"Blessed be the LORD God of Israel; For He hath visited and redeemed His people, And hath raised up an horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David; as he spake by the mouth of his holy prophets, which have been since the world began; That we should be saved from our enemies and from the hand of all that hate us; to perform the mercy promised to our fathers and to remember his holy covenant; The oath which he sware to our father Abraham, That he would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies might serve him without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our lives." "ANSWERS TO OBJECTIONS ABOUT ISRAEL BEING EXCLUSIVE"

by late Arnold Kennedy

Continued.....

24. JESUS IS NOW KING OVER EVERYONE

Remember how God said that David would never want for a descendant upon his throne until Jesus came to take His throne?

"For thus saith the Lord; David shall never want for a man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel." Jeremiah 33:17.

At the time of Jesus, the throne of the kingdom of Judah and Solomon's line had long gone from Judea. The throne must therefore be manifest somewhere else and within the ten tribes headed by Ephraim. The Epistles are in full accord with the Law, the Psalms and the Prophets. But they are not in accord with tradition!

The people to whom Peter was writing had a King [1 Peter 2:13 and 1 Peter 2:17]. This again confirms that these people were not the Judeans, although they were Israelites. The people addressed had a king they were to honour. Peter tells us who they were racially. The indicators given in the expressions an Holy [that is, set-apart] nation and a peculiar people as pointed out earlier.

25. "In THEE SHALL ALL NATIONS BE BLESSED" -[And all the "families of the Earth" being blessed in Abraham].

The major source of error in these blessing passages is what we mean by certain words. we have different words translated as earth and the ground, countries and the land, and also this occurs with the words translated as nations, families and kindreds. Although an extensive technical Hebrew language exposition is beyond the scope of this paper, there are things that need to be pointed out.

Originally Abraham was told to go from his father's house unto an eretz that God would show him. If eretz here is the whole Earth, then Abraham must have gone to another planet! Abraham was told all The 'Earth' which thou seest, I will give thee. He was told to arise and walk through the earth. Did he walk across the whole globe? So we have to ask if this 'earth' is the whole earth or the Promised Land. It is not all the 'eretz's of all the races on earth. Abraham was told to get himself out of his present earth and go to THE earth. There are many references that give confirmation of the meaning. THE earth does not mean the whole globe, but rather that portion belonging to the particular area or person under consideration.

Contrary to popular presentation, we must note that in Genesis 12:3, the 'them' in I will bless them is plural, whereas the 'him' in I will curse him is singular. The Hebrew allows for two possible translations of be blessed, namely:

1. may be blessed in, or by, association with thee, and
2. may bless themselves [as the RV footnote says].

Some awkward questions could be posed here if it was to be taken that all nations had the meaning of 'every race on earth.'

1. If those who curse Abraham are cursed, how could those so cursed be part of all nations that were to be blessed?

2. Were the Egyptians blessed or cursed through Israel's presence during their captivity, and also in the Exodus?

3. When the Children of Israel went into the Promised Land, they were told to exterminate all the Canaanite nations. Was not that an unusual way of blessing the Canaanites? After all, they were supposed to be part of all nations. Likewise Amalek was to be exterminated.

4. In Deuteronomy 23:6, God commanded Israel that they should not seek the peace or the prosperity of the Ammonites and the Moabites right up to the end of the age.

Ezra 9:12 indicates similar treatment of the non-Israelite in the land. This is hardly a blessing on those nations, is it? How does that fit with “foreign aid” and “foreign investment” in heathen nations?

5. When The House of Judah was in captivity in Babylon, is there any evidence of Israel being a blessing to Babylon? Or ‘preaching the Gospel’ to them?

6. When the House of Israel was in captivity in Assyria, did this make the Assyrians blossom?

7. In prophecy why are all the forecasts concerning non-Israel nations always detailing them as being servants to Israel and for them to perish if they refuse this destiny? This is so right up to the end of the age.

8. The promise to Abraham was to “ALL” nations without any exception. “All” cannot include those who are cursed and those God says that He hates. Hence “all” means all the nations of Israel.

Throughout Scripture, Israel was to dwell alone and shall not be reckoned among the nations [Numbers 23:9]. Prophecy sustains this to the end.

“And the kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve him.” Daniel 7:27.

“For the nation and kingdom that will not serve thee shall perish; yea, those nations shall be utterly wasted.” Isaiah 60:12.

“And it shall come to pass, that every one that is left of all the nations which came up against Jerusalem shall even go up from year to year to worship the King, the Lord of hosts, and to keep the feast of tabernacles. And it shall be that whoso will not come up of all the families of the earth unto Jerusalem to worship the King, the Lord of hosts, even upon them shall be no rain.” Zechariah 14:16-17.

Israel and Judah were scattered among all nations, but are these other nations to be blessed? Jeremiah does not agree.

“... though I make a full end of all nations whither I have scattered thee, yet I will not make a full end of thee.” Jeremiah 30:11. Jeremiah repeats this in 46:28, addressing this to Jacob. In all these Scriptures we can see the unique place of Israel among the other nations. This continues after Jesus returns to reign.

26. THE PROMISE AND “THY SEED” IN THE NEW TESTAMENT

“Ye are the children of the prophets, and of the covenant which God made with our fathers, saying unto Abraham, And in thy seed shall the kindreds of the earth be blessed.” Acts 3:25.

Only Israelites are being addressed here! We can find references in Scripture to the families [plural] of Israel. “Kindreds” is patrai which all lexicons give as kindred from one ancestor. The Hebrew mishpachah supports ‘family’ 288 times and it is used of the subdivisions of Israel. The Tribes became national identities but were of one racial group from one ancestor. Israel is still an exclusive race existing as families or nations. It is unto these Jesus was sent.

“Unto you first God, having raised up his Son Jesus, sent him to bless you, in turning every one of you from his iniquities.” Acts 3:26. In context, “you” is still the Israelites being addressed.

Without continual recourse to the Old Testament origins, it is impossible to rightly interpret passages in the New Testament. Only by going back can we know what all nations means and only then find a doctrine that is 100% consistent. Galatians can no longer be allowed as an “out” for those preaching universal racial salvation. When we take Scripture as originally written in the Hebrew and Greek, we find that conflicts disappear.

We can understand that an exclusive Israel in the Old Testament remains an exclusive Israel in the New Testament. The promises are ever fulfilled in us their children and never in others. They are fulfilled in brethren of the same kin. The blessings of the Patriarchs [as given by Jacob in Genesis 48 and by Moses in Deuteronomy 33] for the last days still apply separately to each of that same group of peoples, who are being specified. These include the sons of Joseph, Ephraim and Manasseh. In Genesis 49 Jacob gives his prophecy about what will befall each individual Tribe of Israel, in the last days. These are limited, specific and definite. We cannot find prophecy for the application of the blessings given by the patriarchs as being applicable to all other races. This is why all nations is commonly taken wrongly today as meaning every race on earth. The statement of Romans 4:11, a father of all-them that believe is only in the context of Israel.

For the last days, Jacob gave his blessings to his children one by one [Genesis 49]. The blessings were to his seed only. They were not to other seeds. The New Testament (Covenant) is still made only with the House of Israel and the House of Judah [Hebrews 8:8]. The word children in Galatians 3:7 [the children of Abraham] is huios which denotes kinship or physical offspring. [note: This word is also used of animals, so it cannot refer to spiritual offspring in the way commonly taken!]

How can the Patriarchal blessings apply to all races if they were all the same. what would be the point of separation? And if they are for the “last days,” why not accept this as a reality, rather than saying that some singular multi-racial church that has nothing to do with these Twelve Tribes is the recipient of these blessings?

As it has been pointed out, translators as well as Reformers, show what they believe in their translations. For instance, in Galatians 3:8 the words translated heathen and nations are identical. The translation as heathen gives an entirely different connotation to the verse. The nations whom God would justify by belief were not heathen, but were of Israel. The proof of this is, that this is the fulfilment of the prophecy made by the Patriarchs. This is confirmed - by him are ye justified from all things from which ye could not be justified by the Law of Moses..... These justified people must have first been under the Law of Moses, so they could only be Israelites. Most of this book of Galatians is written relating Law and Grace to the one people. The whole argument might be summed up by questioning whether or not they were going to remain under the schoolmaster or whether they were going to believe God as Abraham did. What they were to believe was that Jesus had redeemed Israel and that Jesus was the Son of God.

Ultimately, that which is reserved for Israel, namely redemption, salvation, resurrection to eternal life, belongs only to Israel. It is their inheritance from Abraham, according to the promise made by God to the fathers of Israel.

CONCLUSION

We can see that the churches today have a major problem in doctrine. This is simply through wrong teaching that has arisen through failure to base doctrine upon the same basis used by Jesus and the Apostles. The basis must ever be the Law, the Psalms and the Prophets.

The Law and the Word of God were given only to Israel among the nations. Because of the misuse of the word all, particularly within the New Testament, the presumption is made that the Law of Moses, together with the associated covenant with Israel, was given to every person of every race. In this way, all have sinned is taught forgetting the context statement whatsoever the Law saith, it said to them who are under the Law (Romans 3:19). Look at this quotation that is one of many that shows “all” in the reverse situation.

“And all the people of the earth shall see that thou art called by the name of the Lord, and they shall be afraid of thee.” Deuteronomy 28:10.

Here all the people of the earth does not include Israel! This same situation exists more often the other way around with all being Israelites. There is yet one more important impediment preventing people accepting an exclusive Israel.

It is addressed in the writer’s booklet, That Unfortunate Word “Gentile.” (“Gentiles” #624 @ $4.15) The unity of the Scriptures is made or broken upon this untranslated-Latin-originated word Gentile and what that word actually means.

If we look at the words translated as Gentile in the KJV translation of the Bible, immediately something strange will be seen. From Hebrew, it is translated 374 times as nations, 143 times as heathen, 30 times as Gentile(s) and 11 times as people. From the Greek it is translated 64 times as nations, 5 times as heathen, 93 times as Gentiles and twice as people.

The word “Greeks” in the Greek is the word Hellen and is used thirty five times. But our translators have chosen to translate the word (wrongly) as “gentile,” particularly in the Book of Romans. Ethnos and Hellen are quite different words! Sometimes the justification is to say that the Greeks were not Jews and therefore they must be Gentiles. This is not translating; rather it is interpreting Scripture. There is neither rhyme nor reason for all these various translations and mis-translations, other than to perpetuate a belief! The commonly accepted meaning of the word “gentile” immediately falls flat from the translation point of view alone. When we add the fact that the word in Hebrew is used of all Israel it falls even flatter! When we show the real meaning from the New Testament, it becomes so flat that it cannot be seen! The Hebrew and Greek words mean “nations” as races and peoples. They mean any group of a common origin, including Israel. Let us look at some Old Testament Scriptures where the word Gow, Goi or Goyim are used. If we apply the logic concerning Gentiles for these verses, we can see the ridiculous conclusions that could be reached. Remember that Goi and Ethnos are used of Israel as well as of other races.

“Now the Lord said unto Abram ... and I will make of thee a great nation.” Genesis 12:1, 2.

“... a father of many nations have I made thee.” Genesis 17:5.

Did God make a great non-Israel “gentile” nation out of Abraham and did Abraham father many Gentiles? Was the great nation other than Israel?

“And the Lord said unto her (Rebekah), Two nations are in thy womb..” Genesis 25:23.

Could Rebekah have what would become two non-Israel “gentiles” in her womb?

“...and his seed shall become a multitude of nations.” Genesis 48:19.

There is no evidence in Scripture that Ephraim would produce a lot of non-Israelites.

“And he said, I am God, the God of thy father (Isaac) fear not to go down into Egypt, for I will there make of thee a great nation.” Genesis 46:3.

Could the sons of Jacob be non-Israel “Gentiles”?

“If those ordinances [the sun and the moon] depart from before me, saith the Lord, then the seed of Israel shall also cease from being a nation before me for ever.” Jeremiah 31:36. As the word for “nation” is the same as that translated “Gentile,” we could read the seed of Israel shall not cease from being Gentiles before me. We could even say Israel would not cease from being heathen! This is absurd! When we consider the word ethnos, which is sometimes translated “gentiles” in the New Testament, we have another block of translations among which we could make transpositions. The consequences are equally absurd!

“For he loved our nations, and has built for us a synagogue [meeting place]” Luke 7:5.

Would that section of Jewry be pleased if the Centurion had built a synagogue for the so-called gentiles or the heathen? “Nation” is the word ethnos.

“We found this fellow perverting the nation,” Luke 23:2.

Would “the Jews” care so much if Jesus were perverting the “Gentiles”?

“the Romans shall come and take away both our place and nation.” John 11:48

For the Romans to come to Judea and take away “our” gentiles gets a little silly.

“Ye know nothing at all, nor consider that it is expedient for us, that one man should die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.” John 11:49,50.

So we can see how transliterating one word is a major cause of objections to the Exclusiveness of Israel as consistently presented through Scripture.

An example: Genesis 19:5 in KJV says gentiles; Luther’s German says heiden = heathen; the Dutch bible says volken = nations.

THE STRANGENESS OF MORMONISM

by Pastor Don Elmore

The British General, Lord Cornwallis, following his surrender to Washington in the Revolutionary War, made a last-ditch effort to salvage his ego; he divulged the hidden agenda of the Edomite bloodlines by declaring to Washington:

“A holy war will now begin on America, and when it is ended America will be supposedly the citadel of freedom, but her millions will unknowingly be loyal subjects to the Crown.

Your churches will be used to teach the Jews’ religion and in less than two hundred years the whole nation will be working for divine world government. That government that they believe to be divine will be permeated with Judairm without even being noticed by the masses, and they will all be under the invisible all-seeing eye of the Grand Architect of Freemasonry.” Legions of Satan, Jonathan Williams.

How did this happen? It all started in a very dramatic way. In the 1800s restoration religions sprang up. There were also major changes in the doctrines and practices of the mainstream churches. [All King James bibles published before 1666 included the Apocrypha. In 1826, the British and Foreign Bible Society decided that no BFBS funds were to pay for printing any Apocryphal books anywhere. Since then most modern editions of the Bible and reprintings of the KJV omit the Apocrypha section. Brenton's edition of the Septuagint includes all of the Apocrypha found in the KJV with the exception of 2 Esdras which was not in the Septuagint and is no longer extant in Greek-Wikipedia]. It began with the Second Great Awakening which coincided with the restoration movement. The spigot was turned on and the number of new churches kept pouring out; in fact they still are. It began with the first four restoration churches"

1. Church of Christ;
2. Christian Church;
3. Disciples of Christ which are considered Christian by most other Christians and,
4. Church of Latter-Day Saints which is considered to be non-Christian.

The first three were the result of the Second Great Awakening that occurred in mainly the states of Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio. One of the preachers actually lived for a short time in the town in which our church is located: Burlington, Kentucky. Briefly, if you remember, the Second Great Awakening, were large group meetings in which former Baptist and Methodist preachers held meetings with a diverse large group of people for several days.

Mainstream Christianity rejected many things about the Awakening's practices. It considered heresy some of the doctrines that were preached and many of their practices that they did. But to put it bluntly, shortly after the ratification of the Constitution of the United States of America, from the depths of the netherworld came a mighty force of unclean, evil entities to seduce the covenant people of God. So powerful has been this onslaught, that in just two hundred years, Christianity has been reduced to a powerless, feminized state religion. Not only have Christianity's doctrines been altered, but the entire Western Christian culture has been turned upside down. Like numerous giant tidal waves, movement after movement has assailed itself against the Laws of America's God.

In 1800, there were nowhere near the present 30,000 denominations and various cults that masquerade as Christian Churches in America. The major mainline non-Catholic churches (Protestant) included:

1. The Episcopal Church (Anglican)
2. The Lutheran Church (Calvinistic)
3. The Presbyterian Church (Calvinistic)
5. The Baptist Church (some Calvinistic and some Arminian)
6. The Methodist Church (Arminian)

The Major mainline non-Protestant, non-Christian churches included:

1. The Quaker Church (Arminian)
2. The Shakers (Arminian)
3. The Unitarian Church (Arminian)
4. Masonic Temples (Arminian)

The Roman Catholic Church's influence was limited to the two states of Maryland and Louisiana. The Eastern Catholic Church's influence was basically nil.

There was some remnant covenant churches (neither Protestant nor Catholic) in America; but very few.

THE FIRST AREA

The first area of change was centered in the area from Maysville, Kentucky to Knoxville, Tennessee. parts of North Carolina and Ohio also participated in the first major movement of the nineteenth century—The RESTORATION MOVEMENT.

Kentucky became a commonwealth in 1792; Tennessee became a state in 1796; and Ohio in 1803. The city of Lexington, Kentucky had a population of fewer than 1,800 people. The land of Daniel Boone and Thomas Walker was filled with individualistic, rugged, isolated pioneers who lived a dangerous, difficult life. With the constant threat of attack from savage Indians to the rigors of daily living, the backwoodsmen were basically uneducated and separated from any churches.

And the churches that were on the eastern side of the Appalachian Mountains had no longer any appeal to this new breed of American who had migrated to the western side. Formal, intellectual sermons with strict, ritualistic services were the last thing thy whisky drinking farmers wanted to sit through.

Thus, the time was right for a new brand of Christianity to make its appearance. And what an appearance it made—sudden and dramatic. While widespread revivals were absent between 1745 and 1795, local awakenings kept the revival flame from completely dying out.

But in 1796, the embers were once again ignited in the hills of North Carolina. The open communal service—a tradition that was brought from Scotland by the Presbyterians—began to be practiced in America. Pastor James McGready organised some of the first. It soon spread to Logan County, Kentucky and several other locations near the border of Kentucky and Tennessee when Pastor McGready moved to Logan County, Kentucky in 1798.

Logan County was one of the roughest counties, if not the roughest, in all of the state. "The trouble was that no one on the frontier was designated to enforce the law, with the result that Congress would state, 'the immunity which offenders experience attracts as to an asylum, the most vile and abandoned criminals, and at the same time deters useful and virtuous persons from making settlements in such society'." Great Revivals and the Great Republic, Warren A. Chandler, pp. 1720173.

"Logan County attracted so many murderers, horse thieves, highway robbers, and counterfeiters that it was nicknamed, 'Rogues' Harbor' by those outlaws who fled there to escape justice back east But within a year, revival began to break out" From Sea to Shining Sea, Peter Marshall and David Manuel, pp.60,61.

First it happened at the quarterly command service at the Red River congregation. Then the following month they celebrated the Lord's Supper at the Gasper River Church. A year later at Red River, then Muddy River Church, then Gasper River Church again—similar results.

What happened to these profane swearers, murderers, robbers, drunks at these communal services defied logic. As recorded by Warren Chandler in his above quoted book, pp. 178-179, Pastor Baron W. Stone, A Presbyterian Pastor from Bourbon County, Kentucky expressed what he saw at one of these meetings:

"There, on the edge of a prairie in Logan County, Kentucky, the multitudes came together and continued a number of days and nights encamped on the ground, during which time the worship was carried on in some part of the encampment. The scene was new to me and passing strange. It baffled description.

Many, very many, fell down as men slain in battle, and continued for hours together in an apparently breathless and motionless state, sometimes for a few minutes' reviving and exhibiting symptoms of life by a deep groan or a piercing shriek, or by a prayer for mercy fervently uttered.

After lying there for hours, they obtained deliverance. The gloomy cloud that had covered their faces seemed gradually and visibly to disappear, and hope in smile brightened into joy. They would rise, shouting deliverance, and then would address the surrounding multitude in language truly eloquent and impressive. With astonishment did I hear men, women and children declaring the wonderful works of God, and the glorious mysteries of the gospel?"

Things were happening at McGready's meetings that had not happened anywhere in America at any church meeting, since the end of the First Great Awakening. Word of mouth spread as to what was happening throughout Kentucky and the adjacent states.

Since there were so few churches, and fewer pastors, Presbyterians, Baptists and Methodists continued to combine their churches in these special outdoor meetings. Besides their church members, the settlers, including both BLACK FREEMEN AND SLAVES, also attended.

The attendees arrived in wagons, by horses, by donkeys and by foot. Thousands came from over a hundred miles away and stayed—for several days at a time. Music, preaching, praying with extraordinary enthusiasm and excitement ... soon gave way to something very strange ... It came to a climax at Cane Ridge, Kentucky—"ARGUABLY THE MOST IMPORTANT RELIGIOUS GATHERING IN ALL OF AMERICAN HISTORY," according to Vanderbilt University historian Paul Conkin.

Pastor Barton W. Stone of the Cane Ridge Presbyterian Church, after attending several of James McGready's revivals, decided to host one himself at his church.

Approximately 30,000 people travelling hundreds of miles came to the campground meeting. From Friday to the next Thursday, continuous preaching, prayers, shouting and singing took place with "godly hysteria."

Bodily exercises, such as dropping, jerking, barking, falling to the ground motionless for hours, uncontrollable weeping, uncontrollable laughing, hugging, kissing, clapping of hands, seeing visions, talking to the distressed, talking to one another, even talking to opposers of the meeting, singing, shouting, rolling on the ground, falling into trances, groans, babble of speech, and singing of hymns that had the music with the beat of voodoo drums.

Needless to say, the mainline denominations were shocked and angered at what was happening at these services, but even more so at the decadence that was occurring at many locations in the campground. Drunkenness and disorderly conduct, including sexual intimacies degenerated to that of a mini-Mardi-Gras. It was a common saying that at Cane Ridge, "More souls were begotten than saved."

This week-long ecumenical, multicultural, interracial festive campground meeting cracked the foundation of Christian theology and Christian culture in America. Esteem for Jesus, expositional preaching, essential Christian doctrine and the practice of church discipline and sanctification of Holy Communion were quickly thrown away in the land west of the Appalachina Mountains.

Some believe that what happened at Pastor McGready's meetings and at similar ones like at Cane Ridge had not happened since the Book of Acts. But was that really true? Did those in the Temple Courtyard on the Day of Pentecost and those at Cornelius' house when Peter visited, bark like a dog after they were converted? Were they "slain in the spirit"? Were they laughing uncontrollably? Did drunkards replace the apostles and do some preaching? Was there immoral sexual behavior going on nearby? Maybe what happened during the Second Great Awakening was a counterfeit revival!

The leadership in the mainstream Presbyterian Church thought that the meetings were unscriptural and as a result that denomination soon thereafter split in two. Calvinism gave way to Arminianism in the frontier states. Church structure, order and sacraments became a thing of the past. But the Methodist and Baptist churches adapted to the "new gospel" and grew exponentially for several decades as they installed "circuit rider preachers" and continued campground meetings.

While the effects of the Second Great Awakening were spreading through the frontier from Ohio to Tennessee, another outbreak of demonic activity occurred in the frontier area of upper New York. Along the newly built Erie Canal, settlers had flocked from their coastal homes. This set the state of America's turning from its roots of essential Christian doctrine.

Again, it was from the ranks of the Presbyterian Church that apostasy sprang. After a visit from an evil spirit, the life of Charles Gradison Finney was dramatically and suddenly changed in 1821. Within a decade he became a leader of the Arminian Presbyterians and the Arminian Congregational Church—which taught against the Westminster Confession of Faith of the Presbyterians that had ordained him. In fact, Finney became the leader in the movement that promoted abolition and inter-racial and inter-gender higher education.

From the students at both Lane Seminary in Cincinnati and Oberlin College, outside of Cleveland, Ohio, they led the way to agitate the nation to its most disastrous war of history. The trend to a socialised gospel and mesmerizing techniques had taken root in a new kind of Christianity—a false Christianity—but an increasingly popular one.

With Finney and Joseph Smith and their disciples in the North; with Barton Stone, Alexander and Thomas Campbell, Walter Scott, Sidney Rigdon, James McGready in the Ohio--Kentucky--Tennessee areas; the face of Christianity was being quickly distorted; and with it, the direction of America.

SOUTH AFRICA

While Evangelist Finney was being supported by the Tappan brothers for the promotion of their abolition agenda, the Anglican Church of England promoted a similar agenda in the Cape Colony of South Africa. The British government instituted in 1835 radical legislation known as Ordinance 50. It was directed against the immigrants who had come to Cape Colony from France, Germany and the Netherlands (Afrikaners) many years earlier.

These former Europeans and slaves had cultivated and farmed the land inland from the Cape. But these new laws were directed against the laws of the Afrikaner's God. The new civil rights legislation from England demanded that:

1. All policies of racial segregation were to be banned.
2. All Negroes were given full citizenship to vote.
3. Severe taxes were imposed.
4. Prohibition of the Afrikaner's native language.
5. Insane stipulation that any repeal or amendment could only be done in England.
6. No retaliation was permitted to be taken against any Negro who raped, looted or murdered whites.
7. With the support of Anglican missionaries, interracial marriages and interracial schools were advocated.

To prove their "godliness," many Anglican missionaries married Negro women and paraded children of both races under the banner of "we are of one blood." Exactly the same as Answers in Genesis, Mennonite Churches and the majority of so-called Christian groups advocate today.

As a result, with a population less than half of the attendees at the Cane Ridge Revival, the Afrikaners abandoned their homes and businesses to make a dangerous Trek many miles by wagons to an uninhabited wilderness far to the Northeast—away from the jurisdiction of the British. Their faithfulness to the Laws of God was vindicated with the astonishing intervention of God at the Battle of Blood River that preserved the 468 Afrikaners from total annihilation from 30,000 Zulu warriors. This ensured that there would be a Christian nation in Southern Africa for the next century and a half.

On December 16, 1838 the Afrikaners defeated the Zulus; one of the few bright spots in a time of great darkness in Christianity. As the Afrikaners began to keep the vow that they had made with their God, we will look at another strange development that happened across the world in the deteriorating Christianity in America.

Orson Hyde was born in Connecticut in January 1805. He was raised by neighbours, who took him to Ohio where he came under the influence, at the age of 26 years old, of former Baptist preacher—turned Campbellite preacher—turned Mormon preacher - - Sidney Rigdon. After filling several Mormon missions and participating in Zion's Camp, in 1835 he was ordained an apostle.

He crossed the Atlantic in 1837 with Heber C. Kimball to start the Latter-day Saints British Mission, which later produced many Utah immigrants. One of significance now, was the family of Presidential Candidate Mitt Romney.

Miles Romney and Elizabeth Gaskell were married in England in 1830.

In 1837, Miles and Elizabeth were on their way to the market when they saw a group of people assembled on a street corner. They were curious as to what attracted the crowd. They discovered that it was American preacher Orson Hyde, a Mormon Apostle (the church was only 7 years old), to whom they listened and were converted. In September 1839, they were baptized and left England in 1841 and gathered with the Saints in Nauvoo, Illinois.

But in the year of the miraculous Afrikaner victory over the Zulus that set the Afrikaners on the right track in South Africa, Orson Hyde in 1838 was excommunicated from the Mormon Church.

Orson's boldness and energy frequently made him the subject of criticism from his superiors. In 1839, after making sincere reconciliation he was re-instated.

Orson served forty-three years as a Mormon apostle; twenty-eight years of which were as president of the Quorum of the Twelve. In addition to his literary contributions, he was a farmer, supervisor of Utah immigration, wagon train master, irrigation specialist, founder of new Utah settlements, railroad planner, sawmill operator, participant in the Utah War councils, regent of the University of Deseret, legislator, newspaper editor, Indian fighter, peacemaker, lawyer, judge and statesman. Few Mormons can exceed his list of accomplishments.

While the Afrikaners were establishing their new freedom, Orson Hyde, a descendant of Esau, carried out the longest and perhaps the most dangerous mission performed by an early Mormon elder. Just eleven years since the beginning of the Mormon Church, Orson Hyde made a solo mission to Jerusalem in 1841. Why did he go there? Remember, it was just eleven years since the Mormon Church began.

HE DEDICATED THE LAND OF PALESTINE FOR THE RETURN OF THE JEWS AND THE REBUILDING OF SOLOMON'S TEMPLE!

Orson Hyde held his mission to Palestine from April 1841 to December 1842. He recorded that before dawn on October 24, 1841 he climbed up the Mount of Olives overlooking the city, then both wrote and recited a prayer, which he had received in a vision in America; part of which reads:

"Now O Lord! Thy servant has been obedient to the heavenly vision which Thou gavest him in his native land; and under the shadow of Thine outstretched arm, he has safely arrived in this place to dedicate and consecrate this land unto Thee, for the gathering together of Judah's [not any of the other tribes of Israel] scattered remnants, according to the predictions of the Holy Prophets—for the building up of Jerusalem again after it has been trodden down by the Gentiles so long, and for rearing a Temple in honor of thy name. Everlasting thanks be ascribed unto Thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that Thou hast preserved Thy servant from the dangers of the seas, and from the plague and pestilence which have ceased the land to mourn ... Thy providential care by night and day has been exercised over Thine unworthy servant. Accept, therefore, O Lord, the tribute of a grateful heart for all past favors, and be pleased to continue Thy kindness and mercy towards a needy worm of the dust"

Having dedicated Jerusalem and Palestine for the ingathering of the Jews and their rebuilding of the Temple, Hyde departed the mountain after building a small altar with stones. In 1972, the Mormon Church explored the possibility of erecting a memorial to Orson Hyde on the Mount of Olives. After several years of extensive negotiations, the Jews offered a parcel of land on the Mount of Olives for the development of a park.

Funds were raised, and on October 24, 1979 the park was dedicated in the presence of Latter-Day Saint leaders, Israeli dignitaries, and Arab notables. The park with its panoramic view, amphitheater, winding walks and gardens, is a fitting tribute to Elder Hyde and an appropriate gift to the City of Jerusalem; it is a place of quiet meditation for apostate Christian, Moslem and Jew to enjoy alike.

It is no coincidence that historical annals point to the 1840s as a period of awakening among Jews dispersed throughout the world. Out of this new dawn arose men of influence like Moses Kess, Joseph Salvador, Moses Montefiore, Leo Pinsker, and Theodor Herzl. Having been touched by the spirit of gathering, they began to instill in Jews everywhere the desire to return to their ancient homeland. It has grown now into a movement that in 1948 stole the land of Palestine and made it a Zionist State.

Mormon "apostle" Orson Hyde established "Zionism" by means of a highly occultic "dedicatory prayer circle" conducted at the very Mount of Olives where Jesus walked - dedicating all evil "holy Melchizedek Priesthood" power and authority to have the Babylonian seed of Esau and Canaan control the entire Middle East by means of their evil conjuring.

The Mormons' look forward to the day when Moslem, Christian and Jew will resolve their differences and be united; that is an impossible situation. Christianity is a unique religion; based on the covenant that God made with a certain family. The descendants of Esau and Canaan have tried to destroy Israel; and the descendants of Ishmael have been at war with Israel for centuries. God has told His people that they will never be destroyed because He has made an unconditional covenant with them.

CONCLUSION

What a time in history! The Mormon Church had grown at a fast rate; from New York to Ohio to Missouri to Illinois to the territory of Utah. They had been run out of New York for the sin of fortune-telling and other con related activities of the family of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young; Ohio for a failed bankrupt fraudulent bank; Missouri for armed battles between militia of the State of Missouri against the Mormons over slavery and plural marriages; and Illinois over corruption of the leadership of the Mormon Church and its Masonic doctrines and plural marriages.

In spite of all of this unchristian activity; the Mormon Church insisted that the Kingdom of God was the Mormon Church. They experienced rapid growth from all over the world. In just fourteen years from the Mormon Church's beginning, Joseph Smith and Sidney Rigdon were running for the President of the United States with a great opportunity to win!

Many were being influenced for evil who were striking Christianity down to a meaningless power in the world. Jews, descendants of Esau, were from the beginning taking a major role in the Mormon Church. Early Mormonism was based on magic and witchcraft.

While the Afrikaners won their amazing victory, the Mormon apostle was in a few years in Palestine proclaiming what he had seen in a vision.

Did you notice what Orson Hyde said, "For the gathering together of JUDAH'S scattered remnants;" it was just the remnant of the tribe of Judah. This is common in the Zionist Movement. Judah was just one of the thirteen tribes of Israel. Orson Hyde incorrectly called the descendants of Judah, "Jews;" but what did he call the other tribes?

He didn't call them "Jews." He called them "Gentiles." The covenant that God made and swore to Israel was to all the tribes, not one. They are called "Hebrews;" NOT Jews. They are called "Shemites;" not Jews. They are called "Israelites;" not Jews.

"If there is one primary reason for the failure of America, it is the failure of the ministers of God to hold forth the truth in their words and their lives. America's pulpits are dominated by men who know not the God of the Bible, the God of Israel and they preach a god and a Jesus that is tepid, helpless and dependent on the will of the people for the accomplishment of His great redemptive goals.

Many of the pulpits are filled with men whose lives are riddled with the sins of adultery, fornication, drunkenness, lasciviousness and ungodliness. Many pulpits are filled with women who cannot be called nor qualified by Bible standards to lead the church of Jesus Christ.

Many churches sin against God because they allow Deacons and uncalled and unordained Elders to lead the church instead of God-called and God-ordained and God-

by late Pastor Pete Peters

Today, the Israel peoples are suffering the calamities of Deuteronomy 28. We have not followed God's Law and the consequences engulf us. Many have turned to their shamans, their priests, their insurance, their attorneys, their doctors, their crystals, their elected officials. Man has always desired to become a god himself. In an effort to accomplish this is setting up his own gods who are known in Scripture as Baalim. We need to know how we have created these gods, who they are and by what means they remain in power.

anointed pastors to lead the church. Some have sodomites in the pulpits. Most of America's pulpits do not teach the people the difference between the profane and the holy.

Churches have become cathedrals filled with entertainment and preaching of psychologically uplifting messages without a confrontation of sin, a call to repentance or a warning of judgment.

Baptisms and membership are increased with no impact on society, no change in life-style and a worsening degradation of America's Christian culture, increased violence and greed and an open sex society that would make Sodom and Gomorrah blush.

When judgment comes, the people who have been preached love by their pastors will curse their pastors, cast them out and seek someone who knows God, but it may be too late to stop the judgment.

God has a remnant, but most of them are not in the (regular) churches of today. Among them, He will find a man and will raise him up as a prophet and God will find a man among them whom He can raise up to lead His people. But before that time comes, God will have to chasten, and pass His people under the rod, separating them from the love of the world, the love of Babylon.

I believe the time is soon and my prayer is, "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done." Why Believers Are Failing to Save America, Dr. Everett Ramsey; pp.28-29.

"... And now, Israel, what doth the LORD thy God require of thee, but to fear the LORD thy God, to walk in all His ways, and to love Him, and to serve the LORD thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul; To keep the commandments of the LORD, and His statutes, which I command thee this day for thy good? Behold, the heaven and the heaven of heavens is the LORD'S thy God, the earth also, with all that therein is. Only the LORD had a delight in thy fathers to love them, and He chose their seed after them even you above all people, as it is this day." Deuteronomy 10:12-15.

That, folks, is EXCLUSIVENESS.

STAND BACK!

by Skeet Savage

Have you ever been walking along enjoying a leisurely stroll through God's glorious creation high up on some lofty mountain offering a scenic view when, suddenly, one of your companions along the way shouts a warning, "Watch out! Stand back!" On looking down, you discover that the ground directly in front of you had precariously eroded away leaving only a hairsbreadth of solid ground between you and imminent danger.

Or, have you ever been stopped right in your tracks by a fellow traveller who spotted a poisonous snake poised and ready to strike situated just ahead on the path?

What would be your reaction to such a moment? Would you be angry? Offended? Hurt? Would you be inclined to tell the person to mind their own business—and then glibly proceed with your previous course of direction?

MONOLOGUE vs. DIALOGUE

Once when the girls were little, we were all huddled together with everyone talking at once. Bethany, the youngest, became disoriented and distraught in the resulting confusion. Wanting to meaningfully participate in the discussion, yet not interject inappropriately, she reached up and took my face in both of her little hands and, turning my focus firmly in her direction she cried, "Are you talking to ME? Are you talking to YOU?"

If a baby were to be born with a mouth but no ears we would quickly recognize that condition as a deformity. Yet, in a spiritual context, in this day when everyone has an opinion about almost everything (and virtually unlimited context for voicing those opinions!), it seems that the spiritual condition of far too many is that they are all mouth and no ears! Everyone is talking, but very few are really listening!

However, when GOD speaks, everyone ought to be listening! Interestingly, the Bible also speaks of the opposite condition in referring to those who are "ever learning [hearing message after message, being instructed over and over again] but never coming to a knowledge of the truth (2 Timothy 3:7) [and doesn't that fit some of our Judeo-Christian brethren, who are still stuck in the regular churches? CIM]

In either case, our goal as homeschooling parents is to instill in our children a love for the truth and to fill their hearts and minds with the knowledge of God and an understanding of this world in which we live, so that they will be equipped to walk through this life in a way that brings glory to Him and produces good fruit for His Kingdom.

For example, our God has left clear instructions that we are to keep ourselves separate from the world. This is not a new concept...

WHAT IT MEANS TO "BE SEPARATE"

Every housewife knows how to separate laundry so that denim blues or cranberry reds do not bleed out and negatively affect white shirts and linens. There is no way you can throw those two colours together and not have the purity of the whites be forever altered.

The same applies to us.

"Do not be deceived; 'Evil companions corrupt good morals.' Awake to righteousness, and do not sin; for some do not have the knowledge of God. I speak this to your shame." (1 Corinthians 15:33-34). [or as my late father used to say - "Waar je mee omgaat word je mee besmet" - 'You become contaminated by those you associate with.' CIM]

To give us an example of the importance of keeping certain things separate and distinct, God instructed the Nazarites to abstain (keep away from) specific things. Numbers 6 explains that "When either a man or woman consecrates an offering to take the vow of a Nazarite, to separate himself to the Lord, he shall separate himself from...." certain things.

"All the days of his separation he shall be holy to the Lord" (Numbers 6:8).

According to Ezekiel, when the temple of the Lord was being laid out, extra care was taken in the planning and design to include a wall that would provide an effective barrier "... to separate the holy areas from the common" (Ezekiel 42:20).

In the New Testament, Jesus also taught the principle of separating the good from the bad.

"Again, the Kingdom of Heaven is like a dragnet that was cast into the sea and gathered some of every kind which when it was full, they drew to shore; and they sat down and gathered the good into vessels and threw the bad away. So it will be at the end of the age. The angels [messengers] will come forth and separate the wicked from amongst the just, and cast them into the furnace of fire. There will be wailing and gnashing of teeth” (Matthew 13:47-50).

The Biblical command to “come out from among her and be separate” is not merely a suggestion—it is a requirement for every believer. This is because, in our day, God is raising up a holy nation, a spotless bride, a set-apart generation who can lead the lost and wayward to the truth that will set them free.

“For how then will it be known that Your people and I have found grace in Your sight, except You go with us? So we shall be separate, Your people and I, from all the people who are upon the face of the earth” (Exodus 33:16).

Yet, in our contemporary society, it has somehow become commonplace to think it is okay to mingle—and even mimic—the world around us. We think it more appropriate to “blend in” rather than “stand out.” From fashion to entertainment to morality, we take our cues from gender-confused clothing designers, movie stars, and the more vociferous talking heads of our day.

In doing so, we lose our spiritual edge as well as the clearly-defined standards which outline who we are as a people of God. Rather than following mindlessly along like sheep in wolves clothing, we should RUN in the exact opposite direction!

“Is not the whole land before you? Please separate from me. If you take the left, then I will go to the right; or if you go to the right, then I will go to the left” (Genesis 13:9).

Homeschooling can be a very effective means of separating our children from that which is harmful and profane.

“Do not be equally yoked together with unbelievers. For what fellowship has righteousness with lawlessness? And what communion has light with darkness? And what accord has Christ with Belial? Or what part has a believer with an unbeliever? And what agreement has the temple of God with idols? For you are the temple of the living God As God has said: ‘I will dwell in them and walk among them. I will be their God, and they shall be My people. Come out from among them and be separate,’ says the Lord. ‘Do not touch that which is unclean, and I will receive you. I will be a Father to you, and you shall be My sons and daughters,’ says the Lord Almighty” (2 Corinthians 6:14-18).

That seems to be a fair and clearly defined covenant to me. However . . .

Believing cultural influences to be basically benign, most parents today think nothing of bringing the world into their home through internet, television, movies and other forms of entertainment which have not been developed and applied with Biblical principles in mind.

When it comes to education, some homeschoolers have a mindset of wanting to “get their money’s worth” out of the government schools figuring “they’ve paid for it” with their “hard-earned tax monies” little realizing that they may pay an even greater price when their children are negatively influenced and corrupted by that setting and utterly lost to the world.

Professing to believe God, they walk as closely as possible to the world’s standards. For all practical purposes, these live no differently than their pagan counterparts without a practical working knowledge of the basic principles of truth and how they should be applied in the context of everyday life. They worry and fret, plot and scheme, wear themselves out in selfish pursuits, and can be found at any given time doing that which seems right in their own eyes (for the moment), rather than following purposefully the leading of the Lord along the path to which He has called them

It is not enough to simply and physically bring our children out of the government schools—we must bring them out of the atmosphere and influence of this world and into the holiness of God.

“For the grace of God that brings salvation has appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and Godly in the present age, looking for the blessed hope and glorious appearing of our great God and Savior Jesus Christ, who gave Himself for us, that He might redeem us from every lawless deed and purify for Himself His own special people, zealous for good works. Speak these things, exhort and rebuke with all authority. Let no one despise you” (Titus 2:11-15).

This is the way it must be—whether your children, or your in-laws, or any so-called expert likes it or not.

YOU’VE BEEN WARNED!

Our God has given clear, direct warnings regarding many issues that affect our lives here on this earth—and in the next. While the majority prefer a “take it or leave it” approach regarding obedience to the commands of God, treating them as optional at best, very few enjoy the unpleasant and bitter consequences of their willful disobedience.

In my heart I know, and my experience also bears witness to the fact, that His ways are always best.

Why risk dangling our toes off the edge of a cliff just so we can see more of the world? Or worse yet, why allow our children to find themselves in such a precarious position? Wouldn’t it be better to heed God’s warnings and STAND BACK?

FULL-TIME PARENTING

by Israel Wayne

We are facing an epidemic in the church today. Church youth are leaving the faith at a rate of anywhere from 60-88% (depending on your particular denomination) and according to George Barna, only about 4% of young adults born between 1980 and 2000 (known by sociologists as “Millenials”) have a Biblical world-view.

The church has simply not known how to respond to this spiritual hemorrhage. On the whole their approach has been to keep doing all the same things they have been doing. However one popular definition of insanity is to keep doing what has been proven to fail, and yet expect different results. The Church has put all of its weight behind Sunday School, Junior Church and Youth Group. Children’s ministry is seen as the great remedy to the hole in the bottom of the church’s boat.

On average, children spend 7.5 hours per day in electronic media, and if you factor in multi-tasking it is 10.5. They also spend 6-7 hours a day in school, not to mention interaction with their friends, playing sports or involvement in other social or extra-curricular activities. The average working parent spends 19 minutes per day interacting with his or her child. It is clear that the average parent (and Christian parents are virtually no different from the world in this) are not raising their children, they are merely part-time babysitters to their own children.

It seems that everything in society is designed to destroy your child's relationship with Jesus the Christ. Hollywood, K-12 government education, the news media, TV, fashion magazines, secular music, youth fiction, many video games, the universities and much more are warring against your child's soul. Most Christian parents have decided that two hours of puppets, animated moral films and flannel-graphs on Sunday morning are enough to stop the endless tidal waves of worldliness that sweep over their children day after day. These parents are living under the most destructive illusion.

A REVOLUTION UNDER WAY

The good news is, many parents aren't taking this lying down. They aren't going to sit by idly and watch their children go to hell in a hand-basket! Hundreds of thousands of parents have decided to make the necessary changes to their lifestyle, which includes many many personal sacrifices, to become (or move towards becoming) full-time parents to their own children.

They have seen the Scriptural mandates of Deuteronomy 6, Ephesians 6:4, Psalm 78, Proverbs 22:6, Psalm 127 and many other passages as being clearly directed to them as parents. They aren't waiting for someone else to raise their children, they are doing it themselves. They know that if they don't do it, it won't get done. They don't want the government to feed, nurse, diaper or educate their children. They are the parents, and they take their responsibility seriously.

THE GREAT HARVEST FIELD

While a movement back towards Malachi 4:6 and Luke 1:17 parenting is underway, Full-time Parents are still in the minority in the church. Eighty to ninety percent of all Evangelical parents are still pursuing the dream and making the discipleship of their children take a back-seat to career, hobbies and other priorities.

Here's the deal. I expect heathen parents to raise their children to be heathens. That makes sense. What I don't get is why Christian parents are raising their children to be heathens! I know that parents don't have unconditional guarantees about the decisions their children will make as they reach adulthood. I get that. But the vast majority of Christian parents today act as though there is simply no correlation between how a child is raised and how he turns out later. That is just untrue. While parenting is not an exact science with fool-proof results, there is a general cause and effect relationship between the culture in which a child is raised and the worldview and lifestyle they embrace. Parenting is not a roulette table in which no parent has any greater chance of having their children walk with God than any other parent. That is simply not true! If parenting made no difference in a child's life, then God wouldn't have created the family and He wouldn't have given us hundreds of verses in the Bible that relate to parental obligations and responsibilities.

It is our duty, as Christian parents, to seek out God's promises and principles and apply them to our family life. Once our family is on the right track towards knowing, loving and serving God (I'm not talking about perfection, but trajectory), then we need to seek to encourage the 80-90% of parents who are heading in the wrong direction to join with us in being Full-Time Parents. This is the new frontier. We need the Church to live and act like the Church!

THE CHALLENGE

Of those Christian parents who aren't successfully discipling their children, I think there are two camps. There are those who don't know they are supposed to disciple their own children and those who don't care. It is sometimes hard to distinguish between the two.

Here at Wisdom's Gate Ministries, we have been conducting "Revival in the Home" seminars in various places. These are not home-schooling events, and we don't talk about homesechooling, but rather about family-discipleship (with a strong emphasis on fathers leading their families spiritually). We have been promoting these events to Christian churches and trying to get the 80-90% to show up to learn a Biblical theology of the family, and practical strategies for discipling their families. What has been happening, much to our dismay, is that the audience ends up being comprised of homeschooling families, most of whom drive long distances of an hour or more, to attend these seminars. While we're glad to have them, they aren't our intended audience.. Most of them are already discipling their children.

Most of these families have invited families to come who really needed to hear the message, but they usually don't come (when they do it is almost always a life-changing event for them!). We also have had little help from the Senior Pastors. They don't usually show up personally, and they rarely encourage the families in their church to attend.

Let me be so bold as to say that unless this kind of apathy about family-based discipleship changes in the church, we will continue to see the vast majority of our children following the ways of the world, and the church's influence in the culture decline. It's not just our ministry promoting this message. There are dozens of Biblically-based voices who are teaching this message in various formats across the nation and world. We are thankful for all of these allies.

I am going to ask you, as a faithful reader of our magazine to do two things to help us impact the Church on this issue:

1. I want you to order copies of my new book, Full-Time Parenting: A Guide to Family-Based Discipleship, to give to families in your church or family who are professing Christians but are not effectively discipling their families. This book is not a homeschooling book, but it is a Biblically-informed apologetic for why and how parents can and should be training their own children in the fear of the Lord. Every Christian parent will benefit from this book. [CIM does not have this book available at this time, but if there is sufficient interest we will see about obtaining copies - thanks!]

2. Please consider helping us to bring a "Revival in the Home" to your area. We need contacts who will help us to find a facility where we can meet, provide homes where we can stay while we are in town, and promote this event to area churches. As I said, the effects of these events have been life-changing for many parents who have attended.

False Doctrine Eliminator SATAN DISPELLED by Kalamos

This booklet is by no means exhaustive on the subject. However, it is greatly enlightening and should serve as a stimulant for further study. May God use this booklet to the destruction, not of Satan, but of our own self-centeredness and of our own selfish and sordid desires and quicken us by His Holy Spirit to rise to the goals our Father in Heaven has set for us!

The difficult part is getting the word out and convincing people to skip a night of television and learn how to be a Godly parent.

These are two strategies that our ministry has created to help equip YOU, as a parent who is discipling your children to reach out to your many friends who are not. We know it would be hard for you to write a book, or to teach a seminar, so we have tried to make your job easier. We have prepared the content, we just need to get it in the hands of those who need it.

Pray specifically for families you know who just aren't where they need to be (or even perhaps where they themselves want to be). Endeavour to fulfill the Hebrews 3:13 mandate to "exhort one another daily, while it is called today; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin."

Remember also that other families are watching your example. Your family can have a positive impact on many other Christian families to help them to see a better way than the futile way of living they inherited from their forefathers (1 Peter 1:18). We want to see many hearts turned toward home, by God's grace and power.

BIBLICAL PRINCIPLES FOR TRUE FREEDOM

by Dr. Peter Hammond

"If you hold to My teaching, you are really My disciples. Then you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free." John 8:31-32.

1. In the Bible freedom always means the liberty to obey God. It is the freedom to know God's will and to do it. Biblical freedom is therefore within the safe boundaries of the Law of God.

"Not everyone who says to Me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the Kingdom of Heaven, but only he who does the will of My Father who is in Heaven." Matthew 7:21. (John 8:32; Romans 8:2; Genesis 1:28)

2. To the Christian, freedom is more of a responsibility than a right. This would involve doing unto others what we would want done to us.

"You, my brothers, were called to be free. But do not use your freedom to indulge the sinful nature; rather, serve one another in love. The entire Law is summed up in a single command, 'Love your neighbour as yourself.'" Galatians 5:13-14. (1 Corinthians 8:9)

3. We are warned to beware of those who promise freedom but are themselves slaves of depravity. In the Bible God forbids state interference outside of the realms of national defence, law and order and justice. For example: The Word of God forbids any taxation over 10% and excludes the taxation of property and inheritance.

"They promise them freedom, while they themselves are slaves of depravity for a man is a slave to whatever has mastered him." 2 Peter 2:19. (John 8:34; Acts 8:23; Romans 6:16; 1 Samuel 8:15-18; 1 Kings 21:3).

4. True freedom can only come where Jesus Christ is obeyed as Lord.

"Now the Lord is Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom." 2 Corinthians 3:17.

5. Freedom has to be based upon and in accordance with the Ten Commandments. Adherence to God's perfect

Law of Liberty, the Ten Commandments would ensure true religious freedom - freedom to worship and serve the only true God, the Creator and sovereign Lord of the universe - the only source of freedom. And it would protect worship, speech, time, families, life, love, morality, property, truth, reputation and conscience. "The Law of the Lord is perfect, reviving the soul. The statutes of the Lord are trustworthy, making wise the simple." Psalm 19:7. (Exodus 20:3-17)

6. It is not acceptable to justify evil in the name of freedom. There can be no freedom for blasphemy, perversion, sodomy, cruelty to animals, rape and child abuse (such as occurs in Satanism) in any civilized country. Nor can the murder of human life in the womb (abortion) or the exploitation of women's bodies for profit (pornography and/or prostitution) be tolerated. We affirm the sanctity of human life from conception to natural death,

"It is for freedom that Christ has set us free. Stand firm, then, and do not let yourselves be burdened again by a yoke of slavery." Galatians 5:1. (Proverbs 6:16-19)

7. Religious freedom must include freedom for parents to educate their children according to the Bible - whether through state schools, independent Christian schools or home schooling.

"Fathers, do not exasperate your children, instead, bring them up in the training and instruction of the Lord." Ephesians 6:4. (Deuteronomy 6:1-7; Matthew 28:19-20; 2 Timothy 3:16; Colossians 2:8).

8. Religious freedom must include the freedom to proclaim the God of the Bible to be the only true and living God, and to objectively point out the errors in other religions.

"Jesus answered, 'I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through Me.'" John 14:6. (Acts 4:12; 1 Timothy 2:4-5; Deuteronomy 30:1; 1 Kings 18:21).

9. Any attempt by the state to register or regulate churches, missions or Christian organisations such as radio ministries would be an intolerable breach of religious freedom. Any proposals to establish a department of religious affairs or the taxation of Christian ministries must therefore be rejected as unacceptable interference by the state in religious matters as a step towards state control of the Church.

"Peter and the other apostles replied: 'We must obey God rather than men!'" Acts 5:29. (1 Peter 2:13-16; Ezra 7:23-24).

10. True freedom comes from within. The foundation for a truly free nation can only be laid in characters, hearts, minds, lives and families changed by the Grace of God.

"Do not conform any longer to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind. Then you will be able to test and approve what God's will is, His good, pleasing and perfect will." Romans 12:2. (Proverbs 16:32; Matthew 15:19; Psalm 1; Ezekiel 36:26; John 3:3).

PASTORS TAKEN TO TASK FOR POLITICAL APATHY

"What we have is a preacher problem"

by Robert McCurry

MIAMI- America has gone from “one nation under God to a nation at war with God,” said Rick Scarborough, president of Vision America, at WND’s “Taking America Back Conference.” And who’s to blame? According to a pair of speakers at the Miami confab, one of the most significant answers is also the one most uncomfortable for Christians.

“As the church goes, so goes the nation; as the pastor goes, so goes the church.” Scarborough said, “What we have in America is a preacher problem.” Scarborough, himself a former Southern Baptist minister, told the audience his story of recognizing the need for pastors to snap out of political complacency and get involved in the cultural war for the soul of the nation. He had attended a sexual education presentation at his daughter’s high school in the 1990s, only to discover a message of sexual license and perversity that shocked him. When he brought a transcript of the presentation to his church, the building was filled with people equally stunned.

Shortly thereafter, Scarborough explained at “Taking America Back,” he began to free his congregation from excessive church responsibilities to take up civic duties. Members of his church were elected to the school board and city council and began to reassert Christian values in the public arena. “We just got the people in the churches to stand up and do what they ought to be doing,” Scarborough said.

The story is at the heart of his founding of Vision America, but he warns that the people will not rise up and get involved unless the pastors lose their fear and apathy toward political involvement.

Doug Giles, radio host and father of the undercover video journalist Hannah Giles, brought the same challenge, but with a much sharper tone. “Somebody who waffles, quiet as a church mouse,” Giles said, “that cat is about as useless as a pitch pipe to Yoko Ono.”

Giles further charged, referring to the heated politics surrounding the tea party movement and the 2010 election, “If a pastor is not part of this crucial societal throwdown ... this pastor is Dr. Evil and part of the problem.” Giles listed 10 reasons pastors don’t get involved in politics and refuted every one. He warned pastors against thinking of their duties as primarily pious and spiritual: “Your religious liberties are disappearing like a pack of smokes at an AA clinic.”

He warned pastors not to fear losing their 501(c)3 tax-exempt status: “You’re going to compromise the gospel because you don’t want to pay taxes on hot dogs? Wow.” Pulling no punches, Giles also slammed big-church pastors who are afraid of speaking out on issues of liberty and morality for fear of losing their lucrative positions: “Christendom has its shares of money-loving hookers ... bowing to cash instead of convictions.”

“Saul Alinsky loves those pastors who don’t get involved politically,” Giles concluded, “and so does the guy written about in the dedication to his book [“Rules for Radicals”]. Who was that again? Oh yeah, Lucifer.” Scarborough argues that the culture wars won’t be won unless both pastors and pew sitters are willing to roll up their sleeves and get their hands dirty in the fight: “The problem with Christians today is that we’re so afraid of offending our little ears that we’ve dug holes and buried our heads in them,” he said. “The holes that the ‘gays’ came out of, the church went in, and it’s not going to change until the church comes out.”

He wrapped up his speech with a challenge: “If the church doesn’t awaken now, if the tea part and everybody involved doesn’t understand that God is at the heart of it all, then we lose,” he said.

The crowd then erupted in standing ovation with his final words, “It’s now or never. It’s time for the church to stand.”

RMcC comment: Since I have been crying out as a pastor for more than forty years, “Wake-up, Pastors! Wake-up, Christians!” I am encouraged by this article. I make no claim to the status of ‘prophet,’ but the Lord has enabled me from the beginning of my ministry to discern pending dangers and be a ‘watchman on the wall’ to warn pastors and Christian in particular and the nation at large of the developing and soon-to-come government designed attacks on Biblical Christianity, marriage, family, morality, and the economy. These warnings are now reality. The enemy is not coming. The enemy is here.

I have repeatedly said and it’s worth repeating now: As goes the pukpit, so goes the church, as goes the church, so goes the nation. America’s current catastrophic moral, political, and economic crisis can be traced back to passive, silent, inert pastors and ‘Christians.’ The Lord’s Church holds the answer to the nation’s moral morass and the out-of-control government corruption and despotism; an abyss of cataclysmic moral and political chaos.

The greatest need of this cataclysmic hour is for every pastor, church, individual, and family, to acknowledge, confess, and obey the true sovereign, holy God of Israel. Jesus Christ is Lord; He is the Living Word and makes Himself and His will known in His written Word - the Bible. He alone can deliver from the present and pending destructions.

“For the LORD is our judge, the LORD is our law-giver; the LORD is our King; He will save us” (Isaiah 33:22).

GLOBAL WARMING OR GLOBAL WARNING

by Bob Vermaat

“It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.” (Hebrews 10:31).

Global warming or climate change is an expression that is bandied around a lot now-a-days. Every time we get some inclement or unusual weather that is the first thing one hears, and then they go on to say that we have to reduce our carbon footprint and lower the greenhouse gasses lest we destroy the environment and the Earth. Now I am not saying that we could not do a better job of husbandry on this planet, according to God’s command to take dominion, but none of the so-called experts have ever taken God, the Creator of this Earth, into consideration, for He claims the world as His own. “For the world is mine, and the fullness thereof.” (Psalm 50:12). “Behold, the heaven and the heaven of heavens belong to the LORD’S thy God, the earth also, with all that therein is.” (Deuteronomy 10:14). So, if God owns both Heaven and Earth, don’t you think that He is going to make sure that they will continue to function according to His plan? There is nothing that man can do to change God’s design.

Some thirty-five hundred years ago God made a Covenant, a contract if you will, with a people that He selected to be a servant nation unto Himself. The reason being that those Israelites, would not only be richly blessed, but would also become a blessing to all the people of the earth. God told them that if they would diligently walk in His ways they would be blessed beyond imagination, but if they would not walk according to His will and commandments they would heap all sorts of curses and misfortunes upon themselves. Well, we all know what happened; they promised to do all that the Lord required, but they soon started to serve false gods and idols and became decadent beyond imagination, to the point where God finally ran out of patience with them, He divorced them and banished them from off their land whereupon they soon became lost even unto themselves.

But that was then, what about now? Some fifteen hundred years after the first contract something wonderful happened that showed that the Almighty God still loved His people that He had chosen for Himself. He, God, caused His Son to be born in Palestine, the original land promised to the Fathers, to be a Saviour and Redeemer to His people, who were by this time scattered from Palestine over Asia Minor, Greece, the Roman Empire all the way to the far reaches of faraway North Western Europe.

Jesus Christ came preaching with His main message the Gospel of God's Kingdom on Earth and He brought with Him the New Covenant, that was ratified by the blood that He, Jesus the Christ, shed on the Cross of Calvary (Matthew 26:28; Mark 14:24; Luke 22:20). The first Covenant was based on adherence to laws, ordinances and animal sacrifices for remission of sin, whereas the New Covenant was and is based on the principles of love, love of God, the Father, love of Jesus Christ, and of our neighbour. These in turn will generate a love and desire to do the will of God and keep His commandments.

According to Jesus' teachings these are the two great commandments on which all the law and the prophets hang. (Matthew 22:37-40; Mark 23:30-31). After Jesus' death, resurrection and ascension, through the evangelizing work of the Apostles, this message of Salvation spread like a wildfire in all of the then known world, from Palestine all the way to the British Isles and North-west Europe. The message flourished until it became stagnated with the false teachings of the Romish Church, under which conditions it languished for about a thousand years, the Dark Ages, until it was revived by some devout men, who instigated the Great Reformation, after which this message of Salvation through the blood of Jesus the Christ, again caught fire and became the driving force and desire in the lives and hearts of men. It was this desire that drove Western man to establish God-fearing countries all over the globe during the great time of colonization. These new countries and settlements were blessed beyond imagination so long as their people walked hand in hand with their God and Saviour, but alas, it was not to last.

Man has again become complacent in his walk and attitude toward God. Affluence and so-called enlightenment has mankind thinking they can do all things by themselves. Humanistic philosophy makes man His own god, thus there is no need and/or desire to be obedient to the Living God. There are in our nations still a lot of people that claim Jesus Christ as their Saviour, but a good many of the churches they attend teach a watered down religion most of the time and in a lot of instances they preach fallacies that are totally outside the realm of what the Bible teaches. A lot of the churches teach that the law was done away with, and thus the people live in ignorant bliss of what is right or wrong and thus many a so-called believer today only pays lip-service to God because they are ignorant about the real issues contained in the Bible, but ignorance is no excuse, for the Word is there for all to read and study. But because of this ignorance many a Christian has in fact become idolatrous, lovers of self, wealth, sports and entertainment, reliant on government instead of relying on God. But God is not mocked!

In Romans 12:19 it says "Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord." Furthermore, in Deuteronomy 32:35 we read the following: "To me belongeth vengeance, and recompence; their foot shall slide in due time. For the day of their calamity is at hand, and the thing that shall come upon them make haste." Space does not permit me to quote all of Deuteronomy 32; but the reader should read the whole chapter for themselves. It is the song of Moses and in it he warns us against apostasy and God's judgment for it's very apt also for today. And now dear friends, let's take a look at what is happening in our Israel nations and on the whole earth in general.

We are being inundated by inclement weather all over the globe. There are floods and droughts; there is excessive heat in some regions and unusual cold in other places. There have been earthquakes, hurricanes and tornadoes of unheard velocity and frequency all throughout the land. Crops are failing or are greatly reduced, and once the surplus is used, shortages will occur in every land. God is at this time sending us a final warning, a message to repent and return to Him. This is not global warming but instead it is a global warning. The four horsemen of the Apocalypse are out of the stable and the seven bowls of wrath are in the process of being poured out on the Earth, and unless we as a nation go collectively on our knees, and ask our Heavenly Father for forgiveness and mercy, things will only continue to get worse. Yes, as I quoted at the beginning of this article, "It is a fearful thing to fall into the hand of the Living God." What is even more frightful is to fall into the hands of an angry God.

But in all of this there is hope, and that hope is called repentance, if we bow down to that, then God will hear from Heaven and not only forgive our sins but He will also heal our lands. That is His promise and what God has promised will come to pass.

RESCUE THE PERISHING

by Coach Dave Daubenmire

WAKE UP!! WE ARE LOSING OUR CHILDREN!!!

"Rescue the perishing, care for the dying, Jesus is merciful, Jesus will save. Rescue the perishing, duty demands til Strength for thy labor the Lord will provide." - Fanny Crosby.

Perish—To become destroyed or ruined. We must rescue our children. They are perishing. It is time to open our eyes and look around. There is a difference between seeing and understanding. We have denied what is before our very eyes. We are losing our children. No amount of self-denial can powder-over the Truth. Our children no longer share our values.

Helen Keller says, "The only thing worse than being blind is having sight but no vision." We can see, but we don't understand. Let me scream it!! Wake Up We Are Losing Our Children!!!

The evidence is everywhere. I could quote you a bevy of statistics to prove it, but most of you are in such a state of denial that you will reject it. Rejecting knowledge is worse than ignorance. Wilfully ignorant ... hear no evil ...

WHO IS TRUE ISRAEL

by late Col. Jack Mohr

Whenever it is declared that the USA, Britain, and other Nordic countries are Israelites, and that they are the Chosen People of God, most Christians call this false and without foundation. What saith the Scripture?

#473 - NOW - $0.65ea. posted

see no evil ... speak no evil ... Don't worry, be happy!!

The entire culture is eating your kid's lunch. No wait. The culture is devouring your children. They are being chewed up and spat out. The landscape is strewn with the Spiritual carnage. As Jack Nicholson uttered, "You can't handle the Truth!"

Our Lord will not treat lightly your disregard for the well-being of one of His children. He has entrusted them into your care. His warning is chilling: "Whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in Me to sin, it would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were drowned in the depth of the sea." (Matthew 18:6).

You are an accessory to a crime. You have turned the training of your children over to the enemy. You have caused them to stumble .. you have caused them to sin. You have all of the excuses .. "We can't afford it" .. "We are not qualified" .. "The schools need our children to be salt and light" .. "Our schools are not that bad" — Look around Buster. You are deceiving yourself. The public schools are destroying your children and you are the one who is responsible. Permit me to paraphrase a Scripture. "What does it profit a man to gain the whole world and LOSE HIS CHILDREN?!"

Sometimes I wonder if we know how to love our children. Get them out of the government schools! Cease and desist ... Run for your lives ... Flee immorality! WAKE-UP, DUDE!! Save yourself some heartache!! Rescue your children! "Calling all cars. Calling all cars ... government schools are poisoning your children."

Children are the future. Peer into the looking glass. It ain't pretty. We are facilitating our own demise. Some things to consider:

- Many of your child's classmates would never be welcomed into your home.
- Jesus is not honored in government schools no matter how "Christian" the teacher is.
- Childhood rape and molestation by teachers is skyrocketing in the nation's schools.
- Many of your child's teachers are amoral at best. The child becomes like his teacher.
- Do you know what the teacher believes? Is he/she someone your child should model?
- Seven hours of school per day (35 per week) ... one hour of Sunday school per week. Duh!
- Would your church permit your child's teacher to teach from the Sunday pulpit?
- Does your school teach the values of your church?
- Caesar teaches the values of Caesar. Do your kids belong to Caesar or to God?
- Do you know what senior boy has his sights set on your freshman daughter?
- Who is defending your daughter's honor at school? Who is protecting her innocence?
- When your child is lost to the world what would you give to get him/her back?

Cut the excuses. Quit lying to yourself. It is time to rescue the perishing. So here is a plan. Begin working it today. Set a goal and put the plan into action. Begin homeschooling your children. Don't believe the lie that the education establishment is dishing up. You don't need a degree in education to educate a child. God entrusted you with the children. He wants YOU to implant a belief system in them. Christians must teach our values to our children. The government will teach the children the government's values. Did you watch the Super Bowl half-time show? Why do you think the NFL chose Madonna? They know the values of the culture ... the values of the government educated masses. You think your child's school is different ... better? Do you need your head examined? The internet is full of great home-school resources. "It costs little or nothing to provide students with a self-educating program. Technology is decentralizing. Parents can find a wide variety of programs for children with varying skills. The delivery system is essentially free if you have high speed internet access. The main cost now is time."

Once a student learns self-education, he is ready for AP, CLEP, and DSST exams. For under $2,000 a student can quiz out of the first two years of college. This is where most of the indoctrination goes on. The home school student reads a textbook, does the usual cramming, takes the exam, and forgets the textbook. All students do this. But this way, colleges do not make a dime.—Gary North.

Start a homeschool co-op in your church. Partner with other parents who are facing the same dilemma as you. Churches by the thousands are sitting empty during the week while God's children are trained by Caesar and his acolytes. Open the building, Pastor. Invite home-schoolers to make use of the facilities. Create an atmosphere where parents can help teach each other's children. One parent handles math, another science. Charge five bucks per head and bring in challenging speakers and educators for a day. Meet once or twice per week. Use the internet. Guide the education of your children. Control the peers they associate with. Take them on group field trips to reinforce the values you are teaching. YOU ARE NOT ALONE! There is plenty of help. You can do it!!

We must re-link education and Christian values. We have one generation—tops—to reclaim this culture. Secular education cannot do it. That is not their goal. Their goal is equality, no one smarter than anyone else. Government controls the curriculum. Excuses are like noses. Everybody has one and they all smell. Go ahead ... trade your child's soul for something you can buy in a store. Downsize your house. Sell one of the cars. Get rid of some of the toys! It is not a question of whether you can afford it. It is a question of can you afford not to!! "Government schools can't teach reading, writing, and arithmetic—why should we trust them to teach morality, respect, and character? If public education does for ethics what it's done for learning, we'll end up with a generation of immoral, disrespectful, and characterless students."—Steve Dasbach. Yep.

Government education is destroying our children. It is destroying the nation. Stick your head in the sand if you want. That will not change the facts. Our children are perishing. Look in the mirror. The Lord has entrusted them to you. Stop giving them "stuff" and start investing "You" into them. Read the Bible to them every day. For heaven's sake, do your duty. Rescue them!

Do you think like a Christian or a humanist? Did the Founders really separate Church and State? Is Judicial tyranny ruining America?

Grace to you and peace! By the time you get to read these lines, we should be back home again, God willing, after going to my son Dirk's wedding to Rachel Gambling in Rockhampton. We hope to leave here on 31st May and come back on 4th June - another chance for the family to get together - which doesn't happen anywhere near often enough. Presently there are now 27 grandchildren, and God willing, 2 more on the way - it would be good if they all grow up following Matthew 6:33! Dirk takes good care of our website, check it out!

Many thanks to those who have been ordering and sending their donations. We appreciate your faithfulness. The mail has been rather quiet of late, so if you could encourage some friends and relatives to help increase the numbers would be very good. May the God of our forefathers bless you and keep you and make His face shine on you, and grant you peace,
