PRAYING WHEN WE SHOULD BE REPENTING

by Pastor Robert Record

(in view of the present drought, and that some have called for a day of prayer for rain, I thought this article to be appropriate. It has been sent to several in political office! CIM)

Sometime ago I turned on the TV to a religious telecast in which great concern was being manifest for the safety and future of our country.

At least four preachers from across the country waxed eloquent in prayer for God to come to the rescue of our nation. Nothing was said about the sins of our country and its leaders as being the cause of our national plight. Thus nobody prayed that our nation recognize its sins and repent. There was no recognition that we had just brought our troubles on ourselves. They were just bemoaning the fact that evil and wicked men were getting the upper hand, and they were imploring God to come to our rescue.

May we be reminded that when people have lost the Divine perspective of things, and when they are given to reading into the Bible things that are not there, there is little likelihood that very many people are praying the prayer of repentance and for the kingdom of God to come, and for the Will of God to be done on earth as it is in heaven.

Prayer can only be effective as it is uttered in the Spirit, and in harmony with the Word and promises of God. Therefore, though all churches were to gather for prayer, and though every member of those churches prayed, they would not necessarily be heard for their much speaking and praying, no matter how sincere they may have been.

We would do well to turn here to the first chapter of the Book of Isaiah. Our Israel forefathers were facing captivity and divorcement. They had been living in sin and idolatry for years and had refused to heed the warning of the prophets to repent and get back to God. In verse 4 the Lord describes them as a "sinful nation, a people laden with iniquity, a race of evil doers." They were a people who had forsaken Jehovah and who had provoked Him to anger. The point is, they did not think so. They were still very religious. But in verse 10 God speaks of the civil leaders as "rulers of Sodom," and the citizens under them as, "Ye people of Gomorrah." The people thus characterized were offering the sacrifices required by law. They were going through the form of worship, even to the point of praying. But in verse 15 God says, "When ye spread forth your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you; yea, when you make many prayers, I will not hear; your hands are full of blood." These words are addressed were the "church goers." These words are addressed to a people who professed to love God and who are actively engaged in the religious rites of the day. But they were not listening to God, or walking in obedience to His Word.

How well does this describe much of the religious life in the nation today? Our people are still very religious. They profess to love God and they go through the forms of worship. They are concerned, as were our fathers, over the plight of their nation, and they were offering up prayers to God for victory and deliverance, but they seem not to see why our nation is in trouble. How, then, can they pray effectively?

They quote glibly and freely such scriptures as 2 Chron. 7:14, where the Lord, Jehovah, is replying to Solomon's prayer in chapter 6 as he dedicated the temple. And all one has to do is read Solomon's prayer of dedication to see that it was a prayer for the nation of Israel. At this point in time, the Jews, a religious sect were unknown and unheard of, so it was not a prayer for the Jews. Solomon had prayed that if Israel got into trouble because of sin, and God withheld the rain, or if Israel was put to the worse before her enemies, his plea was that if Israel would pray and turn from their sin, that God would hear from heaven and forgive their sin.

In response to this prayer, we find God saying to Solomon in 2 Chron. 7:14, "If my people, which are called by my name (more correctly "Upon whom My name is called," a reference to Numbers 6:23-27) shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways: then I will hear from heaven and will forgive their sin, and I will heal their land."

By no stretch of the imagination can it be said that

The views and opinions expressed in the articles herein or herewith are those of the authors and not necessarily those of CIM. They are written by fallible men. You must ask Jesus to guide your studies!

Jehovah-God was even intimating or alluding to a Gentile church. It is a precious promise to Israel, few of which are Jews. Yet the clergy of our day quote this promise time and again as though it referred to Christians, irrespective of their racial or national origin. Their minds are so cluttered with fable and tradition about the Jews being Israel, and the church being Gentile (or non-Israel) that they do not see the absurdity of applying this verse to Gentiles. Had they read their Bibles, particularly the Old Testament, with any degree of understanding, they should have known that Israel was destined to become the “sons of the living God.”

And they should have known that Israel, not Gentiles, were to be God’s servants and witnesses to the rest of the world. And who is it that has served as God’s witnesses in this Christian dispensation? Has it been the Jews? Has it been the brown man, the yellow man, the red man, or the black man? Just where, and in what people, did the great spiritual revivals break out in the Reformation period beginning with Martin Luther? It was the peoples of Western Europe. And 90% of the world’s missionary activity has been carried on by the United States and Britain. This did not just happen. It was God fulfilling His Kingdom purposes in the people He chose to be His servants and witnesses. It is proof positive that the Anglo-Saxon, Germanic and English speaking people are modern national Israel. Not to see this, or to read the word, Jew, into the Bible every time the word, Israel, is mentioned, or alluded to, is to do irreparable harm to the scriptures and to the thinking of God’s people. Yet this is exactly the situation confronting the people of Christendom (Anglo-Saxondom) today.

Having either spiritualized Israel and given her promises to a Gentile Church, or having taken Israel’s promises and mistakenly applied them to the Jew, a religious sect classed with Protestants and Catholics, religious leaders by and large have taken to spiritualizing the kingdom and supplanting it with a heaven above.

They have thus lost the Divine perspective of things, and thus the meaning of the developing crisis. Now let me ask you, how can a people whose eyes are thus blinded by fable and tradition, and whose ears are filled with religious ear wax, ever read their Bibles with any degree of understanding as to its overall message, or pray effectively for God to come to the aid of His people? If these people had their way, they would forever defeat the kingdom purposes of God. To be sure, they believe in Christ, and they are busy trimming their lamps preparatory to the appearing of Christ, but it has not yet dawned on them that their lamps are going out and that the traditions they preach are not God’s message for this hour.

You will please note that one of the reasons why God would not hear the prayers of our forefathers was because “their hands are full of blood.” Whatever did He mean by that? The answer is to be found in such scriptures as Numbers 35:30-34. Here we are told that if the judges or the courts let murderers go free for a bribe or for some sentimental or emotional reason, and did not mete out capital punishment for capital crimes, that this failure to exact justice polluted the land and the nation had blood on its hands.

Today our land is filled with sob sisters who are constantly decrying the bestiality of putting murderers and rapists to death. [and then we have 14-year-old white girls gang-raped in Melbourne by a bunch of Middle-Eastern boys between 16 and 17!!!] And what with soft-headed judges occupying seats on many courts, our prisons are literally bursting at the seams with murderers who have not paid for their crimes, and many of them are let out on good behaviour to repeat their crimes on society. Such actions and leniency is a violation of Divine Law and is inviting the judgments of God. And this failure to exact justice, says God, is the reason why He will not answer our prayers for the nation.

The fact is, we are basically a lawless nation in that many of our clergy labor under the delusion that salvation by grace removes the necessity of God’s Law. Discard the Law of God and you are left without any standards of right and wrong - save what man deems to be right or wrong. We are thus left without any absolutes or authority higher than man in dealing with sin. In a hundred different ways we are violating the law of God without a twinge of conscience because we see no law we are transgressing.

I am sure that we have all heard it said that “Prayer changes things,” but this is not always true. Prayer changes things if it is offered to God in faith and in keeping with His will and Word.

The condition of God hearing our prayers is not simply that we seek His face, but that we turn from our wicked ways. This we are making no effort to do. We labor under the delusion that because we are “saved and ready for heaven” no other preparation is necessary. No, we are not saved by our works, but there is a righteousness of works, and of obedience to God, that God recognizes and demands. It is only in this way can we work out our salvation and walk in His Will.

I mention these things relative to the Divine Law because they are either ignored or forgotten in our national life today, and it is the basic cause of most of our troubles. As we have said, the Law of God sets forth a way of life - God’s was in contrast to ours. In complete disregard of God’s Word and Law, we are given to taking the way that seems right unto us. And in Proverbs 14:12, we are told, “there is a way which seemeth right unto man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.”

From time to time in our great country we have national days of prayer. And God knows we need such days. But I have yet to read where there was ever a confession or repentance of our national sins, and the need of getting back to God. We tell God of our great needs, but nobody points to the sins which are damning our nation and are inviting the judgment of God. We read in Proverbs 14:34 “righteousness exalteth a nation.” Our righteousness consists of walking with God in the light of His Word.

GOOD TASTING POISON

pastor Don Elmore

There is a major problem in the churches of our land. It is now no longer enough just to teach God’s health laws about eating clean foods and avoiding ingesting unclean foods, for since the beginning of the last century a new enemy to the health of Christians has sleuth fully arisen. And it has slowly and steadily ruined the health of many of God's elect.

George Washington never drank a Dr. Pepper; Andrew Jackson never ate a french fry, Robert E. Lee never munched on a potato chip; Babe Ruth never ate M&M's; and Abraham Lincoln never dined at McDonalds, Burger King or Kentucky Fried Chicken. Our modern world of convenient processed foods and fast food restaurants has brought with it sicknesses, degenerate diseases and death.

It all began innocently enough as the nation shifted from an agricultural economy to an industrial urban society. During and after World War II, the dramatic cultural shift of women leaving the home into the workplace led to the necessity of convenient foods. No longer did the mother/wife have either the time or energy to make "meals from scratch." No longer was she able to shop several times a week and purchase fresh fruits and vegetables at the local farm stand or grocery store.

To fill that void, thousands of newly created foods rushed into the market place: frozen TV dinners, processed foods in boxes and cans, artificial sweeteners, margarines, "chemical" drinks, chips, artificially flavored drinks and foods, etc. And to increase the shelf life of the product and to enhance its taste—emulsifiers and MSG—both poisonous substances—were added.

Then in the 1970's, a new cheaper type of sugar was discovered. So popular has this new "sugar" become, that it has surpassed the sugar made from cane or beets. Most sugar that is in most processed foods and drinks in the United States is made from CORN! Its most common name is "High Fructose Corn Syrup."

This sweet-tasting ingredient is found in almost every kind of food—from soft drinks to ketchup. But this sugary ingredient is a leading cause of obesity in those who eat it and it helps create an acid (low pH) environment in the person's body—which is necessary for cancer and other diseases to exist—so it is very dangerous to a Christian's health.

WHAT CAN A CHRISTIAN DO?

What the prophet Hosea said about our forefathers is still true today: "My people are destroyed because of a lack of knowledge." Most Christians are not aware of the hidden dangers in their foods and drinks. If they did—they would NOT be feeding it to themselves and their children. For those that learn of these dangers, how do they begin the journey back to good health? To begin with they should...

• AVOID EATING EXTREMELY HARMFUL FOOD AND DRINKS

There are some foods and drinks that are so harmful to one's health that they should be avoided at all costs. The trouble is that they taste so good to most people and therefore few have the desire or discipline to discontinue their habit of partaking of them even when they are told that these foods and drinks are poisonous foods. But these foods should seldom be eaten, or ideally eliminated!

1. ALL PROCESSED OR JUNK FOODS
2. FOODS CONTAINING REFINED WHITE OR WHEAT FLOUR AND SUGAR, such as breads, cereals (corn flakes, Frosted Flakes, Puffed Wheat, and sweetened granola, etc.), flour-based pastas, bagels, and pastries.

3. All foods and drinks containing HIGH-FRUCTOSE CORN SYRUP.

4. All ARTIFICIAL SWEETENERS (aspartame, saccharin, etc.).

5. STARCHY, HIGH-GLYCEMIC COOKED VEGETABLES, such as mashed white potatoes.

6. PROCESSED FRUIT JUICES which are often loaded with sugar.

7. PROCESSED CANNED VEGETABLES (usually very high in sodium).

8. Foods containing HYDROGENATED OR PARTIALLY HYDROGENATED OILS (which become trans-fatty acids in the bloodstream), such as most crackers, chips, cakes, candies, cookies, margarine, doughnuts, peanut butter, processed cheese, and so on.

9. PROCESSED, REFINED OILS such as corn, safflower, sunflower, cotton-seed, peanut, and canola.

10. RED MEATS (unless organic or grass-fed).

11. CAFFEINE

12. UNCLEAN FOODS

13. PASTEURIZED MILK (homogenized is worse!)

14. All foods that contain MONOSODIUM GLUTAMATE (MSG).

•INSTILL THE FOLLOWING HEALTHFUL HABITS

1. DRINK PLENTY OF GOOD WATER EVERY DAY (600 ml for every 12 kilos)

2. GET ENOUGH SLEEP

3. GET ENOUGH EXERCISE

4. EAT PLENTY OF FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

5. INCLUDE PROTEIN AT BREAKFAST EVERY DAY

6. EAT SOMETHING EVERY THREE TO FOUR HOURS to keep your insulin and glucose levels normal.

7. AVOID EATING FOR TWO TO THREE HOURS BEFORE GOING TO BED.

8. CONTROL THE GLYCEMIC LOAD OF YOUR MEALS

9. DETOX YOUR SYSTEM (colon, liver, kidneys, etc.)

The local church has surrendered to the secular kingdom almost all areas of jurisdiction and authority. The PREVENTION and HEALING of diseases is one such area. If the sick are commanded to come to "the elders of the church," then the elders of the church need to know what to do to help.

The pulpits have been almost silent in regards to the prevention of illnesses. The dangers of slow poisons that are in our food, water, and drinks are rarely mentioned. Thus, many good, godly Christians have and are suffering needlessly with painful, degenerate diseases.

It is difficult to be spiritual when one is suffering with a headache or joint pain or is constantly fatigued. Living longer but spending the last few years bedridden or with a loss of memory or suffering with cancer or having a leg amputated because of diabetes is not "abundant living." Let us be wise enough to foil God's enemies who have attempted to destroy the sheep of God by promoting birth control, abortion, vaccinations, and now slow, dangerous good tasting poisons in our foods and drinks. Amen. ***

THE FAMILY UNDER ASSAULT by Dan Gentry

"No man can enter into a strong man's house, and spoil his goods, except he will first bind the strong man; and then he will spoil his house." (Mark 3:27)

We are acquainted with the literal, visceral reading of this verse: bandits and robbers tying up (or eliminating) the head of a household, in order to haul off with jewels, cash, plasma TV's, or whatever else they value most.

The spiritual ramifications of this are much greater, as this not only concerns an individual household, but the Household of Faith, the Body of Christ, if you will.

The present state of affairs (no pun intended) concerning marriage and family, in legal contemplation, is staggering, and should be a source of shame to the ministers of America. Marriage has been and is under progressive attacks, particularly since the War on Celto-Saxon Nationalism (1939-45) by powers of One World Government.

First, the post-war ethos was consumed with (well, I hope you guessed it...) consumption. The "Baby Boom" years found us creating a society of plastic knick-knacks, bric-a-bracs, Slinkies and Barbies, ensconced in rows of houses that are all the same, completed by swimming pools and two-car garages. Looking back on that time, one may feel some nostalgia, not so much at the rising materialism, as at the (yet) uncomplicated nature of the relationship between generations, and at the greater control we had over most aspects of our lives.

We were happy with the status quo then, or so we thought, until (behind our backs) legislators were abolishing -- state by state -- laws against sodomy, then miscegeny (racial intermarriage), then sexual discrimination, and so on...[I heard that 18 states in USA had passed laws BANNING 'gay' marriage!]

Now, the pool we call "society" has been stirred up enough to be renamed cesspool, and the fundamental unit of order we once called normal (one man & one woman, united by God for a lifetime, with children), is being redefined in a variety of ways, so that "no one will feel left out," and everyone has an equal shot at goodies from the public trough. Mind you, even though minority races are disproportionate in their access of this taxpayer largesse, it is not a "race thing;" I have seen many unwed white mothers remain so, to receive public benefits. Human nature (our chief adversary) sees to this!

One of the ways robbers (social engineers) have "bound the strong man" of monogamous, Biblical families, is to convince the women (and children) that they are mere property to the man, hence unable to realize their full potential.

Founder of modern Communism, Frederick Engels, spouted, "We are now approaching a social revolution in which the economic foundations of monogamy as they have existed hitherto will disappear just as surely as those of its complement--prostitution. Monogamy arose from the concentration of considerable wealth in the hands of a single individual -- a man -- and from the need to bequeath this wealth to the children of that man and no other..." [The Origin of the Family, Private Property and the State.]

Engels went on to condone the transfer of what he calls the means of production (children) into common (State) ownership. This is why miscegeny was and is promoted in countries Communists hope(d) to conquer, for such must be by license, where the State becomes third party, and the children, collateral (tax-wage slaves).

To accomplish this, Communists had to redefine marriage as broadly as possible, and encourage sexual laxity in youth. Engels added, "The care and education of children becomes a public affair; society looks after all children alike, whether they are legitimate or not... Will that not suffice to bring about the gradual growth of unconstrained sexual intercourse and with it a more tolerant public opinion in regard to a maiden's honour and a woman's shame?" Rock music, (secular) feminism and widespread pornography have seen fit to this. The Jew pied-piper called Bob Dylan once sang the party line in his The Times, They are a-changin':

"Come mothers and fathers throughout the land, and don't criticize what you can't understand. Your sons and daughters are beyond your command.

Your old road is rapidly aging. Please get out of the new one if you can't lend your hand...."

Dear friends, are your sons and daughters beyond your command? Have you taken the time to understand the war which is being waged on them, and you? Children in a multi-racial "society" are herded into government indoctrination centers (schools)[private schools included!] taught in the ways of humanist dharma religion (tolerance), and encouraged to cross any racial or sexual barrier.

Our King once said, "A prophet is not without honor, except in his own country, and in his own house" (Matt. 13:57). Often, our kin are our greatest critics, and opponents. Friends and family can become, at times, bitter enemies (Micah 7:5-6), even over seemingly trivial matters. In cases of manslaughter (accidental death), the slayer was often pursued by near of kin, in fear of his own life, hence the legal protection of cities of refuge (Joshua 20:3-6). Times haven't changed that much. In Mark 13:12-13, speaking specifically of the time before the fall of old Jerusalem in AD 68-70 but by implication the time before His second coming, Jesus Christ warned us:

"A brother will deliver his brother to death, and a father his son; and the children will rise up against their parents and put them to death. And you will be hated by ALL men because of my name; but he who has patience to the end will be saved,"

Knowing "insider information" may be used against those who do not adhere to the New World Order (Christians, et al), the enemies of our King exploit family leaks, and even rumours, to engage CPS or other agencies the Founders of our Nation would be horrified to know exist. Public schools fit into this plan as well.

Also, anything which gets spouses arguing causes general distrust and, when a marriage license is involved, it is the woman who (most frequently) runs to the State for a divorce. I have seen this many times where the message becomes a bone of contention, especially when the woman is from a Judeo-Christian church background which preaches against such as "heresy" (which it isn't). For this reason alone, it is wholly advisable for marriage candidates to seek counsel together, to iron out, or come to a meeting-of-minds, on such matters. Fools rush in, where angels fear to tread, as the saying goes!

Ironically, I have met many young people who have no intention to marry, simply because they consciously avoid any source of friction, children being a chief source. They are ill-prepared for life itself, much less marriage, as striving for any just cause can be exhausting at times. However, being two-legged flotsam and jetsam, blown about on the winds of dictatorial government is hardly a life! A Gallup poll shows, however, multiple children usually has a solidifying effect on the marriage itself. Most divorces occur before couples have two children, and most of these before they have any. By then, they are strong enough of character to roll with the punches inevitably thrown their way.

In Genesis we find the command to "Be fruitful and refill the earth." In Jeremiah 29:4-7, the captives of Judah in Babylon were instructed to carry on this command, despite their predicament. Family is obviously important, and the fact is, ours are modelled on the prototype of Jesus Christ and His Bride, physical Israel (not "the Church,"). Is the "parentage" of this spiritual union of importance? I think you know the answer.

LESSONS FROM JUDAH'S KINGS

by Pastor Don Elmore & Rik Huffman

Introduction

King Hezekiah is one of the more well-known kings of ancient Judah. That is because of the most unusual circumstance that occurred in his life. After being informed by one of God's prophets to get his house in order—for he was going to shortly die—King Hezekiah negotiated for an extension of life. And he was granted it.

God gave to him an additional fifteen years of life. But God did not just miraculously heal him—He gave to him the means by which he could be healed: a fig cake had to be put on his boil in order for the King to be healed.

God could have automatically healed him—but He did not perform a miracle. Instead, He gave instructions as to how to cure King Hezekiah naturally of his terminal disease.

AN IMPORTANT LESSON

Pastor John W. Shenton, in his booklet: Nature's Big 12 Healing Herbs, laments about how long it took him to learn this lesson in his life:

"Some are taken up with the idea that Almighty God heals only in one way, via miracles. All history and experience proves that He heals in many ways. Certainly we know that healing, health and vigour come into a sick body that is provided with the necessary vitamins, minerals and trace elements. And who created these in the first instance but God! So it came about that I was led to give serious thought to diet reform, and I never regret it. What I do most deeply regret is that my dear wife, Lillian, wanted to ... when we were first married, but I would have none of it. I had to go on to reap the bitter harvest of my own foolish ways. I repeat for the sake of emphasis: 'No one can break God's Laws and get away with it—no one ever has, no one ever will.' On the other hand WE CAN MAKE GOD'S UNALTERABLE LAWS WORK FOR US. And this alone is a tremendous thought. we can so love that all the mysterious and powerful forces of the Universe are behind us for healing, for health, vitality, and abundant, radiant living" (pages 15,16).

Pastor Shenton also wrote:

"One does not have to become a faddist nor a fanatic to discipline oneself to eat good, wholesome, unprocessed, health-giving food. But one has only to mention the subject of 'diet' in the company of a few people to feel the atmosphere 'freeze.'

It is indeed a strange thing that so few people ever realize in connection with the subject of 'dieting' that THEY ARE ALREADY ON A DIET. Everybody is on a diet. Let this truth sink well into the understanding. Dieting is not something you have to do in some distant future. At every possible mealtime you are on a diet for disease, sickness, fatigue and weakness, or for abounding health and vitality. Let the reader once see this point and the truth will come like a flash of inspiring light. All that is necessary is THE WILL and the DISCIPLINE to re-arrange the food items so that they make for the fullest possible nourishment of the body — for vigour, vitality and power. And this is what most people desire.

It is not without significance that the first Law God gave to man [Adam] was a food law (Genesis 1:29, 30). And later Almighty God gave the most astounding promise to His People that could ever be given to any people, and it was FREEDOM FROM DISEASE AND SICKNESS. 'None of these diseases shall come upon thee, for I am the Lord that healeth thee.' Now read Exodus, chapter 15, while it is fresh in your mind, and take special note of the CONDITIONS to be fulfilled for this experience of freedom from disease. In Leviticus 11 and Deuteronomy 14, note how Almighty God regulates the eating habits of His people. This is God's Word to His people, and to have 'faith' in His Word means more than giving mental assent to it, it means 'believing' what the Almighty says AND BELIEVING IT SO MUCH THAT YOU ACT UPON IT. You incarnate His instructions in your life. This is the only way we can WALK IN HIS WAYS. That is, when we walk, or when we live, we demonstrate the truth of His Laws or instructions in our lives. So then faith is believing and acting" (page 15).

Pastor Shenton later wrote:

"... we recognize the fact that Almighty God can come to our aid along many avenues of Healing Power. He is not limited to any one method of approach.

Herbs are undoubtedly a Divine Creation. They are one of God's methods of healing. Again, the road is not spectacular, and if God should choose this road, WE MUST NOT DESPISE HIS COMING BECAUSE HE COMES ALONG THE LOWLY ROAD OF THE PLANT KINGDOM.

It would be a strange thing, indeed, if there were no healing and health sustaining virtue in plants (herbs), that God should have seen fit to create so many and scatter them to the uttermost parts of the earth.

WE MUST RECOVER OUR FAITH IN THESE MEDICINAL PLANTS TO DO ALL THAT THE ALLWISE CREATOR PURPOSED, PROVIDING WE FULFILL ALL THE OTHER CONDITIONS OF HEALTH.

It is a mistake of fundamental importance to believe that by brewing a few herbs we are free from the laws of Healthful Living. The taking of herbs will not and cannot in any wise permit us to live a life of breaking God's Health Laws. We may benefit for a short while, but there will be no permanent healing. A permanent cure will be yours as a result of living in harmony with the Laws of healthful Living. It cannot be obtained on lesser terms. Our attitude towards all disease and sicknesses must change, they are not normal, they are the CONSEQUENCES of wrong living. Change the habits of living and thinking and YOU WILL BE WELL, for God wants you to be well, and you can stay well" (pages 16-17).

Pastor Shenton discovered in his own life what is a major problem in most Christian lives today. How can a godly man eat a bowl of cheerios, two doughnuts and drink a glass of fruit juice for breakfast; eat a Big Mac, French fries and a Coke for lunch at McDonalds; eat a candy bar for a snack at mid-day; eat spaghetti and meat sauce with garlic bread and a garden salad with thousand island dressing and drink a glass of pasteurized milk for supper; and have a before-bed snack of two dips of ice cream—and be healthy?

Many Christians are afraid of diseases. But a very large percentage of diseases are the result of and are directly traceable to worry, fear, conflict, immorality, dissipation and ignorance — to unwholesome living and unclean living. Repentance, restitution and forgiveness will heal and cease the sufferings caused by these sins.

A HEALTH REMEDY

To provide Christians with some forgotten health remedies to help restore their bodies to health because of poor eating habits, I asked a member of our church—Rik Huffman to write about such a remedy. He chose to write about Apple Cider Vinegar.

APPLE CIDER VINEGAR

Apple cider vinegar has been used for centuries as a folk remedy for a myriad of ills. The ancient Egyptians, as far back as 3000 BC, sang the praises of this unique, yet humble, product. Fermenting apple juice to alcoholic apple cider, and then letting the oxygen interact with it, turns the alcohol to acetic acid - one of the "magic" ingredients in the finished product. To help this process along from the alcoholic base, "mother" is added - that being the spider web-like bacteria foam that forms during the fermentation process.

The saying of "an apple a day keeps the doctor away" comes from the medieval English saying, which really goes "to eat an apple before going to bed will make the doctor beg for his bread."

This would be hard to believe in our modern day world, where our health is kept together and disease is kept at bay by a battery of doctors - ranging from cardiologists, dermatologists, gynecologists, internists, oncologists, neurologists, pathologists, radiologists, etc.

Some people complain that it might be too avid to drink, but that is really a fallacy since the Ph is lower than that of commercial cola! A delicious way to get ACV (apple cider vinegar) into your system is to put 1.5 table-spoons into a 12 oz glass of spring water and add honey to taste. It's what the old timers called "Switched," and it was the precursor to ginger ale. This is actually a very good remedy for indigestion, or upset stomach.

Substances In Apple Cider Vinegar

Scientists have measured ninety different substances in apple cider vinegar such as thirteen types of carbolic acids, four aldehydes, twenty ketones, eighteen types of alcohols, eight ethyl acetates etc. It also contains important minerals, trace elements and vitamins (as listed below) as well as acetic acid, propionic acid, lactic acid, enzymes, amino acids as well as roughage in the form of potash and apple pectin.

Minerals and Trace Elements

Potassium, Calcium, Magnesium, Phosphorous, Chlorine, Sodium, Sulfur, Copper, Iron, Silicon, Fluorine.

Vitamins

Vitamin C, Vitamin E, Vitamin A, Vitamin B1, Vitamin B2, Vitamin B6, Provitamin beta-carotene.

Well functioning metabolism; Reducing cholesterol (the dangerous LDL cholesterol type); Regulating the water content in the cells and body; Reducing water retention in the body; Reducing excess sodium from the body; Helps with regulating blood pressure; Assists in preventing circulatory problems; Helps with diminishing premature calcification of the arteries; Helps increase concentration and memory; Assists in blood circulation, body temperature as well as vitality and energy.

Arthritis

This condition of inflammation of the joints is a major chronic disease in the West, and is believed to be partly caused by a build-up of toxic wastes in the tissues, causing irritation. It is thought that these metabolic toxic wastes can be contained by eliminating food allergies as well as unhealthy life styles such as smoking, not exercising and being obese.

Arthritis sufferers have reported a positive influence that apple cider vinegar has on the pain experienced as well as slowing down the progression of this disease. Most people using it as a therapy for this problem ingest it four times a day.

Asthma

Although orthodox medicine might not agree with this remedy, some people have found relief from asthma by ingesting apple cider vinegar, as well as applying pads, soaked in apple cider vinegar, under pressure to the inside of the wrists.

Blood Pressure

The potassium in apple cider vinegar is said to be beneficial to both the heart and blood pressure, and in some quarters this remedy is said to assist in making the blood thinner, and thereby assisting with blood pressure and in the prevention of a stroke.

Bones

The manganese, magnesium, silicon (and calcium) found in apple cider vinegar has been linked in sustaining bone mass, which is important in the fight against osteoporosis. A supplement of apple cider vinegar could for this reason be valuable to consider should you suffer from calcium shortage, have a problem with osteoporosis, or if you are entering your postmenopausal stage, where a risk of bone loss could cause a problem.

Cancer

Although apple cider cannot cure cancer, it is a valuable ally to have around to help fight free radicals in the body, which have been shown to be indicative in the formation of various cancers. Beta-carotene, found in apple cider vinegar, is a powerful antioxidant, which helps in neutralizing the free radicals, formed in our bodies through oxidation.

To prevent these free radicals, and to keep them in check, we need antioxidants in our system to rid our bodies of these potentially dangerous compounds. If free radicals are left alone to have the run of our bodies, they cause major damage be severely damaging cells, which leads to ageing and degeneration.

The pectin in apple cider vinegar adds fiber to the diet, and even the American Cancer Society promotes a high fiber diet to help with preventing cancer, especially colon cancer. The reason for this is that fiber binds with certain cancer causing (carcinogenic) compounds in the colon, and speeds up their elimination from the body.

Candida

Although there are different factors influencing the formation of candida (which is a yeast infection) a disturbance of your diet, as well as an intake of antibiotics must be looked at when you experience such an episode of candida flare-up, since the yeast balance in your body can be thrown out of sync by these two factors.

A selection of topical creams and lotions are available, but a cheap alternative can be found by douching twice a day with a solution of ACV until the symptoms disappear. The solution is made from 2 tablespoons of ACV to a quart of lukewarm water - this solution will assist in restoring the acid balance.

Cholesterol

A good warning system for heart disease is the presence of high blood cholesterol in the system. To help prevent this is to follow a life-style which includes eating a diet high in fruits and vegetables, maintaining your ideal weight, getting enough exercise while avoiding processed foods, junk foods and hydrogenated oils.

Another way is to add fiber to your diet, especially water-soluble fiber soaks up water, which adds bulk, and interacts with your body, and also keeps on working longer than non water-soluble fiber.

Fiber also soaks up fats and cholesterol in the body and then is excreted instead of being reabsorbed.

Non water-soluble fiber soaks up moisture in the body, but cannot interact with the body. The amino acids contained in apple cider vinegar have also shown promise in neutralizing some of the harmful oxidized LDL cholesterol.

Colds

It has been found that the pH factor (the acidity factor) of the body becomes a bit more alkaline prior to a cold or flu striking you down. When you take apple cider vinegar it helps to rebalance the acid level of your body.

Another remedy for colds and flu, and said to be specifically beneficial for chest complaints during the winter, is to soak a piece of brown paper with apple cider vinegar, and to place pepper on the one side of the paper. You then tie the paper, pepper side down, on to your chest and leave on for 25-30 minutes.

Constipation

Not having proper bowel movements is blamed for many illnesses and diseases which befall us. The logic behind it stating that should the waste products from our bodily functions be retained in the body, for longer than what nature intends, it will cause toxins to be absorbed back into the system.

As we age our bodies produce less and start to lag behind in the manufacture of digestive acids (hydrochloric acid), pepsin and digestive enzymes - which can cause constipation. When we add fiber to our diet, such as the pectin in apple cider vinegar, we assist our body by having regular bowel movements and proper elimination.

Cramps

If you have never have woken up in the middle of the night with cramps tearing through your calves, feet or legs, you would not understand the agony. A useful remedy to assist with this is to take apple cider vinegar.

Diabetes

This disease is becoming more and more common, and there may be various reasons for this phenomena, but it must be remembered that it is not only extremely serious, but needs proper medical supervision, and a strict adherence to dietary rules and medication, as prescribed by your medical practitioner. It is however interesting to note that added dietary fiber, such as contained in apple cider vinegar, is beneficial in controlling blood glucose levels.

Diarrhea

There are various causes for diarrhea, and although it should not be left untreated, it sometimes is a way for the body to rid itself of harmful compounds and ingested materials. The pectin in apple cider vinegar is great to take when suffering from this problem, since this water-soluble fiber swells up, and forms bulk.

It is also an effective ingredient to use against certain bacteria which causes diarrhea and the intestinal flora also transforms pectin into a protective coating which soothes the irritated lining of the colon. Next time you have a problem, consider this most humble treatment.

Depression

Although prescribing apple cider vinegar for depression would be classed as extremely alternative, some Eastern medicines do believe that depression is the symptom of a "stagnant" or tired liver. If you believe in this philosophy, then apple cider vinegar would help to fight depression, since it is a great medium to help detoxify and clean the liver.

Eyes

Cataract development in the eye is associated to oxidation of the lens of the eye due to alterations caused by free radicals changing the structure of the lens. With this in mind apple cider vinegar can be of use with this problem, since the antioxidant properties of beta-carotene contained in apple cider vinegar, are great in combating free radicals.

Fatigue

Lactic acid is released in the body during exercise as well as periods of stress, and this can lead to fatigue, which in turn can be combated by the amino acids contained in apple cider vinegar. The enzymes, as well as the potassium contained in apple cider vinegar can also be of great help in the quest for more energy and vitality.

Food Poisoning

Because of the great disinfectant qualities inherent in apple cider vinegar, some people when suffering from mild cases of food poisoning use it with success. If you suffer from violent symptoms, and suspect serious food poisoning please contact your medical practitioner immediately.

Gallstones and Kidney Stones

A theory exists that the acids found in apple cider vinegar are beneficial in breaking up kidney stones and gallstones, by softening and dissolving them. Although we cannot guarantee any results, since there are so many other influencing factors, it might be worth your while to supplement your diet with apple cider vinegar, should you be suffering from gallstones or kidney stones.

Headaches

The cause of headaches can be stress, allergies, tiredness, problems with your gallbladder, liver, kidneys, or a variety of other factors. Although apple cider vinegar cannot be touted as a headache treatment, it has been found that people have slightly more alkaline urine when suffering from a headache, and with this apple cider vinegar could be effective, since it will assist in bringing your body's acid level back into sync.

The inhalation of apple cider vinegar could also assist with a headache - and can be achieved by adding some apple cider vinegar to boiling water in a big pan, and carefully inhaling the vapour.

Heart

Since apple cider vinegar is used to promote the health of veins and capillaries, it is by implication also useful in assisting in the health of the heart and blood pressure. The potassium found in ACV is also beneficial to the heart.

Indigestion

When people start talking about indigestion they immediately start referring to the "excess" stomach acid that they have! In most cases it is NOT a case of an excess of stomach acid, but a shortage of it.

Hydrochloric acid and pepsin, an enzyme working in an acid environment, are needed to break down the food effectively, and a shortage of these two ingredients will lead to a sluggish digestion of food and resultant indigestion. Taking apple cider vinegar may assist in effecting a remedy.

Metabolism

The quest for achieving the ideal weight always will include effective and efficient metabolism. Without it, your dietary intake will not be metabolized correctly, the nutrients will not be available to the body, and will result in excess weight being added to the body frame.

Apple cider vinegar has been used for centuries in aiding the liver to detoxify the body and to help with digesting rich, fatty and greasy foods, and for proper metabolizing of proteins, fats and minerals. If the food cannot be broken down into the absorbable form, the body cannot assimilate the required nutrients needed from the diet.

Weight Loss

Apple Cider Vinegar has been used as a weight loss remedy for centuries, and although the mechanics are not always clear on how it works, it really does work. It has been suggested that the apple cider vinegar works because it makes the body burn calories better, that it reduces the appetite or simply that it gets the entire metabolism working at top efficiency.

But whatever the reason, the fact remains that it has stood the test of time as a fat-burning supplement, and has helped countless people to achieve their ideal weight.

PARENTAL OBEDIENCE, WHEN DOES IT END?

by Troy Anderson

In any age laden with sin and iniquity, many Christian homes struggle with the challenge of raising a godly generation. All too often you will hear some cute little boy or girl saying to his or her parents something to this effect: "No!" when told to do something or to refrain from something. Even worse is the child that says, "No, I hate you. Give that back to me." or something similar. Statements such as these grieve the Christian, yet we hear them repeatedly. This scenario can be seen in any mall, restaurant, or park across the nation. In fact the plain, "No" can be heard in so-called Christian homes! There is seemingly nothing we can do, or is there?

As Christians we are called to be salt and light to our generation. We are to be an example to them. In the above illustration, what were the missing qualities in the lives of those children? The missing ingredients were honour and OBEDIENCE to their parents. Honour and Obedience should be a part of every Christian's life. It should likewise abound in their homes. There is a way that we can be an example to the ungodly in this area, and that is to exhibit these attributes in our lives. Children learn from the pattern set for them by their parents. Are the parents unstable? The children will be also. Are the parents wanderers from place to place, never putting down roots - the children will grow up the same. This is the subject my article is all about, giving honour and, as I would expect with controversy, obedience to our parents. What better way is there to teach our children honour and obedience, than by honouring and obeying their grandparents?

While driving home from out of town recently, I was listening to an audio tape. It was here that I learned this concept of adult obedience to parents. I have often heard of honouring your parents for a lifetime, but I thought once you're an adult you were no longer required to obey your parents. You had a privilege now to "do your own thing." Of course, as Christians, they would never do anything contrary to Scripture (would they?), but surely they could do all the things they were forbidden to do as a child, and experience things for themselves. Many children approaching the age of adulthood, whatever that may be to them, would say, "Yea, freedom at last!" And, "now that we are adults, we don't have to obey like children anymore." But, through this message, the Holy Ghost began to quicken me with the question, was I still required to 'obey' my parents?

the past month or so, my wife and I have been striving for a deeper walk with the Father. We have been praying that God would reveal to us areas in our lives that need change or a renewed commitment (commitment being something that is required in a lot more people). We found ourselves challenged with the Scripture in Rev 3:16, which says, "so then because thou art lukewarm, and neither hot nor cold, I will spue thee out of my mouth." We desired to be hot for Jesus and any sphere of our lives that was lukewarm needed change. So, when I listened to this tape, and heard him expound the idea of honour and more importantly, OBEDIENCE, I knew it required further study.

Before you start saying, "this guy has strange theology," hear me out, and let's look at the Scripture together. In Mark 7:10 we read, "For Moses said, Honour thy father and mother; and whoso curseth father or mother, let him die the death;" What does it mean we are to honour our parents? By definition, honour implies respect, and to honour someone is to treat them with deference and submission. To defer is to yield your opinion to, or to submit to another's judgment. (Refer to Webster's 1828 Dictionary for entire definition of Honour and Deference). To show honour toward our parents means to defer our opinions to theirs.

There are several good Christian books on the subject of child training which will cover the aspect of obedience towards parents (one such book is entitled: What The Bible Says About .. Child Training, by Richard Fugate, #405 @ $23 from CIM) However, as I have already stated, this is not our subject, at least not primarily. We are covering the idea of adult obedience. Rather than showing what it means to obey your parents, I will develop the idea based on being disobedient to parents. In Romans chapter one we read of the downfall of man. Starting in vs 24 Paul states that God would give them over in the lust of their hearts to impurity. Paul goes on showing the effects of sin and unrighteousness and giving us a picture of how we can recognize those who have turned from God. As you will see, starting in vs 29, these are "adult" sins. Romans 1:29-30 reads: "Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness, full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, backbiters, inventors of evil things," and so ends the reading of the "adult sins." Now Paul (supposedly) changes direction and addresses the children's sin, being, "disobedient to parents."

I believe that if you will read the context you will see for yourself who Paul is writing to. For another witness let us go on to the following passage. 2 Timothy 3:1-2 states, "This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy." In both passages the sin of being disobedient to parents is in some pretty bad company. In the Greek, the word disobedience means: "1) impersuadable, not compliant, disobedient, contumacious." To be disobedient basically means that you will not regard what they are saying. You are unable to be persuaded when your mind is set; you're obstinate, stubborn and unyielding. You are unapproachable and can be characterized as an "independent spirit." If your parents would require something of you that would go against the Laws of God, then, "...you ought to obey God rather than men." (e.g. if they wanted you to steal - or wanted you to prostitute yourself - or murder your unborn child, etc.). yet, most of the time the only requirement is the sacrifice of your liberty.

To give you an example, my mother has always said that she did not want me to drive a motorcycle on the road. When I was still living at home, I always said, one day when I am out on my own, I am going to get a motorcycle (when I could afford it). And let's face it, isn't that why most leave home - to do something that would not be allowed at home? After pondering these scriptures, I believe it would be disobedient to my mother if I bought a motorcycle. It would therefore be disobedience to God as well. Now, if there was some way I could persuade her in gentleness and meekness that I 'needed' a motorcycle and she would change her mind, then I could get one. But, if I went out and bought one, disregarding her wishes, I would be in rebellion (see Deut 21:18-21). Many other examples could be cited, e.g. moving away so that fellowship with family and relatives (and church) is no longer possible, against parents wishes.

What we're talking about is a heart attitude of submission to authority. Our parents were placed in authority over us, by God, whether we like it or not. Basically, to honour and obey our parents have similar meanings to us as adults. Both refer to a deferment to our parents' wishes as it relates to our own liberties and "rights." This does not mean that they rule our lives, because we, as parents, were given authority over our children - although godly grandparents were instructed to teach their grandchildren as well as their children (Deut 4:9). In part this is done by our example to obey their grandparents, so that they will lean to obey us. Individually, we are to honour and obey our parents as long as WE live. Notice I said WE. Not as long as they, our parents, live. We are to continue to be obedient to their wishes, after they are gone; therefore, as long as WE live!

Nowhere in Scripture does it say that once we are adults we no longer have to obey our parents. Many say, Yeah, but it is also not found anywhere in Scripture that we as adults specifically have to obey our parents. This is true, yet from the spirit of the Scriptures I have already presented, it seems to me honour and obedience are still required. You must remember that as long as they are our parents, we are their children, regardless of what age we are.

Whether our parents are 30 and we are ten, is no different in this regard than if our parents were 80 and we are 60. "Children obey your parents in the LORD." (Eph 6:1 and Col. 3:20). Set the example to your children, and to your extended family of nieces and nephews, and to others in the church, and obey their grandparents. As the speaker on this tape noted, this idea of no longer obeying parents is a relatively new idea historically. It was not until about 150 years ago that the ideas on this subject changed to the way they are held today. (is that about the time that schooling became universal? CIM).

By developing an attitude of honour and obedience in our own lives, our children will see us in how we treat our own parents, and thus learn from this example. we will be able to pass down generational blessings instead of generational curses that follow us today. This commandment to honour our parents, is the first commandment given with promise. We were promised a long life if we would obey the Word of the Lord! May the Lord bless you in your efforts to please Him in every area of your life. Let our example be a light that shines not only to our own children, but to all those around us as well as the generations to come! ("For to you is the promise, and to your children, and to all that are afar off - coming generations - even as many as the Lord our God shall call" [Acts 2:39]).

CAMPAIGN TO BRING BACK STONE OF DESTINY

A motion has been tabled in the Scottish Parliament asking for the Stone of Destiny to be moved from Edinburgh Castle to Scone Palace for celebrations marking the 700th anniversary of Robert the Bruce's coronation there.

Also known as the Stone of Scone, the rectangular rock was used for centuries at the crowning of Scottish kings at Moot Hill. It was used as part of the crowning ceremonies of the kings of Dalriada, in the west of Scotland (now Argyll). But when Kenneth I, the 36th King of Dalriada, moved his capital to Scone around 840 AD, the Stone of Destiny was moved there too. The Stone was taken from Scone by King Edward I of England in 1296 and remained under the Coronation Throne at Westminster Abbey in London for 700 years before being brought back to Scotland in 1996.

An earlier request was turned down by the First Minister with the excuse that the stone's age and condition means it cannot be moved from Edinburgh Castle, where it is kept in an armoured glass case under tight security. Of course, under the agreement which brought the historic stone back to Scotland, it will be moved to Westminster Abbey again for the next coronation of a British monarch - whenever that may be.

WHY DO THEY HATE US?

by Jacob G Hornberger

FOREIGN CONTRIBUTORS
Please note, that we prefer United States Federal Reserve Notes, and in the denominations of $10, $20 and $50. These are the most convenient denominations for us to use. If you could keep that in mind when sending donations it would be very helpful and very much appreciated! Thank you.

You'll recall that immediately after the 9/11 attacks, U.S. officials declared that the attacks had been motivated by the terrorists' hatred for America's "freedom and values." That refrain produced the "war on terrorism" and, more recently, the "war on radical Islamo-fascism."

Nonsense, said libertarians. The anger and hatred that Arabs and Muslims have for the United States is rooted in decades of U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East. Ending the U.S. government's decades-old policy of empire and intervention would bring an end to the threat of terrorism (and radical Islamo-fascism) against the United States.

The argument of the "freedom and values" crowd boils down to this: "The decades of U.S. supplying of advanced weaponry and foreign aid to the Israeli government, which is now being used to kill people in Lebanon, and the U.S. government's obeisance and submissiveness to the Israeli government, have had no adverse effect on how Arabs and Muslims feel about the United States. Their anger and hatred is caused by America's freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and rock and roll."

Therefore, the argument goes, the chants of "Death to Israel. Death to America" from hundreds of thousands of Shiites marching in Baghdad last week had nothing to do with U.S. foreign policy but were motivated instead by hatred for American principles and life-styles.

The same "freedom and values" argument was made with respect to more than a decade of brutal sanctions against Iraq, which contributed to the deaths of hundreds of thousands of Iraqi children - deaths that then -UN Ambassador Madeline Albright maintained were "worth it." People in the Middle East were indifferent to those deaths, the argument goes. Their anger and hatred were caused by the U.S. Bill of Rights and the gambling casinos in Las Vegas.

After 9/11, the greatest fear that U.S. officials had was that the American people would figure out that U.S. foreign policy was at the root of the terrorist attacks and thus demand a total reevaluation of U.S. foreign policy. That might well have meant an end to all foreign aid to the Middle East and a withdrawal of U.S. forces from the region. That could have obviously meant a significant diminution of the U.S. Government's overseas empire and the military-industrial complex, along with the enormously high taxes needed to pay for it all. Thus, it's not surprising that U.S. officials immediately went on the propaganda attack after 9/11 in order to divert people's attention from U.S. foreign policy and toward the "freedom-and-values" motivation for the 9/11 attacks.

If there is another major terrorist attack on American soil, you can rest assured that the immediate response of U.S. officials will be: It has nothing to do with the U.S. government's unconditional U.S. taxpayer-provided support of the Israeli government, or with the brutal sanctions that contributed to the deaths of hundreds of thousands of Iraqi children, or with the callous position that such deaths were worth it, or with the invasion and occupation of Iraq, which have killed and maimed tens of thousands of Iraqi people. They'll say instead that it's all about anger and hatred for America's "freedom and values." And the sad part is that there will still be people who fall for it.

What would be wrong with terminating foreign aid not only to Israel but also to every other country in the world and abolishing the taxes that support such aid, leaving the people free to keep their own money and decide what to do with it?

What would be wrong with ending the U.S. government's role with as world policeman, intervenor, meddler, and interloper, not only in the Middle East but also in the rest of the world?

With the situation in the Middle East degenerating into ever-increasing violence, conflict, death, suffering, and destruction after decades of U.S. intervention, what better time for the American people to reevaluate U.S. foreign policy, not only in the Middle east but also in the rest of the world?

THE TRAIN OF DESTINY by Bertrand L. Comparet

Recently I saw the wreckage of a truck which had been hit by a fast train, which had been running exactly on schedule. We can't expect the train to wait while we hold a picnic on the tracks with the enemies of the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. We persistently do wrong, for the sake of so-called expediency, until the judgment of destiny flings us in wreckage from the tracks.

When our God led His people out of Egypt and was organizing them into a nation, He had Moses up on Mount Sinai for instructions. The brother of Moses, whose name was Aaron, was left in charge of the people. Aaron was a man of peace, there was nothing controversial about him. Aaron wouldn't quarrel with anyone about anything so trifling as a vital principle of good or evil. He found it expedient to go along with the popular demand to return to idolatry, and he made the people a golden calf. Exodus ch. 32 records the inevitable penalty for this act, three thousand people died as the price of this expediency.

When God told His people to enter new homes in Palestine, they lacked the courage to obey Him. The leading liberal columnists and commentators of the day, called Him a warmonger. They said it was a reactionary policy and it would surely lead to war with Russ... pardon me, with the Canaanites. They believed they must do anything to avoid the danger of war. You know what the penalty was, 40 years of wandering in the wilderness, until all the cowards were dead. (as an aside, I recently heard Paul Johnson, on a video-CI-068, state that Caleb the son of Jephunneh was a Kenezite, and therefore an Edomite, as Kenaz was one of the grandsons of Esau. This is in error, as Num. 13:6, Josh. 14:6, and Josh. 15:13 show very clearly that Caleb was of the tribe of Judah! CIM).

Only those with the courage to follow the God of Abraham could enter the Promised Land. Today, it is even worse. Since the communist success in taking over Russia in 1917, we have spent many decades wandering in stupid circles. We have been led around by the nose by communist front politicians and minority group organizations, while the going got generally rougher. In addition, the worst swamps are just ahead.

After the 40 years of wandering were past, God again told His people to occupy the good land He had given them and He promised to drive out their enemies before them. He solemnly warned them not make any treaties with the treacherous, pagan Canaanite nations, for the Canaanites regarded treaties only as a way to deceive their enemies. Does this sound at all familiar?

In Exodus 34:12 God warned Israel, "Take heed to thyself, lest thou make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land wither thou goest, lest it be for a snare in the midst of thee." [Captain Cook and those who came after him should have heeded that warning!] The foolish people would not obey their God. Didn't their Secretary of State say, 'The way to get confidence is to give it and we must treat everybody alike, we must never discriminate, not even between good and evil.' So they defied their God for the sake of political expediency, and made a peace treaty with the Gibeonites. They had to learn the terrible lesson that, in the long run, expediency is never expedient.

The record of it in Judges 2:1-3 is brief and bitter. "And an angel of God came up from Gilgal to Bochim and said, I made you to go out of Egypt, and have brought you unto the land which I swore unto your fathers; and I said I will never break my covenant with you.

And ye shall make no league with the inhabitants of this land; ye shall throw down their altars: but ye have not obeyed My voice. Why have ye done this? Wherefore I also said, I will not drive them out before you; but they shall be as thorns in your sides, and their gods shall be a snare unto you." For centuries, in one dreadful war after another, Israel paid the bitter penalty for this disobedience with the lives of their sons. They fought wars which no enemy would have dared to start if Israel had obeyed their God as they would have still had His protection.

Down through the next 3,000 years, each generation has had to learn anew the awful lesson that the price of expediency is high. The only coin with which we can pay is the blood of our sons. Great Britain and ourselves are already seated in a classroom where we must learn that when we sell our brothers in Europe into slavery just to win an election, we shall redeem them on the battlefield. We will pay a frightful rate of interest for the delay.

Today, the situation is taking on a new character, it is our God's judgment upon the world order. The fruits of that order have ripened. We are suffering the consequences of living under the conditions which we have tolerated. Are you worried about the danger of an atomic attack by Russia? Then why didn't we pull the bear's fangs when only we had a stockpile of atom bombs. We had the air force big enough to deliver the bombs and Russia had neither the bombs nor the means for delivery, then we could have dictated the terms [he forgets that America also had the traitors who sold the atom technology to Russia, and Israeli who in turn also sold it to the China. CIM]. There would have been no war, no means of hitting back.

Was your voice heard in those days? Did you write to your senators and congressmen demanding that we save ourselves and the world while we could still do it? For those of you that were too young at that time, what are you doing now to help save our nation from destruction from within.

Today people deceive themselves about God's judgments. They think of them as only the anger of hurt pride and they say, "So what if we have defied God, as long as we thought it was all right! He is too kind to do anything about it." [hardly what I read in Jeremiah]. Judgment is the inevitable consequence of violating natural law. Moral laws are as much natural laws and as self enforcing, as the law of gravity. All history is the record of the consequences of national cowardice and dishonesty. Galatians 6:7 warns us, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Hosea 8:7 continues, "For they have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind." [whirlwind - is that like a hurricane or cyclone?] God's train of destiny is thundering down the tracks, right on schedule, we must either get out of the way or get hit. Noah had to build the ark in time, or he would have drowned with the others. Lot had to get out of Sodom, or he would have perished in its destruction. We also have much to change, and very soon.

Our educational system has turned its back on God. We thought it smart and intellectual to doubt and sneer at everything good, now communism is taught in many schools under the guise of social adjustment. They are teaching Christianity is ridiculous and denouncing it as bigotry. Juvenile delinquency is the natural result of our lack of standards and the mixing together of all kinds and classes of youth in the sacred name of democracy. The tolerated presence of evil always corrupts and one rotten apple spoils the barrel. Now we have even found instances of teachers teaching our children the worst kind of promiscuous immorality. Then these teachers brazenly defend their teaching as part of their academic freedom, what have you done about your schools?

Is the government of your city corrupt? Don't complain to me. How much campaigning for better candidates did you do during the last elections. Are your taxes ruinously high? When did you ever notify any politicians that your vote would go to the man who would reduce taxes by one third?

You have been betrayed many times by politicians who have brazenly and openly sold you out. You, the great majority, have been sold out in the corrupt play for the support of some minority group. Did you vote for those same politicians in the last election?

All the conditions you find so appalling, are the result of your own toleration of evil. We get a million words a year of propaganda for tolerance, haven't you ever wondered why they always ask you to tolerate something bad? Why is it that they never ask anyone to tolerate the good things which are controversial, when the evil groups are always attacking them. When will we learn that we cannot tolerate a cancer? Today we face the beginning of the last great conflict, from which either good or evil will survive, but not both, there can be no coexistence. We must pay for our cowardice, hypocrisy and expediency, in blood. As always, we could have saved this blood if we had stamped out the organized, international evil of communism. We should have put out the fire when it was small.

Even now, we can still avoid much of it, if we will clean up our national house and get back to the Laws of God, while there is still time.

Critical Note by Clifton A. Emahiser: Comparet is correct when he quoted Exodus 34:12, "Take heed to thyself, lest thou make a covenant [treaty, agreement] with the inhabitants of the land whither thou goest, lest it be for a snare in the midst of thee." Comparet then went on to quote Judges 2:1-3 to reinforce his argument. All we need do today is look around us, and we are still doing what we were commanded not to do. What we don't seem to understand is that politics, religion and monetary are all interwoven together, and once we enter into agreement with one phase, the other two automatically gain a foothold. For instance, if someone needs the services of a beautician or a barber, they will usually prefer to go to someone who belongs to their own church or lodge. When this happens, religion/politics become interwoven with the monetary. Many times, when people vote, they will choose someone of their own religious denomination; catholic, protestant, muslim, or other. You can see from this, it is impossible to separate church and state. It is perfectly clear that we Israelites haven't as yet learned our lesson of non-alliance with peoples of other genetic origins, and as a result we must pay the price for so doing. Because we have violated this commandment, that is why so many of our young men and women today are intermixing with the unclean races. Once our offspring become mixed with the heathen, any descendants of such a union is effectively destroyed down-line forever!

WHO GOD USES

God, grant me the Serenity to accept the people I cannot change, the Courage to change the one I can, and the Wisdom to know it's me.

The next time you feel like GOD can't use you, just remember:.....

Noah was a drunk

Abraham was too old

Isaac was a daydreamer

Jacob was a liar

Leah was ugly

Joseph was abused

Moses had a stuttering problem

Gideon was afraid

Samson had long hair and was a womaniser

Rahab was a prostitute[or Innkeeper]

Jeremiah and Timothy were too young

David had an affair and was a murderer

Elijah was suicidal

Isaiah preached naked

Jonah ran from God

Naomi was a widow

Job went bankrupt

John the Baptist ate locusts (carob, from the tree)

Peter denied Jesus

The Disciples fell asleep while praying (that's common)

Martha worried about everything
The Samaritan woman was divorced more than once
Zaccheus was too small
Paul was too religious Timothy had an ulcer ... AND
Lazarus was dead!

No more excuses now. God can use YOU to your full potential. Besides, you aren't the message - just the messenger!

STILL WRONG AFTER ALL THIS TIME by John Martin

It's been quite amusing listening to the critics dump on the government's criminal justice reforms. The proposed legislation would do little more than impose mandatory incarceration for specified gun and drug related crimes, and eliminate house arrest as a sentencing option for violent and sexual offenders.

But that hasn't stopped a parade of academics, activists, lawyers and journalists from acting as though Stephen Harper was bringing back the noose. Apparently a populace that is grateful for overdue action in this area is misinformed and not capable of understanding the complexities of what's really going on. Of all the naysayers, no constituency has been more vocal in their opposition to the conservative proposals than have academics; especially criminologists. It's worth noting that of the dozen or so criminology professors which the media routinely turns to for supposed expert and informed commentary, only a couple are trained crime analysts. The rest are mostly non-practicing lawyers and an assortment of tired Marxists, unaware they were summoned to the tar pits of irrelevancy some time ago.

This hardly comes as a surprise though. As discussed in an earlier column, criminologists were united in their condemnation of Rudy Giuliani's crime reduction strategy and transformation of New York. The crime rate plummeted nonetheless. They were again outraged when California introduced a host of mandatory sentencing measures. Thousands of repeat offenders were locked up and crime went into free-fall. The 'experts' covered their eyes and ears, insisting that tough measures still don't work in theory.

Now they're determined to discredit the Harper plan and assuming the bill becomes law, they will surely soon have egg on their face once more. The most common whine from the "it'll never work" club, is that mandatory prison time won't deter. So what? It cracks down on the repeat offender who has not responded to leniency, periodic custody, or treatment. It removes the worst of the worst from society and takes the incorrigible out of circulation for a significant time period. As the saying goes, when they're doing time—they're not doing crime.

While police were cracking down on low-lives in Times Square, academics were arguing for the legalization of all drugs. When judges in California were compelled by law to start sending chronic offenders to prison, criminologists were belly-aching that the justice system was racist. While coordinated law enforcement units were busting drug houses and taking down gang-bangers in Toronto, the experts were adamant that more late-night basketball courts was the answer.

So, apparently the research says mandatory sentencing doesn't work. Therefore it's a bad idea and we should have nothing to do with such sentencing measures. Meanwhile, every evaluation of the gun registry concludes it's a flop and gun crime has actually increased since its inception. But the usual suspects continue to kick and scream that dumping the registry would be a terrible loss and endanger the public. Have your cake and eat it too? No rules against that in the Ivory Tower.

It would appear tenure means never having to acknowledge you're silly.

THE HIDDEN HAZARDS OF MICRO-WAVE COOKING

Recent research shows that microwave oven-cooked food suffers severe molecular damage. When eaten, it causes abnormal changes in human blood and immune systems. Not surprisingly, the public has been denied details on these significant health dangers.

(excerpted from article originally printed in April 1994 edition of Acres, USA-Box 8800, Metairie LA 70011) back in May of 1989, after Tom Valentine [The Spotlight, Radio Free America] first moved to St Paul, Minnesota, he heard on the car radio a short announcement that bolted him upright in the driver's seat. The announcement was sponsored by Young Families, the Minnesota Extension Service of the University of Minnesota:

"Although microwaves heat food quickly, they are not recommended for heating a baby's bottle," the announcement said. The bottle may seem cool to the touch, but the liquid inside may become extremely hot and could burn the baby's mouth and throat. Also, the build-up of steam in a closed container such as a baby's bottle could cause it to explode. "Heating the bottle in a microwave can cause slight changes in the milk. In infant formulas, there may be a loss of some vitamins. In expressed breast milk, some protective properties may be destroyed." The report went on, "Warming a bottle by holding it under tap water or by setting it in a bowl of warm water, then testing it on your wrist before feeding, many take a few minutes longer, but it is much safer."

Valentine asked himself: If an established institution like the University of Minnesota can warn about the loss of particular nutrient qualities in microwaved baby formula or mother's milk, then somebody must know something about microwaving they are not telling everybody.

A Lawsuit:

In early 1991, word leaked out about a lawsuit in Oklahoma. A woman named Norma Levin had hip surgery, only to be killed by a simple blood transfusion when a nurse "warmed the blood for transfusion in a microwave oven"!

Logic suggests that if heating or cooking is all there is to it, then it doesn't matter what mode of heating technology one uses. However, it is quite apparent that there is more to 'heating' with microwaves than we've been led to believe. Blood for transfusions is routinely warmed—but

NOT in microwave ovens! In the case of Mrs Levitt, the microwaving altered the blood and it killed her.

Does it not therefore follow that this form of heating does, indeed, so 'something different' to the substances being heated? Is it not prudent to determine what that 'something different' might do? A funny thing happened on the way to the bank with all that microwave oven revenue: nobody thought about the obvious. Only "health nuts" who are constantly aware of the value of quality nutrition discerned a problem with the widespread 'denaturing' of our food. Enter Hans Hertel.

Hans Hertel

In the tiny town of Wattenwil, near Basel in Switzerland, there lives a scientist who is alarmed at the lack of purity and naturalness in the many pursuits of modern mankind. He worked as a food scientist for several years with one of the many major Swiss food companies that do business on a global scale. A few years ago, he was fired from his job for questioning procedures in processing food because they denatured it.

"The world needs our help," Hans Hertel told Tom Valentine as they shared a fine meal at a resort hotel in Todt-mass, Germany. "We, the scientists, carry the main responsibility for the present unacceptable conditions. It is therefore our job to correct the situation and bring the remedy to the world. I am striving to bring man and techniques back into harmony with nature. We can have wonderful technologies without violating nature."

Hans is an intense man, driven by personal knowledge of violations of nature by corporate man and his state-supported monopolies in science, technology and education. At the same time, as the two talked, his intensity shattered into a warm smile and he spoke of the way things could be if mankind's immense talent were to work with nature and not against her.

Hans Hertel is the first scientist to conceive of and carry out a quality study on the effects of microwaved nutrients on the blood and physiology of human beings. This small but well-controlled study pointed the firm finger at a degenerative force of microwave ovens and the food produced in them. The conclusion was clear: microwave cooking changed the nutrients so that changes took place in the participants' blood; these were not healthy changes but were changes that could cause deterioration in the human systems. (there is more, but this will suffice to get the message across.) You can check out the following:

PERSECUTION OF CHRISTIANS

Christians around the world are being persecuted for their faith, often because of Islam. Pray for Christians to stand firm.

Christians are often persecuted if they criticise Islam: On 9 October, an Assyrian priest, Fr. Paulos Iskander, was kidnapped by an Islamic group in Iraq. The group asked for a ransom of more than $300,000 and demanded that signs be posted once again on his church apologizing for the Pope's remarks on Islam as a condition for negotiations to begin. Father Alexander was beheaded two days later [AINA, 12/10/2006]

Sometimes persecution comes when people convert from Islam. Even in Australia! Kaihana Hussain decided to convert from Islam and become a Christian. When she told her father, he allegedly attacked and killed her mother on 10 October. Kaihana was also attacked but escaped from the home. The father was hospitalized with stab wounds. The family, who are Sunni Muslims, had lived in Adelaide where the father, a Bangladesh-trained doctor, was a GP. The family had recently moved to the Gold Coast for employment. [GCB, 11/10/2006]

Sometimes Christians are persecuted and forced to convert to Islam: In Egypt, Lorans Wageah Emeel, a 15-year-old Christian girl, was kidnapped by Muslims on 2 October. Abducted from a public bus, her captors drugged and threatened to rape her if she refused to deny Christ and accept Islam. She escaped from her Muslim captors the next morning. State Security Investigation officials told her to deny the kidnapping or she would not see her family again. She refused but was returned to her family after they appealed to police.

Voice of the Martyrs reports that thousands of teenage girls have been forced to convert to Islam, by physical violence or promises of material wealth. VOM has safe houses in Islamic countries to protect girls who have been threatened. [VOM, 2/10/2006]

In December 2005, the South African Constitutional Court ordered the SA parliament to legalise same-sex 'marriage' within twelve months. The Court interpreted the 'equality' clause in the Constitution to include 'sexual orientation' and same-sex 'marriage' although the original intention of the clause was to remove racial intolerance. If the parliament fails to do so by December, the Court will legalise same-sex 'marriage' by default.

Faced with the possibility of same-sex 'marriage,' sadly, the church in South Africa came out with three different responses:

1. Full acceptance
2. Opposing same-sex 'marriage' but proposing a separate law for 'civil and same-sex partnerships and unions'
3. Oppose marriage and recognition of homosexual relationships.

A third position was proposed by another coalition, called Defend Marriage who also proposed an amendment to the Marriage Act to make marriage only between a man and a woman. They argued this amendment would override the Court decision and protect marriage. They stood firm and rightly said that the government should not give any legal recognition to same-sex couples.

Our Heavenly Father has seen us come safely through another year. My how time flies. We have had word from Arnold, that he has come home after 40 days in hospital. He is feeling much better and the pain has left him miraculously after the operation, he said. We pray that he will continue to strengthen and improve.

We apologise for the delay in supplying some material, but we have experienced some unprecedented delays in delivery - not sure whether on the Australian or overseas side. They say it is not for nothing that Australia Post's symbol is a snail crawling up a wall. We have heard of parcels taking up to 6 weeks to go from here to WA. They must go by camel? So, if you are still waiting - please bear with us in the meantime. While we are not into the celebration of Bacchanalia at this time of year, nor the sending of cards, we do hope and pray that you will have a blessed and restful holiday period.

We thank you for your letters, clippings and orders, and your on-going support. Please continue to influence friends and relatives, and especially your children, in the need to live according to and obey God's Laws. May He bless your perseverance; and may He bless you and keep you, make His face shine on you and give you His peace and protection, now and in the new year!
