himself, although prior to God dealing with him, he thought he was in control.

Our "will" does not alter or change Divine Will, so which "will" really matters in the final analysis? You say, but it's not "our will" versus His Will, it's God knowing the outcome of man's "free-will." He let's mans' "free-will" run its course and all God Almighty does is have a "pre-knowledge" of man's ways and their final outcome. Thus God knows the beginning and the end of man.

While that may sound good to some people, such a notion is totally unbiblical. God clearly directed the lives of Adam, Noah, Abraham, Israel, Joshua, Samson, Samuel, David, Elijah, Daniel and all the disciples, just to name a few. But Jesus Christ, the Alpha and the Omega, not only creates vessels of "honor," but also vessels of "Dishonor."

HERE'S WHERE YOUR "WILL" COMES IN

Our whole existence is in the hands of the Creator, but since we are not blessed with Creator abilities, we have to live our lives as though we have "free-will." We do not know what God has fully purposed for us. Believe it or not, our so-called "bad choices" are exactly God's Will for us, because we do not understand or know the future and all the ramifications of the choices we make, but God does. God created good and evil, even the knowledge of good and evil so that man might fully know the blessing of good and the 'hell' of evil. Yes, even our exposure to evil is of God Will, Plan, and Purposes for our greater ability to know, love, and appreciate the good. As God Almighty eventually made things right for Job, he will also make right all the wrong that you and I have experienced as well.

DOES GOD TEMPT MAN?

James 1:13-14 states, "Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man: But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed."

Let's look at another verse that seems to say the exact opposite. Here's what the scriptures say in Genesis 22:1-2, "And it came to pass after these things, that God did tempt Abraham, and said unto him, Abraham: and he said, Behold, here am I. And he said, Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of."

Now, how can it be that one says that God doesn't tempt and one that does? Too many people just take the verse that fits their theology and ignore the other. This is NOT the way to understand the Bible. We must realize that both are true, it's just our understanding which is faulty. In James the word is peirazo which is from peira which is from peran and it means "(to pierce); through (as adverb or preposition), i.e. across:" (Strong's Dictionary). The word tempt in Genesis is from acah which means "to test; by implication, to attempt:" In other words, James is telling us that God is not directly tempting man, but the lust of his flesh is what causes the tempting. He created the tempter (the carnal mind) within man. Man is tempted of his own lusts. The Bible tells us that man is driven away by his own lusts, but who put the ability to lust in man in the first place? It wasn't the devil!

Everything God does is for our own good, even if its our own death. To die is gain even for those who have to go through the lake of fire. When man tempts another man with evil, he means it for evil. God uses tempting for our good, not for our evil. Abraham was tested of God so that his willingness to sacrifice His Son of Promise, Isaac, was then fulfilled in God sending His Son of Promise, Jesus, to die on the cross so "that the world [of Israel] through him might be saved." John 3:17.

Our being tempted is certainly not outside God's purposes, in that while He does not tempt us with evil, the Bible says that He clearly created evil and that He purposed the tempter within us to be tempted, tried and tested. So while God doesn't tempt us with evil, He created evil, and the means (our carnal mind, which is enmity with God) by which we are tempted. Therefore, our tempting is of God, indirectly, though not directly. Our lusts do not put us in control, God is still in control. Job 2:10 states, "... What? Shall we receive good at the hand of God, and shall we not receive evil?" In our walk of faith, God Almighty does try and test us. Daniel 5:27 says: "Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting."

So even on this Divine obstacle course we travel through, the Sovereignty of God is evident for He has purposed all things, even if those reasons are only known to Him, and for His good pleasure. Man asks why, why death, why tragedy, why wars, disease, and other unthinkable things? Such things are never really easy to come to terms with, but when you learn to trust God and commit your fears, concerns, and even the future to He who holds the future, you will have "the peace of God, which passeth all understanding" Phil 4:7.

"Hath not the potter power over the clay, of the same lump to make one vessel unto honour, and another unto dishonour? What if God, willing to shew His wrath, and to make his power known, endured with much longsuffering the vessels of wrath fitted to destruction: And that he might make known the riches of his glory on the vessels of mercy, which he had afore prepared unto glory." (Romans 9:21-23)

These verses begin with an all-important question,

“hath not the potter power over the clay?” Well, does the Potter have power over the clay? How much? A little bit, perhaps 50%, 75%, or 100%? The answer is, He has total, complete and absolute control over the clay, though the clay may not believe it or comprehend it.

When the Apostle Paul says, “What if God, willing to shew his wrath, and to make his power known, endured with much longsuffering the vessels of wrath fitted to destruction.” What does it mean to you? Does it simply mean that the bad guys are going to get what’s coming to them? Or in the context of these verses, which deal with the Sovereignty of God, is not the message and purpose of this verse to convey to the reader that God who is “longsuffering,” endured, permitted, and allowed “the vessels of wrath” whom He created, to do the destructive things they do? He certainly could have stopped these “vessels of wrath,” but He used them, and allowed them to do the things they do to show forth His wrath and His glory.

What about the vessels of mercy? Did they become “vessels of mercy” by, through, and because of their “high and mighty free-will?” No, the scripture said. “that He might make known the riches of His glory on the vessels of mercy, which He had afore prepared unto glory.” He (God, the Creator) prepared the vessels of mercy unto glory, or for glory. Isn’t it interesting to note that in all of these verses, our Heavenly Father reiterates over and over that He is the one doing these things and never once is the Devil given any credit or glory?

True Biblical freedom means that sovereignty must be distinguished and understood. Now that may sound radical to you, but if it’s the truth, it ought to sound refreshing and give you peace. Philippians 2:13 states: “For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure.” Some may say, no, I do my own will, but God says: “And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and he doeth according to his will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, or say unto him, What doest thou?” (Daniel 4:35).

Let’s see if this applies to Jonah? Jonah 2:1-2 says, “Then Jonah prayed unto the LORD his God out of the fish’s belly, and said, I cried by reason of mine afflictions unto the LORD, and he heard me; out of the belly of hell cried I, and thou heardest my voice.”

Why did Jonah cry, even cry out to the Lord? He “cried by reason of the affliction” God had placed upon him. In other words, God Almighty brought Jonah to a position of repentance. Jonah, left to his own “free-will,” certainly would not have repented and ministered unto the Assyrians. Imagine being inside a big fish for three days and three nights with all its stomach juices. That stomach acid certainly ought to bleach your hair and skin. Don’t you think Jonah looked very alien, perhaps even ghost-like when he appeared unto the Assyrians who worshipped a fish god? Just a coincidence? I don’t think so. Just how much of a choice did they have in this situation?

What about Adam? Some assume that Adam had a “free-will” that he was free to exercise in all decisions. But is that really the way it is? Why created Adam? God did, right? And He created Adam with a corruptible carnal mind that is enmity with God, correct? Well, who put the “tree of the knowledge of good and evil” (a euphemism for God’s Law, Rom. 3:20) in the garden to tempt man? Was this by chance or accident that this scenario or Adamic set-up was created? Who set up the conditions for Adam and Eve with the vulnerability to be deceived? Who stacked the deck against them? The devil, or Yahweh? Yahweh, of course. So then, Yahweh’s in charge.

Yahweh, just as the Word of God tells us, does create good and evil. He’s the producer, designer, director, and yes, even the great architect of all things, and our “free-will,” if you want to call it that, is in the final analysis, there to simply act or perform exactly what our Heavenly Producer had Director has purposed. Perhaps Ephesians 3:9 will help make this a little more clear for some of you: “And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who created all things by Jesus Christ:”

Adam’s fall was not by accident, or some unpredictable occurrence; it was by Divine Superintending Providential Direction. God Almighty did not panic in the slightest at what occurred in the Garden of Eden. He did not have to rewrite His script, or worry in the slightest about how man and his so-called free-will might foul up all His Plans and Purposes. The wonderful truth of the matter is that God Almighty planned for Adam and Eve to fall, because He is Sovereign. One cannot control the future without controlling events that lead up to that future.

Yes, really trusting God is a tough concept for people to get a handle on, but personally, I can sleep so much better knowing that He is in control and not you and me

(Psalm 3:5).. We didn’t start out of control, and our ending is not in our control either. Well, some people can go along with that, but it’s the in-between stuff that they don’t want to acknowledge that God Almighty has sovereign control over. people think they are in control until they mess things up so badly that they see no way out but to pray and beg God to intervene, not knowing that He created the circumstances and condition for the controlling factors in the first place (you can see some of this in ‘prayer request’ lists, CIM)

The point is, you and I are not accidents, we are creatures of the Most High God and He loves us (Israel, CIM), and He has predestinated us to live and experience what He has purposed in this life that He may liberate us and set the captives free. Doing our will is not true freedom, it is bondage. True freedom is in declaring, trusting, and believing that God Almighty “rules in the affairs of men.”

Romans 8:20 states: “For the creature was made subject to vanity, not willingly, but by reason of him who hath subjected the same in hope,”

Lastly, have you been in the difficult position to pick or choose a person to be the captain of a team or leader of some group, but you, nor the others on the team could decide which person, so you drew straws, and whoever drew the longest straw won, or became the chosen person? Well, did you know that men of God did something similar to this in the Bible days? As an example, let’s examine the following verses. Joshua 18:10, “And Joshua cast lost for them in Shiloh before the LORD: and there Joshua divided the land unto the children of Israel according to their divisions.”

Sure does not sound like a very accurate or precise way of determining the outcome of such an important decision that will affect so many people. Barnes’ Notes explains this casting of lots in this manner: “[By lot] We are not told in what manner the lot was cast. Perhaps two urns were employed, one containing a description of the several districts to be allotted, the other the names of the tribes; and the portion of each tribe would then be determined by a simultaneous drawing from the two urns. Or a drawing might be made by some appointed person, or by a delegate of each tribe from one urn containing the description of the ten inheritances."

Here are a few other examples from God's Word: Nehemiah 11:1, "And the rulers of the people dwelt at Jerusalem: the rest of the people also cast lots, to bring one of ten to dwell in Jerusalem the holy city, and nine parts to dwell in other cities."

Jonah 1:7, "And they said every one to his fellow, Come, and let us cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this evil is upon us. So they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah."

Now, I've only quoted you a few examples from the Word of God about "casting lots." However, while these examples are certainly from the Bible, would God be involved in such carnal and seemingly unfair practices as "casting lots?" Well, as strange as it may seem, that the great I AM would be involved in such "decisions of chance," the answer is, Yes, He would. Consider the following verses, in which men of God are involved in such practices:

"And they gave forth their lots; and the lot fell upon Matthias; and he was numbered with the eleven apostles." (Acts 1:26). If the casting of lots were unbiblical, these men would not have been involved with such things. Ultimately what is the casting of lots? It is trusting in the SOVEREIGNTY OF GOD. It is saying, Heavenly Father, we cannot make this decision on our own. We want you to make this decision. We're trusting in you, despite the incredible odds of chance, to make this choice and to cause the outcome to be of your choosing. Those of you who still doubt such things, perhaps this Bible verse will help. Proverbs 16:33, "The lot is cast into the lap; but the whole disposing thereof is of the LORD."

You skeptics may want to read and re-read this amazing verse of Scripture over and over again. Praise the LORD, the Creator and Director of all things. I don't know about you friends, but I love it when HE gets the glory, not man, and that His Purposes are exalted. God is "Great in counsel, and mighty in work: for thine eyes are open upon all the ways of the sons of men: to give every one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings:" (Jeremiah 32:19). He chastens, tries, and tests us to work out His purposes in man. The Potter changes lives; the clay is molded, shaped, formed, and tried in the fire.

His "eyes are upon ALL THE WAYS of the sons of men." Nothing man does is concealed from God Almighty. He is omnipresent, and He not only knows all the ways of man, but He also gives "everyone according to his ways, and according to the fruits of his doings." God never sleeps; He knows what we are doing 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. He knows the hairs on our head, and he even has His eye upon the sparrow. "Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your father. But the very hairs of your head are all numbered." Matt 10:29-30.

In truth, few Christians really understand the Sovereignty of God, (or the Exclusiveness of Israel, CIM) or they would praise Him more, love Him more, and trust Him more. They would have more love, grace, and compassion for their fellow-Israelites. When I see the sin in their life, I also see the sin and rebellion within my life, and I have come to understand that were it not for Jesus' unmerited Grace for me, where would I be today?

For many years, I was angry and full of hate about all the evil in the world. Constantly dwelling on such evil and speaking and writing about it. After all, there's plenty to be angry and resentful about. When I think of Washington D.C., and all the criminals who are running our nation's capitol, it was hard to have any peace. However, when you really begin to understand that Jesus Christ is in control, and that everything, even the bad things are going exactly as He has purposed them, that changes things considerably. Don't live in fear, doubt and torment about troubling world events, most of which you can do nothing to alter, but rather, commit thy ways unto the Lord and trust Him. Let His peace be upon you. Job 22:21, "Acquaint not thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee." 2 Corinthians 4:7, "But we have this treasure in earthen vessels that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us."

"The human soul is dark respecting the divine character until it is enlightened by Christ. It sees no beauty, no glory in his nature - nothing that excites wonder, or that wins the affections, until it is disclosed by the Redeemer." (from Barnes' Notes).

WHY IS IT SO DIFFICULT TO BELIEVE..... ?

Many within the religious world consider that the Israelites were simply a small group of "hill tribes" residing in the Middle-east region some 3,000 to 4,000 years ago, and that they have completely disappeared from the face of the earth, and are not to be found today. Let us consider this issue from the standpoint of numbers of people. In Genesis 46:27, we are informed that "...all the souls of the house of Jacob, which came into Egypt, were threescore and ten." In retrospect, a total of seventy people of the house of Jacob went into Egypt.

Some 400 years later, at the time of the Exodus, the number of men in Israel had grown to 603,550 (see Exo-du 38:26). Surely a prolific increase from the 70 souls who entered Egypt some 210 years previously. [note: this period is often quoted as 400 years, or 430 years. But the 430 years is from the call of Abraham, the 400 years is from the birth of Isaac. Then it was 204 years from the birth of Isaac before Jacob and his family went into Egypt. If you want a photocopied chart setting out these dates, send me a stamped self addressed envelope! Hank, CIM]

At the census conducted by David (circa 1100 BC) there were a total of 1,300,000 men, with 800,000 from Israel and 500,000 from Judah (see 2 Sam 24:9), a sizable force even by today's standards.

(Note: It should be realized that in a census of Israel, only MEN between the ages of 20 and 50 "able to go forth to war" i.e. those who could carry a sword and fight, were counted. Women, the young, and the aged were not counted in any census, CK)

Based upon scriptural figures given of these two numberings of all Israel men, it has been possible to build a computer model of all Israelites to calculate the total including women, children, and the aged. The number obtained through this computer model was calculated in excess of SIXTEEN MILLION PEOPLE! Further, the computer has projected that after an additional 400 years from David's census the number of Israelites from both Israel and Judah would be in the neighbourhood of 20-22 million people. We are not talking about a few "hill tribes" We are talking about tens of millions of people!

After the death of Solomon in 931 BC. the Israel; kingdom was divided as foretold by Almighty God in 1 Kings 11:9-11. Israel was the Northern kingdom consisting of ten tribes with its capital at Samaria. The Southern kingdom of Judah consisted of two tribes (Judah and Benjamin) with its capital in Jerusalem (see 1 Kings 11:13. 32, 36). Each of these kingdoms had distinct and separate prophets with Hosea being a prophet to Israel, and Jeremiah a prophet to Judah.

Suffice it to say that in the next 200 years, during the reign of 18 kings, that the house of Israel allowed sin to increase. Finally, the patience of God had reached its end and the Almighty moved the Assyrian empire to invade and conquer the Northern kingdom of Israel. [Note: Is history about to repeat itself today as our Father's patience with His sinful people must be reaching a zenith. CK] Commencing in 741 BC and continuing for about a 65-year period lasting until 676 BC, three Assyrian kings took Israel captive. The prophet Isaiah had well prophesied this in 7:8, "Within three score and five years shall Ephraim (a name for Israel) be broken that it be not a nation."

The ten tribes (Israelites) were carried away to the land of Media as found in 1 Chronicles 5:26, 2 Kings 17:4-6, and 18:9-12. While many refer to the lost ten tribes, we find in the following in 2 Kings 18:13, "Now in the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah did Sennacherib, king of Assyria come up against all the fenced cities of Judah, and took them." The lost ten tribes, with this scripture has now become the lost twelve tribes. Only the city of Jerusalem remained as the angel of the LORD moved against the Assyrians and they withdrew, leaving Jerusalem intact (see 2 Kings 19:35).

It should be understood that during the years of the Assyrian incursions/invasions, some of the Israelites/Judahites fled to other areas, founding Carthage in North Africa, and to Greece, Italy, France, Asia Minor, and other geographic locations.

Close to 200 years later, circa 520 BC, the king of Babylon, Nebuchadnezzar, moved against the city of Jerusalem and removed almost 900,000 inhabitants to Babylon. This is what is known as the seventy weeks prophecy of Jeremiah 25:11-12. Seventy years later, we are informed in Nehemiah 7 and Ezra 2, that 42,000+ returned to rebuild the city of Jerusalem.

What happened to the other 850,000 missing inhabitants of old Jerusalem? And further, what happened to the combined total of 20-22 million Israelites/Judahites.

Did these peoples (tribes) disappear off of the face of the earth? Given the lack of concern and attention that the early "established church" and modern-day "churchianity," has given to the matter, you could make that presumption.

But God has told us that the Israelites are with us even to this very day. In Jeremiah 31:35-36 we are told, "Thus saith the LORD, which giveth the sun for a light by day, and the ordinances of the moon and stars for a light by night, which divideth the sea when the waves thereof roar; The LORD of hosts is his name; If these ordinances depart from before me, saith the LORD, then the seed of Israel also shall cease from being a nation before me for ever." The sun, moon, and the stars are still with us, and therefore Israel must still be a presence in the world today.

The Jewish historian, Flavius Josephus (#535 @ $43.50), writing during the mid-to-late years of the first century wrote: "Wherefore there are but two tribes in Asia and Europe subject to the Romans, while the ten tribes are beyond Euphrates till now and are an immense multitude, and not to be estimated in numbers." ¹

In the Apocrypha, in the Book of 2 Esdras 13:39-46 we read: "And whereas thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable multitude unto him: those are the ten tribes. Which were carried away prisoners out of their own land in the time of Osea the king, whom Salmanaser the king of Assyria led away captive, and he carried them over the waters, and so came they into another land. But they took counsel among themselves, that they would leave the multitude of the heathen, and go forth into a further country where never mankind dwelt. That they might there keep their statutes, which they never kept in their own land. And they entered into Euphrates by the narrow passages of the river. For the most High then showed signs for them and held still the flood, till they were passed over. For through that country there was a great way to go, namely of a year and a half; and the same region is called Arsareth. Then dwelt they there until the latter time; and now when they shall begin to come, the Highest shall stay the springs of the streams again, that the way go through: therefore sawest thou the multitude with peace."

The historian, Herodotus, also makes mention of the migrations of these people, as does Sharon Turner, the great Anglo-Saxon historian.

In Scripture we find the following references. In Hosea 1:10-11 we read, "Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor numbered; and it shall come to pass that in the place where it was said unto them: Ye are not my people, there it shall be said unto them, Ye are the sons of the living God. Then shall the children of Judah and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint themselves one head [Jesus Christ] and they shall come out of the land; for great shall be the day of Jezreel...." (a joining together of two into one).

In 2 Samuel 7:10, we read, "Moreover I will appoint a place for My people Israel, and will plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own, and move no more; neither will the children of wickedness afflict them anymore as beforetime." [there is some controversy over the meaning of this verse, that it actually means something different to what people usually think it means, CIM] Where was this future place that God had in mind for Israel? They were in Canaan land (Palestine) at the time of this prophecy.

In Genesis 17 (the Abrahamic Covenant), verses 4-7, "As for me, behold, my covenant is with thee, and thou shalt be a father of many nations. Neither shall thy name any more be called Abram, but thy name shall be Abraham; for a father of many nations have I made thee .. And I will make thee exceeding fruitful, and I will make nations of thee, and kings shall come out of thee. And I will establish my covenant between me and thee and thy seed after thee in their generations, for an everlasting covenant, to be a God unto thee, and to thy seed after thee." This is an "unconditional" covenant!

In Genesis 22:18 we read, "And in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed..." Further, in Genesis 26:4, we read of the same blessings conveyed upon Isaac, "And I will make thy seed to multiply as the stars of heaven, and will give unto thy seed all these countries, and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed." This would indicate that "all nations" would be "blessed" through a race of people. What people fit that role? Surely not the Talmudist rabble of the Israeli!

In John 7:35 we read, "Then said the Jews among themselves, Whither will he go, that we shall not find him? Will he go unto the dispersed among the Gentiles..." Obviously, the Jews of Jesus' time were well aware of the location of the dispersed Israelites.

In 1 Peter 1:1-2 we read, "Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to the strangers scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia. Elect [chosen] according to the foreknowledge of God the Father..." Throughout scripture, Israel is referred to as being the "elect" and "chosen" of the Almighty.

In James 1:1 we read, "James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad, greeting..." How is it that James knew that the twelve tribes of Israel were scattered abroad, and were not located in Palestine at that time?

And in Matthew 10:5-6, we have the words of Jesus instructing his disciples, "These twelve Jesus sent forth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not: but go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel..." Jesus was most explicit about "who" the disciples were to go to.

And finally in Matthew 15:24, Jesus tells the Canaanite woman just who he was sent to, "... I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel." Could this be any plainer and more specific?

So why is it that Christian Israelism is always under attack by all manner of groups. When you study back through both secular and Scriptural history, there is no answer other than to accept that Israel, though yet blinded to their identity, is alive and well in the world today and can be found in the Anglo-Saxon-Scandinavian-Germanic-Celtic and related peoples.

First, the Talmudists hate us since we pose a threat to their illicit claim to be "the Chosen people of God." If the truth were to be known that these anti-Christ and ungodly imposters were just that - imposters - what would happen to all of the support from the Evangelicals and Fundamentalists for them? It has only been in the last 60+ years that the ungodly ones have managed to con much of Christianity into believing that they, the anti-Christ Jews, are the "chosen" of God.

The second venue of attack against our beliefs comes from the so-called Christian churches. As the early "established church" evolved within the first centuries, they made the decision to put great distance between the corrupted, perverted and Talmudic doctrines of Judaism, and in essence, established the totally new religion of Christianity. They decided to forget and abandon most all the God-given Hebrew religion which existed prior to the establishment of Babylonian Judaism. The Christian churches have today evolved into materialistic "big business" and in order to survive, they can not afford to have the truth emerge that they have been promoting false doctrine for centuries.

The concept of the modern church is based on the premise that physical Israel is totally lost and gone and that "the church" has replaced it as a modern spiritual Israel. But that is not what the Scriptures say. In fact, there is no mention in Scripture of a spiritual Israel. All of the promises of God found in the Scriptures are meant for one people - ISRAEL. But the church in its tradition-steeped and materialistic ways has ascertained that the promises of God to Israel, can be delegated and assigned to all non-Israel peoples. Who has delegated and given the "church" the role to change and modify Scripture?

The civil authorities want no mention of who Israel truly is, as that would violate all of the politically correct nonsense that they are promoting today. Most in authority (and in the media) find it incomprehensible that God can have a bias when it comes to differing peoples.

This is one reason why every time the media gets a chance, it labels our beliefs as racist and cultish. They can not afford to have the truth be known as it does contradict the many traditions of men which prevail today. But the Bible is not written and addressed to everyone. The Bible was written to, for, and about Israel ONLY!

So we find "organized religion" consisting of both Judaism, and the so-called Christian churches allied against the truth of Scripture in an effort to maintain their own existence. Will all of the scandals and problems affecting organized religion today, we find more and more of our people searching for Scriptural truth. I would hope and pray that you would follow through and verify the accuracy of what has been written in this little article, and then study the Scriptures, to both determine and

CHRISTIANITY DISCRIMINATES

Pastor Bertrand L. Comparet

Part of the campaign of brainwashing to which the American public is being subjected is a huge and well-financed effort to make us believe that all discrimination is bad. Those of us whose memory reaches back 40 years or more, will recall that the ability to discriminate between things of different value or utility, was then recognized as a most essential part of intelligence. Those too dull to see differences where they exist were considered stupid. How does it happen that the subsidized press, radio and television commentators now so bitterly denounce all who can discriminate? They even try to make us believe that discrimination is not Christian! Since all manner of satanic doctrines are now being preached under the false pretense of "Christianity," [doctrines about devils, 1 Tim 4:1] let us examine the only source from which we can determine God's position on the subject of discrimination.

From beginning to end, the Bible is a book of discrimination. Discrimination by God Himself and discrimination which God commanded us to make. We find the first record of God's discrimination in Genesis 4:3-5, where we read, "And in process of time it came to pass that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the Lord. And Abel also brought of the firstlings of his flock and of the fat thereof. And the Lord had respect unto Abel and to his offering: but unto Cain and to his offering He had not respect." What is this?

But that is only the beginning. In Genesis 5:3-4, it describes Adam's family, yet it mentions by name only one of his children Seth, and barely notices the existence of the others. Discrimination? Yes, indeed! Right on down through verse 31, this chapter notes the existence of each succeeding generation, yet approves only one in each generation by giving his name.

This brings us to Noah. In Genesis 6:17-18, we find that God discriminated in favour of Noah and his family and against all the other people living in that land. God saw a difference between them? Of course he saw a difference. But today we are told that we must pretend that there is no difference between the races even when we clearly know that this pretense is false.

Follow me on down through Genesis and we find that God discriminated in favour of Isaac and against Ishmael. Among Isaac's children, God again favoured Jacob over Esau, making Jacob the father of God's people and changing his name to Israel, while Esau and his descendants were cursed with God's indignation forever. Likewise, God favoured Joseph over all his eleven brothers and again God discriminated in favour of the Israelites and against the Egyptians. "How awful! say our modern liberals. Why, that is racism!" Yes, frankly, it is and it is God's own choice at that. God has certainly lost the "minority group" vote but I am grateful to him for setting an example which we can follow.

Some people have been misled by their churches into the belief that the Old Testament is only a record of God's mistakes and failures. That God had to abandon all this and make a new start in the New Testament, which changed everything. No greater falsehood was ever taught. God was right the first time and all the time.

The Old Testament and the New Testament are perfectly consistent. There is as much Christianity in the Old Testament as there is in the New Testament. The New Testament is as much an Israel book as was the Old Testament. (see Sheldon Emry's companion booklets: Old Testament Christians #224 @ $2.10, and New Testament Israel #225 @ $1.95)

No doubt many of you have heard many preachers say that discrimination is not Christian. Let's look into this. Who is the supreme authority on what is Christian? It cannot be anyone except Jesus Christ Himself. No one can tell me that Jesus Christ was un-Christian.

Fortunately, Jesus Christ never used any of the weasel worded evasions which are considered polite today. He always fearlessly spoke the exact truth, in words too plain to be mistaken. All the Gospels record that, among the Jews, Jesus Christ spoke His teachings in parables which they could not understand. Later, He explained these parables to His disciples in private. At least three of the Gospels record that Jesus explained to His disciples why He took such pains to keep the Jews from understanding Him. In Mark 4:11-21, we read, "And He said unto them, Unto you it is given to know the mysteries of the Kingdom of God: but unto them that are without, all these things are done in parables: That seeing, they may see and not perceive; and hearing, they may hear and not understand: Lest at any time they should be converted and their sins should be forgiven them." Now that is real discrimination! How could you make it any stronger?

But that is not all. Both Matthew 15:22-28 and Mark 7:25-30, record that, when a Canaanite woman asked Jesus to drive the demon out of her daughter, He replied that it was not proper to take the children's bread and cast it to the dogs. Not until she acknowledged that the children of God, the true Israelites, must first receive His gifts, and through them the Kingdom of God would be established. Not until then did He consent to heal her daughter.

Discrimination? Yes, indeed! Racism? Certainly! But who dares to call Jesus Christ un-Christian? Yes, I think that some of the "liberal" and "modernist" preachers will actually say this! But this only shows clearly how much Satanism is falsely masquerading as Christianity today.

But this discrimination becomes even stronger. In Matthew 7:6, Jesus Christ warns all His followers, "Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before the swine, lest they trample them under their feet and turn again and rend you." Certainly everyone knows that Jesus was not so foolish as to think that His disciples were going into the barnyard and start preaching to the four legged animals there. When He spoke of "dogs" and "swine" He was speaking of the two-legged varieties. DISCRIMINATION BETWEEN RACES? CERTAINLY! But we haven't had sense enough to believe Him and obey Him. We have given that which is holy, our Christian religion, unto the dogs in Africa and Asia.

Today, those missionaries who did not abandon their fruitless efforts have been eaten in Africa or are slowly dying in the Asian squalor. The precious pearls which God gave to us, the inventive skill He placed in our minds, the high civilization which enables us to produce great abundance of every useful produce, these we have cast before the swine of the earth. They now trample under their feet the peaceful prosperity we tried to give them and use our science, our machines, even the surplus food we ship them, as weapons with which to destroy us.

Yes, I know how the minority groups and the mongrelizers are raging against what I am saying. But it is time that God's truth be told before it is too late. Jesus Christ warned us to discriminate between races, just as He discriminated. In His last talk with His disciples, in John 14-17, Jesus said that He would send to them holy spirit - the spirit of truth, whom the nations of the world order (cosmos) cannot receive because they do not see Him nor know Him. Jesus said that He prayed only for those who were His and not for the world system.

Jesus knew the folly and falsehood of pretending that all people, all races, all alike or equal. He knew that every sacrifice of truth on the polluted altar of expediency and politics brings its terrible penalty in national and racial degradation which only their destruction has ever succeeded in cleansing.

All history is a vast junkyard of the wreckage of empires which ignored this lesson and in consequence thereof, perished. Several times in our past history, we were on this path to destruction and were only saved by the direct intervention of God. Today, we have allowed corrupt leaders to take us so far into this shadow of death that again, only the promised intervention of God can now save us. We have His promise to save us if we will get down on our knees and beg for forgiveness and then He will heal our land.

If we will do our part God will keep His promises to Israel. While yet we can, let us turn back to the Word of our God. Discriminate between that which is good for us and that which is deadly. That which is our own and that which is alien to ourselves and to our God.

*"If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray,
and seek my face,
and turn from their wicked ways;
then will I hear from heaven,
and will forgive their sin,
and will heal their land."*

2 Chronicles 7:14

The first line should more properly read "upon whom My name is called" and is a reference to Numbers 6:23-27, where our God instructed the priests on how to bless Israel. It does not refer to people who call themselves 'Christian,' it refers ONLY to Israel.

The verse is a clear illustration of a "conditional" promise from Almighty God to His people. The first four lines set off what we, as a people, must do. The word "then" in the fifth line indicates that our Father will hear from heaven "and will forgive their sin, and heal their land." Until we meet the criteria [which includes recognizing the fact that the Anglo-Saxon people are the trues descendants of Abraham and Israel] as set forth in the first four lines, God will do nothing to forgive our national sins and to heal our lands. Is this so difficult to understand and comprehend?

This verse, and its adherence, ought to be the main emphasis of our churches, but it is in reality seldom if ever heard in "churchianity" today, and when it is, it is without the recognition in bold above. We, as our Israel forefathers of old, do not like to humble ourselves. We don't wish to seek the face of God as we are fearful, and we surely don't want to turn from our wicked ways, as we tend to "enjoy" our indiscretions.

Is it that our people are ignorant as to who they really are? We are not "Gentiles" as the churches interpret the word, but we are of Israel. Is it that the churches do not want to admit such, and prefer to transfer the "blessings of God" to the ungodly Talmudists? Could it be that the churches cannot afford to have the truth be known? Of what importance are denominations, and all other traditions of men? We believe that Jesus is the supreme leader of HIS CHURCH, and all of the puny and ineffectual efforts of men are of no concern!

ANTI-WAR NOT THE SAME AS ANTI-DEFENSE
by Charley Reese - Syndicated Columnist

People should make a distinction between someone being anti-war and being anti-defense. The best way, as George Washington said, to preserve the peace is to be prepared for war. The worst thing politicians can do is to squander the nation's resources in unnecessary wars.

Look at Vietnam. We know that in retrospect that it doesn't make one iota's difference to us that Vietnam is communist. American politicians and businessmen have flocked to do business with the communists. Yet politicians wasted 57,000 American lives presumably to prevent Vietnam from going communist. Another 40,000 were wasted in Korea, as if the politics of the Korean peninsula mattered to us one way or another. I hasten to add, of course, that in both instances it matters a great deal to the Vietnamese and Korean people.

But that's the point. They are vietnamese and Koreans, not Americans. Who governs their countries is up to them, not to us. God did not put us on this earth to run around the globe deciding which government is appropriate for which country. We are responsible for only one government and one country - ours! We are not doing a very good job of taking care of it, either. Our borders are being overrun, our natural resources are being exploited, and our government is inefficient and corrupt.

There is no need for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It was designed to defend Europe against invasion by the Soviet Union. There is no Soviet Union. There is no reason whatsoever for 91,000 American soldiers to be permanently stationed in Germany. There are no military threats to Germany, or to any other European country. There are more people in the European Union than there are in the United States. I imagine that they would field whatever military forces they felt were necessary if we quit being such a sucker as to "protect" people who don't need any protection.

There is no reason to keep 36,000 Americans in South Korea or thousands more on the Japanese island of Okinawa. We have no legitimate interest in the Far East except for trade, and military forces are not required for trade. The only country in the Far East that is supposedly an enemy is China, and we're trading with China like mad. Japan is the second largest economy in the world and can certainly defend itself. It has a warlike tradition 3,000 years old, whereas ours is barely 400 years old. Japan already spends more on its "self-defense" forces than Great Britain and France combined.

It might be of interest to know that at the end of World War I, Great Britain's military planners figured the next war Great Britain would have to fight would be against the United States. They saw Germany as having been taken out of the picture, and they saw us as the only threat to Great Britain's dominance. That historical tidbit is a reminder of the wisdom of another thing George Washington said: There is no such thing as friendship between nations. No nation can be trusted beyond its perceived self-interest.

The fact that American politicians today routinely refer to this country or that one as "friend" is just more evidence of our intellectual decline. We are powerful today because in the past we've been lucky as hell, and because in the past we had leaders with brains and backbones. We are spending the seed corn of the past, and the American people need to wake up and find something more substantial to rely on than dumb leaders and dumb luck!

If I sound grumpy, it's because I am. If I wanted my grandchildren to live in a Third World country, I would move them to one. I have no desire whatsoever to stand silent while cheap politicians reduce this, the greatest country in the world, to just another Third World has-been.

REAL TERRORISM OR FALSE HYPE?

Henry Hoffman, Congregations of Israel

Within the past year we have witnessed a veritable plethora of terror "alerts" and "warning." It appears that sometime during the average week, the responsible(?) agencies of the government issue some press release relative to some perceived threat. And the media immediately pounce on this release with all the fervour of "breaking news." Some months back, like little children, we were given a "colouring scheme" to denote the serious impact of some threat, with red being imminent, and ranging through the various shades of oranges, yellows, and greens. Pardon me, but I am intelligent enough to understand without going through a colouring lesson.

First of all, before someone accuses me of being unpatriotic, let me state that I am a veteran having served eight years. I do not however believe or endorse the statement, "my country right or wrong." If the nation is on the wrong track, then it is the responsibility of patriotic Christians to speak out on the issues. I emphasize "Christians" as I am not sure that "others" have the best welfare of our nation and people at heart.

We have heard of all manner of security threats against this nation, but I ask, how many of them are substantiated and true? Is this perceived threat "real," or is it something invented by what appears to be our less-than-intelligent intelligence agencies?

Could it be that all of this talk of terrorism is to merely cause the citizens to fear the unknown threat? Aside from the 9-11 tragedy (which is a story unto itself) and the so-called "shoe bomber" what other acts of terrorism have we seen? The reports this past December of terrorists sneaking across the Canadian border turned out to be untrue and false. Are these instances the forerunner to the end of freedom? Is all this talk of terrorism a way to justify the expansion of the government? Is this a cover for the increasing huge debts which the government is sustaining? It was recently reported that the U.S. government is now 7 trillion dollars in debt and the interest is still accruing. There are a lot of unanswered questions for which no one is providing any answers.

We now have the new Homeland Security Agency in place. Does this really make you feel more secure? The U.S. Border Patrol is reporting that tens of thousands are crossing the southern border every day, and while some may be seeking work and employment, how about those who seek to do harm to this nation and our people. How can we even think we are secure when we can't control our borders. The hundreds of billions of dollars that these illegal aliens are draining from our shaky economy is backing President Bush to the wall. Being concerned, I wrote my congressman about the ongoing disaster on the border, and I received a standard form letter telling me that Congress is studying, evaluating and investigating the matter. That is rhetoric which means that Congress is doing nothing! They have been studying, evaluating, and investigating for decades, but they have done nothing! In truth, both past and present members of Congress have been responsible for untold damage to this country. The only glimmer of satisfaction is that they will have to answer to a wrathful God some day for their abrogation of their responsibilities.

Is the terrorism threat real? If we would separate ourselves from the ungodly ones, the threat for the most part would disappear. Only time will tell. We need to place our trust in God Almighty instead of the ways of man.

Here we are, writing this just a few days before the camp. We have had some of our much-needed rain (15 inches in 18 days), and everything is looking much greener than it has for a while. God-willing we will have a great time together, and will be much strengthened and encouraged by each other's fellowship. Thank you all so very much for your letters, news clippings and your ongoing support. I wish more of you could/would come to the camp, both for your own benefit and that of your children. We need this fellowship if our people are to survive as a people! We need to be together in communities, NOT communes. May the God of Abraham bless us all as we serve Him, may He keep you all safe,

Re-Tell The Story

A VIDEO BY JEREMY LEE

At a time of worldwide unrest and disillusion with the vested interests manipulating the lives of ordinary people, the material in this video will prove a bombshell!
How can nations, communities and families be so deeply in debt that there is no apparent way out?

Speaking to an audience of 300 young Australians in Brisbane, Jeremy Lee dealt with the question of sovereignty - political sovereignty, financial sovereignty and personal sovereignty. He illustrated his material with moving and-but-forgotten Australian history - money and the first Australian Parliament, the men and women who suffered in prison camps during World War II, and the current threat to the future of young Australians. Many young Australians who heard this address, and later in Melbourne, were deeply moved.

"I believe we have a generation of young Australians with sound instincts, who have been cut off from their history," says Jeremy Lee.
"If we can deliver this material to them, we can be sure that the men and women of the future will fight as steadfastly for a free Australia as their fathers and mothers did before them. It is to their future that this material is dedicated.
