"Blessed be the LORD God of Israel; For He hath visited and redeemed His people, And hath raised up an horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David; as he spake by the mouth of his holy prophets, which have been since the world began; That we should be saved from our enemies and from the hand of all that hate us; to perform the mercy promised to our fathers and to remember his holy covenant; The oath which he sware to our father Abraham, That he would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies might serve him without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our lives." TOXIC BRAIN SYNDROME, AND RENEWING OF THE MIND by Lucien De Bruin

Even the most brilliant and intelligent neuro-surgeon cannot renew the MIND, nor the brain, nor can he "let this MIND be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 2:5). In Exodus 15:26, the Lord said to Moses: "If you will diligently hearken to the voice of the Lord your God, and will do that which is right in His sight, and will give ear to His Commandments, and keep all His statutes, I will put NONE OF THESE DISEASES upon you, which I have brought upon the Egyptians; for I am the Lord that heals you" (emphasis mine throughout, L.d.B)

"Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits; who forgives all your iniquities; who heals all your diseases" (Psalms 103:2-3)

When we write about a subject as complex as the MIND, it is not easy to come up with an apt title! As far as humanity is concerned we live in a toxic society, now covering the Creator's beautiful planet entirely, unless you know some very "primitive" tribes somewhere, where "educated" and "civilised" people never set foot on the ground!

When serving in the West Indies (Surinam, in the 1950's) I walked through tiny settlements on jungle patrol on a number of occasions, and it often blew my MIND to experience the total lack of "super-governments" with millions of "laws" keeping "the slaves" in control! More often than not, the Dutch troops were welcomed in a friendly fashion in steamy jungles.

Most of these jungle-dwellers had never even heard about a book called Bible, let alone the "Renewing of your MIND, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable, and perfect will of God." (Romans 12:2). And no, we didn't penetrate the semi-dark tropical jungle to teach the natives the Word of God, most of us including myself, knew hardly anything about it!!

What a contrast! The real jungle with the CONcrete jungle of modern "civilization." I often think the "civilised" jungle not only has Toxic Brains, but CONcrete Brains, whereas the natural jungle still breathes, and its residents know how to live within this environment, and respect it enough not to MINDlessly destroy it all!

Do we praise and honour and worship our Maker on a daily basis for the privilege of living on His beautiful planet, which rebellious and corrupt humanity is busy trying to destroy on a daily basis?

Have NASA and other space agencies and their space scientists found another planet like EARTH to "emigrate" to (only a few light years away?) when the Toxic Brain Club destroys beautiful EARTH? I don't think so!

More and more of humanity are getting into a Mind-set which screams from the rooftops: "We are 'Gods' now, and we can do anything we set our MINDS to."

"Let this MIND (attitude in some translations) be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 2:5), but first you have to be called, and more importantly, you have to be chosen! (Matt. 20:16).

When we look at the International situation which is getting worse every day, few indeed are chosen! Fewer still TRUST in the Lord (Prov. 3:5-6). Keep away from evil men studying destruction, and their lips talk of mischief (Prov. 24:1-2). We can see this around the world in any form of so-called "government".

The word MIND can be found in Scripture between Genesis 23:8 and Revelation 17:13 at various places. The word relating to Renew(ing) etc. between 1 Samuel 11:14 and Titus 3:5. Strong's Exhaustive Concordance of the Bible has renew in Hebrew 2318 as "rebuild," and in the Greek language 341 "to renovate."

Everyday on planet earth we can hear, see and smell pollution. We have noise, air, water, soil pollution, but by far the worst pollution is MIND pollution. Day in, day out we are bombarded on TV, radio and the printed press by the king-makers and king-breakers who tell us how to get super bodies including “six-packs,” to get a fake tan, and join the Hollywood make-believe “celebs”, but how many of those outfits give but one thought to renewing of the MIND? NONE!

The polluted MINDS of every government on earth are not at this time in our history even remotely considering the RENEWING - RENOVATING - REBUILDING of the MIND. Why? Because they are not interested in studying the book of life, THE BIBLE, to get Divine instructions on how to RULE OVER MEN (2 Samuel 23:3) to start with!

A study into the renewing of the MIND with the help of the MIND of Jesus Christ, is very sobering indeed. Neuroscience without the Bible is like the clay without the Master Potter of Scripture! Which came first, anyhow? There is nothing omniscient in science!

In the early morning of 29th August 2013 (after the 3am news) the ABC put on a program called “Big Ideas” from the CSIRO in Canberra ACT, Australia, and hosted by Paul Barclay. A panel of four neuro-(brain)-scientists discussed the brain and neuro-plasticity, known since the 1940s

Of course, mental illness was mentioned and the drugs used to “heal” this disease. Ground-breaking clinical trials with the brain were also discussed, but not once during this nearly one hour session was our Creator mentioned nor the book of life, the Bible, and the many scriptures covering the brain, the MIND.

The proper “Renewing of the MIND” was sadly missing, and with respect to the panel, it seems that the neuro-specialists have totally forgotten the Creator, if indeed they have any interest in things spiritual? Unless we turn to our Maker, “none of these diseases,” including the endemic mental illness will be healed!

Since we are covering toxic brains and renewal of the MIND, perhaps we should have a look at Genesis 11:6 and the “we know it all” mob building the tower of Babel, and see how it compares with the New World Order of today? Do we have a modern version of Babel, of what we see on earth today?

We are not far off with a One World Government, and one language, one way or another, and the Tower of Babel was a Mickey Mouse project compared to man’s exploits into space, and where he wants to go and how far? Very little has changed, and the constant mocking of the Master Potter by the Clay seems never ending!

It will be helpful to list the state and varieties of the MIND in the Bible from Genesis to Revelation: willing, wicked, foolish, alienated, fervent, ready, vain, one, lowliness, fleshly, humble, sound, double, EVIL (mentioned 602 times in the Bible), blinded, corrupt, LORD’S, CHRIST’S, spirit, wisdom. A few of them need RENEWING!

The Lord’s and Christ’s MIND are totally necessary to make it into the Kingdom, “And be renewed in the Spirit of your MIND” (Ephesians 4:23).

In an alienated Hollywood-ised world should we not “Bring into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ Jesus?” (2 Cor. 10:5). How close are we to the Redeemer Jesus the Christ? Close enough to believe 1 Cor. 2:9? Close enough to believe Hebrews 11:1, and Hebrews 11:9-10? If you are, there is nothing stopping you to apply the “Ask, Believe, and Receive” test. Matthew 21:22 and Mark 11:24 will get you on the way, but remember: None of us can function properly without the MIND of Christ!

Our brain is so brilliantly made, with thousands of books written about it, but most of these scientific works could and should have been written giving our Creator full credit!

The brain, the MIND can beat the largest most complex computer in the world! What came first? Our Creator gave us the brains (MIND), and clever scientists made the computer, but the MIND does not need electricity to function - - but the computer does! Matthew and Mark told us to Ask, believe, and receive; what are we waiting for?

The world’s No. 1 illness has to do with the brain, the MIND: mental illness, and is society at large dealing with this very serious illness through what the Bible has to say about it, i.e. THE RENEWING OF THE MIND? NO! “Modern” society is very keen to “renew” the body Hollywood style, but when it comes to renewing of the MIND we do not listen to our One and Only Creator who knows all there is to know about our MIND and its thought processes.

The destroyer of millions of brains through drugs and alcohol ALONE, and consequent horrific car smashes is a daily tragedy which is preventable. Carnal emotions (as in CARNAL MIND) produce enormous stress which in turn produces all manner of diseases! There is a way to “none of these diseases”! “And your ears shall hear a word behind you, saying, THIS IS THE WAY, WALK YOU IN IT, when you turn to the right hand, and when you turn to the left” (Isaiah 3:21).

Jesus to Thomas: “Jesus said unto him, I AM THE WAY, THE TRUTH, and THE LIFE: no man comes to the father, but by me” (John 14:6).

Human government is on its last legs, the MIND of sinful humanity is death, but the (spirit) MIND which was also in Christ Jesus, our MIND controlled and RENEWED by the spirit is life and peace.

We can only get back to a peaceful paradise on earth (THE KINGDOM) by us (the clay) crying out to the Master Potter (our Creator) and asking, believing (in faith) and receiving, turning this beautiful planet into a KINGDOM PARADISE!

Humanity at large is no longer GOD-oriented, Jesus Christ focussed, with the MIND, the brain, the very faculty that should keep us close to our Maker, our Creator, our Master Potter.

The MIND destroying societies we live in are no longer conducive to sanity and “renewing of the MIND” is the last thing people on earth think about!

Be part of changing society which is suffering from TOXIC BRAIN SYNDROME (TBS) on a massive scale, by renewing of YOUR MIND. If you asked me what our Redeemer is thinking about our world today, I can only come up with the shortest ‘verse’ in the Bible: “JESUS WEPT” (John 11:35).

PS: The power of the people is greater than the people “in power,” but only if we have King Jesus on our side!

issue about same-sex 'marriages.' There are nine states so far that have legalized it; and the Supreme Court is to decide if this is constitutional and if the federal government can grant the national benefits of marriage to sodomites.

The Supreme Court consists of 6 Roman Catholics and 3 Jews; 6 men and 3 women. What?! No Protestants? No Bible Believers?! Some women? Prior to our Constitution, every one of the 13 state Charters forbade all Roman Catholic and Jewish citizens from holding any office which would include any office in the Supreme Court or even voting in any election—only white Christian men, and not all of them [the Constitution changed all that!].

Three of the Supreme Court judges are women. They couldn't hold a state office or even vote after the Constitution was made valid; that is during the first 131 years of the nation's existence. Women, in the United States, gained the right to vote in 1920; after many years of meetings, debates and struggles which finally led to an affirmative vote. There have been more years in our country when women could NOT hold office or vote than when they could; 131 to 93! What was the difference—we were more Christian back then and more Jewish now. We were free back then and are Jewish Communists now.

Was that right or wrong? Are the differences between men and women derived from the social skills that are needed or are they determined by our Almighty God. Are men and women equal? Are they interchangeable? Or did our God give each one a different role in society?

This is the prevailing opinion in today's world: the marriage of two men or two women equals the marriage of a man and a woman. What difference does it make? There is only one big difference: only one of these marriages has the ability to produce and raise godly children! And there is only one of these marriages that is approved by Almighty God (i.e. that is the only marriage to be blessed!)

We now have, after six thousand years, women who are now allowed by our government to be frontline fighters in our Armed Forces. We have women who are now CEOs in major corporations; women who have run for President; women who are now Senators and Representatives in both the federal and state governments; women who are now bishops and pastors of our churches. And a couple of years ago, we had more women who were in college and universities than men! Women used to drop out of high school in the eighth grade and most colleges were for men only, except for education and nursing.

How did all of this change: from a patriarchal society to a Jewish matriarchal society? In less than a hundred years, almost all of us do not have a clue what has hit us; but it has destroyed the largest group of human beings born in the same generation. There is not ONE part of our lives that was not planned out for us in advance!

The women's right to vote was already settled before I was born; but in my lifetime Playboy, Hustler, women's liberation, sex, drugs, rock 'n roll, new age therapies, lesbians, sodomy, same-sex 'marriages,' criticizing of the church, schools, families, the flood of different race immigrants, the rise of tolerance, and the vast increase of debt on the people are just a few of the revolutions that we have experienced and for the most part have lost! Would you like to know who led our people, the sheep, over the cliff to immorality?

There was a collection of Jews who developed highly provocative and original perspectives on contemporary society and culture, which drew on Hegel, Marx, Nietzsche, Freud and Weber. This "cultural revolution" was something that had its roots in the past.

A freemason, who lived from 1753-1821 wrote: "Until now nations were killed by conquest, that is by invasion: But here an important question arises; can a nation not die on its own soil, without resettlement or invasion, by allowing the flies of decomposition to corrupt to the very core those original and constituent principles which make it what it is?"

Immediately following the Bolshevik Revolution in Russia, it was believed that the workers' revolution would sweep into Europe and then into the United States. When this failed to happen, the Communists International began to consider what the reasons were that Communism did not spread into the other parts of the earth. Vladimir Lenin initiated a meeting at Moscow. It was organized at the Marx-Engels Institute.

At this meeting, there was a Hungarian aristocrat, the son of a banker, who had become a communist in World War I. His name was Georg Lukacs. He developed an instrument of destruction—not a new physical bomb—but a new cultural bomb; sexual instinct that would destroy Western Christian Society. He soon had a program of sex-education in kindergartens in Hungary.

Another person who was present at this meeting was Willi Munzenberg who proposed a solution that was "to organize the intellectuals and use them to make Western civilization stink. Only then, after they have corrupted all its values and made life impossible, can we impose the dictatorship of the proletariat."

This meeting was more harmful to Western civilization than the Bolshevik Revolution itself. Two years after the meeting in Moscow, Lukacs moved to Germany where he chaired the first meeting of a group of communist-oriented sociologists, a gathering that was to lead to the foundation of an Institute that would lead to the destruction of America. The Institute was funded by a Jewish millionaire by the name of Felix Weil.

In 1930 Max Horkheimer assumed control of the Institute and he believed that Marx's theory should be the basis of the group's research. But the Nazi's came to power, and the Institute had to close and its members fled to the United States.

John Dewey persuaded many of the members to come to Columbia University in New York; others went to Brandeis University (named after the first Jewish Supreme Court justice), Princeton University and California at Berkeley. They were funded by another wealthy Jew and the American Jewish Committee.

Now it is making some sense that Barack Obama went to Columbia University, the very same university that invited the Jewish, Marxist Communists to come to America and settle there. Who knows what he did there, because no student who was there at the time he was there, remembers him. He did make a trip to the Middle East with a couple of his middle Eastern friends. Did he work for the CIA?

He probably did.

Soon after the Frankfurt School moved, and the Marxist jews set up at Columbia University; they put their emphases not on the destruction of Germany, but on the destruction of America. One of these Marxist jews was Herbert Marcuse. He was denounced by Pope Paul VI for his theory of liberation which "opens the way for license cloaked as liberty." Other popular members of this group were Erich Fromm, Leo Lowenthal, Jurgaen Haberman, Abraham Maslow, Bertrand Russell, Bill Ayers, Benjamin Spock, and Barack Obama.

The Frankfurt School at Columbia University believed that as long as an individual did not have the beliefs of Christianity, then that society would never reach the state of hopelessness and alienation that they considered necessary to provoke socialist revolution. Their job, then, was as swiftly as possible to undermine Christianity from the people.

To do this they called for the most negative destructive criticism possible of every sphere of life which would be designed to destabilise society and bring down what they saw as the "oppressive" order. Their anti-God policies, they hoped, would spread like an evil virus. And spread they did, till we had an epidemic that infected almost every city in the nation. Some of their plans that they advocated for the future destruction of the United States:

1. The creation of racial offenses. Flood the country with an invasion of third-world, non-Israelite people for the main purpose of destroying their identity. Integrate all of their institutions; schools, sports, businesses, neighbourhoods and churches. And even personal relationships; have them commit miscegenation (7th Commandment). Promote civil rights; even start new groups like the NAACP with jewish presidents. Advocate affirmative action for minorities.

2. The need for continual change in order to create confusion. Keep the changes coming so that the public will be completely confused. Don't give them time to rest in peace and think things through. Don't give them the time to read the Bible.

3. The teaching of homosexuality; sodomy, lesbianism and transgender to children; even to kindergarteners. Sex education will start being taught in the Chicago schools in kindergarten next year. Teach that it is not a sin; but a life-style; the individual has no choice about these evil practices, he is born into them. Kick God out of the school, so what He said is not mentioned. Equate these sins with civil rights.

4. The undermining of schools,' teachers' and parents' authority. They advocated "no spanking" allowed of children. Take away all authority of the father; make the children free to decide their morals and life choices. The elimination of discipline from the children has made this generation the most violent of all.

5. The promotion of the sin of drunkenness and drugs. Make this the normal and not what it really is: the practice of sorcery. How many lives have been destroyed by these two sins?

6. Destroying Christianity; making their churches wind up empty--that means no members. Make new Bibles which will change the meaning of the scriptures. Eliminate all anti-Jewish statements; promote universalism. Destroy the gospel that relates to the covenant that God made with fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob/Israel. Eliminate the most segregated hours on Sundays; integrate the churches.

7. Make the legal system both unreliable and having a bias against the victims of crime; especially for the White Christian culture. Make the laws jewish instead of Christian. Ohio Case Law is now found in 34 volumes, while the Talmud is 37 volumes. They both are very similar.

8. Large increase of people who are dependent on State and Federal benefits. People who received Social Security benefits, unemployment benefits, food stamps, welfare benefits, housing benefits, education benefits, job training benefits, transportation benefits, etc. would include almost half of all the people in the United States. Who do you think people who receive these benefits will be voting for in the upcoming elections?

9. All forms of mainstream media, including television, Hollywood (movies), radio, newspapers, magazines, etc. will be controlled and owned by people who are jewish. This ownership will help promote "political correctness."

10. Encouraging the breakdown of the family by divorce, matriarchy, confusing the traditional and Biblical roles of men and women and eliminating the basic candidates for marriage. Propose transferring American culture into a female-dominated one.

They changed the desire for girls from looking for a good husband; instead they are looking for a good career.

11. Encourage the people in the nation to be heavily in usury-debt; swamp their mailboxes with a host of credit cards. As a result, they steal the people's money. They have banks which will supply the nation with fiat money; ignoring what (both the United States Constitution and) God says about this economic problem. Does God want His people living in insurmountable debt; and to have most of them unable to ever get out of debt?

These eleven goals are also found in the New World Order's goals for the destruction of America. They supported the search for pleasure, the exploitation of the difference between the sexes; the overthrowing of Biblical relationships between men and women. To achieve these goals they would:

1. Attack the authority of the father and deny the specific roles of the father and mother. They would wrest away from families as being the primary educators of their children—emphasizing public education (brainwashing) as being superior.

2. Abolish differences in the education of boys and girls. They all will take the same classes in the public schools; for example: no more home economics classes just for girls and wood-working classes just for boys.

3. Abolish all forms of Biblical male dominance; including the first-time policy of women fighting in the front lines of the Armed Forces. Women now, for the first time, are preachers, high school principals, college presidents, CEOs of major companies, Chairmen of boards of companies, Senators, Representatives, Mayors, Presidential candidates and will be the major bread winner of many families as they are now graduating more women than men in colleges and universities. Is this the way our God told us how to behave?

4. Declared women to be an "oppressed class" and men as "oppressors." This is unbiblical. God cursed the women for their sin in the Garden by “greatly multiply[ing] thy sorrow and thy conception; in sorrow thou shalt bring forth children; and thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee” Genesis 3:16b.

Communist Jews Betty Friedan, Gloria Steinem and Bella Abzug were the leaders in this agenda in my generation. They painted our fathers as oppressors, who were decent and hard-working men who respected their wives and cared for their families; and our mothers as being oppressed, because they stayed home to raise their children and to be a wife to her husband. This changed the way it was done for several thousands of years.

Today, most women have neglected to prepare for their job as being a wife by not having any skills that a wife should have—they can’t sew, can’t cook, can’t shop for groceries, can’t home-school their children, can’t have dinner ready for their husband, can’t clean their home, etc. Instead, she is trained for a career. And now, she is trapped. She MUST work in order to keep the family afloat financially [after all, that degree has to be put to use]. Their children are put in a Child Care Center [to be brainwashed] from daylight to dark.

Betty Friedan (Betty Naomi Goldstein) would not have sold five million copies of her book, “The Feminine Mystique” if her Communist background was known. She advocated “class equality” but it was just a smoke-screen for a diabolical crusade to destroy the institution of the family. She made the nuclear family the cornerstone of women’s oppression, instead of the foundation of Western Civilization.

As the Marxist’s School declared, “We will make the West so corrupt, that it stinks.” Shortly after the School came to America, they changed their emphases: from a economic revolution to a cultural revolution. They saw it as a long-term revolution which would destroy the Western Christian society of America from within. They set their focus on how to destroy the family, education, media, sex, popular culture and all the institutions of the west.

SOME PROMINENT GRADUATES

Benjamin Spock, graduate of Columbia University in 1929, was a major influence to families across the country on family life. His views were against family discipline; he even advocated the elimination of spanking. This even crept into the public schools—most, if not all, public schools today have totally eliminated all spanking for about 30 years or more.

He taught that parents should not teach their children their religion, but instead should leave the children to decide what religion they should believe for themselves. His views took a bad turn when his own son committed suicide.

Abby Hoffman and the hippies; Jerry Rubin and the Chicago Seven were radicals of Brandeis University who studied under a professor who helped found the Frankfurt School—Herbert Marcuse. They were activists against many of the American institutions and godly morals.

Alan Ginsberg was also a graduate of Columbia University. He railed against Christianity and nationalism.

Many Columbia professors wrote an article in 1966 that calls for their plans for destroying America. One of these plans was to swell the poverty funds so that the nation will become eventually bankrupt.

Bill Ayers, a friend of Obama, earned a doctorate from Columbia University. Bill was infamous for his bombing of different American institutions.

Angela David was a member of the Communist Party. She was in favor of feminism and was a member of Jim Jones’ church. She worked for the destruction of the family.

Abraham Maslow taught teachers that they should not teach but facilitate. Teachers were to become amateur group therapists. The teachers were designed to convince children that they (the children) were the sole authority in their own lives.

Some people have held that Bertrand Russell was one of the most evil men in modern history. He was well connected with many people, like John Maynard Keynes and Eleanor Roosevelt. He was related to many Russell’s who were Freemasons who were deeply involved with the occult and the Rothschild bankers.

He was related to Charles Taze Russell, founder of the Jehovah’s Witnesses; Williams Huntington Russell who co-founded the Order of the Skull and Bones at Yale University, Isaac Russell a prominent early Mormon missionary to Great Britain in 1837 and many others. Their original name was from a Jewish name: Roessel. They changed their name to Russell after they moved from Germany to Scotland in the 17th century.

Lord Bertrand Russell joined with the Frankfurt School and wrote books that dealt with mass social engineering. The importance of mass psychology has been enormously increased by the growth of modern methods of propaganda; one of the most influential is called “education.” For this to succeed the influence of the home must be destroyed. Not much can be done unless indoctrination begins before the age of ten and that music is very effective if the lyrics are repeatedly used.

Theodor Adorno stated that classical music was produced different from the new popular music known as rock-’n-roll. The importance of popular music was that it was repeated constantly and taught messages that were in line with the destruction of American society. Rock ‘n roll brought into America illegal drugs and immoral sex. It has destroyed many, many families in America and elsewhere in the world.

The course in Psychology and Sociology along with multi-culturalism and Political Correctness are totally Communistic and Jewish ideas. I thought there had to be a separation in public school between religion and curriculums. So how can they then teach the Jewish-influenced courses of psychology and sociology? How do they reward their teachings on political correctness and multi-culturalism.

The connection between the Frankfurt School and the student rebellion of the 1960s was made primarily by a key Frankfurt School member, Herbert Marcuse--the man who in the 50s coined the phrase, “Make love, not war.” Marcuse’s book “Eros and Civilization” argued that the tools with which to destroy Western culture were, in effect; sex, drugs, and rock ‘n roll. He popularized the Frankfurt School's ideas in ways the '60 student radicals could understand and absorb, and now we know his work is called Political Correctness.

The educational and media world is very leftist in its view. College graduates came to believe in what the colleges and universities taught: multiculturalism.

Bullinger was very good friends with Theodor Hertzl, the international Zionist. His Bible notes are full of the views of Zionism. The Jews also paid degenerate Cyrus Scofield to "write" his Scofield Bible. His Bible, which is a little more than one hundred years old, is required reading for many evangelical churches. His notes, which also expound Zionism, have done much to destroy Christianity.

CONCLUSION

How did the Frankfurt School in America change America by means of "political correctness"? Patriarchy, Sabbaths, Feast Days, Jubilees, Sexual behaviour limited as to who and when, Separatism, Marriage, Diet, Counselling, Discipline and Welfare are thrown away by the churches of Jesus Christ and all of these have been taken over by the State.

America does not read and does not know the Bible. The preachers don't preach what it says. Some believe the new Bibles translations were translated by Jews and most of the others are just plain ignorant.

They forgot and no longer understand what the Bible says about them and their ancestors:

- God made certain unconditional covenant promises to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob/Israel that also extended to their physical descendants.

- Their physical descendants were comprised of thirteen tribes called Israel and the elect.

- God delivered Israel out of Egyptian bondage and made a conditional covenant with them through Moses. It was a marriage covenant between God and Israel.

- The conditional covenant provided that if Israel obeyed the laws of God that they would be God's "Kingdom," His "holy nation," His "own possession" and be blessed.

- If Israel did not obey God's laws, they would be cursed.
- One of those curses was that God would scatter or disperse them into exile and captivity "among the nations."

- Many years after God made a conditional covenant with Israel, the nation of Israel was divided into the House of Israel (ten tribes in the north) and the House of Judah (two tribes in the south) with the Levites scattered throughout all twelve tribes.

- Both houses continually rebelled and disobeyed God.
- God finally pronounced His judgment on the House of Israel and scattered them "among the nations," exiling them into captivity by the nations of Assyria. God also sent 46 fortified cities of Judah into captivity to Assyria.

- By this judgment, God also divorced the House of Israel so that they were no longer His Covenant people. However, He did not divorce the House of Judah.

- Later, God also sent the rest of the House of Judah into Captivity into Babylon, but only for 70 years and then a remnant returned to the land of Judea and Jerusalem.

- God prophesied through Jeremiah that He was going to make a New Covenant with the House of Israel and the House of Judah. He was not going to make a New Covenant with all the peoples of the world; He would remarry His former wife.

- Through this New Covenant, God would reconcile both houses to Himself and to each other.

- This New Covenant was accomplished and ratified by the shed blood of Jesus the Christ and by His death on the cross for these sins or transgressions of all the people of Israel which were committed under the first or Old Covenant.

- The Apostles Paul and Peter testified that the House of Israel was "the Gentiles" and the "scattered" or those dispersed "among the nations."

- Those from the House of Judah who returned to Judea from the Babylonian captivity were commonly known as "Judeans," often translated as "Jews." This designation by the English Bible translators continued in the New Covenant Scriptures.

- The name translated as "Jews" never referred to Abraham, Isaac, Jacob or the ten Northern tribes of the House of Israel. It only referred to Judeans of the House of Judah or the tribe of Judah or those living in the land of Judea.

So, if the foregoing conclusions and documented facts listed above about what the Bible says is true, why is it that almost every pastor, church and Bible scholar doesn't know or believe it? How can intelligent people, who believe they know what the Bible says and means, say that:

1. Abraham was a Jew;
2. God made a New Covenant with every person on the planet.

3. The Gentiles are everybody on the planet who is not a Jew?

--Pastor Lawrence Blanchard, Discover the Story of Your Biblical Heritage, pages 103, 104, 106, 107.

Maybe it is because we forgot the first commandment that our God gave to us:

Exodus 20:2-3 "I am the LORD thy God, who have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before (or beside) Me."

We believed the lie that the Laws of Jesus the Christ were nailed to His cross - - that we no longer had to keep them. So whose laws are we to keep?

Just ask our enemies: We will give them "Political Correctness;" Let them "make love, not war." On today's campuses we have Marcuse's concept of "repressive tolerance;" the tolerance for movements from the left, but intolerance for movements from the right—enforced by the students of the Frankfurt School. By 1992, the heirs of Marcuse and Adorno now completely dominate the universities, teaching their own students to replace reason with "politically Correctness" ritual exercises.

Blessed be the LORD God of Israel.

A HOUSE DIVIDED

a Watchman on the wall

And if a kingdom be divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand. And if a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand. - Mark 3:24-25, KJV.

With thousands of denominations in its unique and diverse portfolio, no religion is so divided against itself as the Christian faith, or Judeo-Christian ethic, as some call their dichotomous hybrid. But it is written:

Behold, how good and pleasant it is [or should be, at least] for brethren to dwell together in unity!—Psalm 133:1

Division, however, became our middle name - if the Bible teaches us anything.

For it hath been declared unto me..... that there are contentions among you... that every one of you saith, I am of Paul, and I of Apollos; and I of Cephas; and I of Christ. Is Christ divided? Was Paul crucified for you? Or were ye baptised in the name of Paul? - 1 Corinthians 1:11-13.

We've come a long way since then, with a mastery over hairsplitting to surpass the best this world has to offer. Just imagine - only four denominations to choose from. Our global, corporate dictatorship offers a wider selection in cereal, pop, and detergent aisles! So if variety is what you want, forget about the unity in Christ.

On the other hand, at such a critical time in history as this, we might benefit from greater harmony by resolving our many contentions. All that's needed is to ascertain why we see things so differently about a Book whose sole Author is God.

The problem often lies in the fact that much of what influences the church is not scripture but commentaries of men about scripture. Letting the Bible interpret itself is foreign to those who rely upon experts to interpret what God really meant when he said this or that. Likewise with media which forever dredges up experts from official-sounding think tanks to tell us what to think, or to spread so much confusion that our minds shut down in self-defense.

When select officials are caught in a lie, we may find comfort when our favourite media personalities cover it up. And if the Bible convicts us of sin, our conscience is soothed by a non-confrontational sermon about love (for sinners) and tolerance (of sin).

"This is a rebellious people [who] will not hear the law of the LORD. Which say to the seers, See not; and to the prophets Prophesy not unto us right things, speak unto us smooth things, prophesy deceits." Isaiah 30:9-10.

"For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers [pastors?], having itching ears; And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto [Jewish-Tit. 1:14]-fables." 2 Timothy 4:3-4.

Is history repeating itself? Ezekiel 34 and John 10 speak of shepherds/hirelings (clergy) who feed themselves and scatter the sheep (Israel). To further divide the flock is a little page between Malachi and Matthew that reads something like: "The New Testament of Our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ." Who wrote this and what is the effect of its presence? Neither this page nor the editor's or publishers notes are inspired text. So what - you may ask.

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." 2 Timothy 3:16-17.

If you were shopping for an item, two versions of which sat on the shelf - one marked "new & improved," the other one not, but identically priced - which one would you purchase? Since the "New" Testament (or Covenant, the same word) Scriptures are from a period already 2,000 years old, aren't you less inclined to read more lengthy and obscure texts that are much older? But what does the Bible say?

"For whatsoever things [what things?] were written aforetime were written for our [?] learning, that we [who?] through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope." Romans 15:4.

How can a "New Testament only" church with only 30% of the Scriptures - none of which were part of the Bible when Paul wrote this - have hope without a KEY to unlock those foundational passages about which he wrote? And with countless keys in the New Covenant (Testament), how does our modern theology keep them so well hidden? Here's one for openers:

"The Holy Ghost also is a witness to us, for after that he has said before, This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, saith the Lord, I will put my Laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them; And their sins and iniquities will I remember no more." Hebrews 10:15-16, with emphasis added.

Letting the Bible interpret itself; who is meant by the words us, them (2x), and their (3x) in a general epistle written to the Hebrews? Could they possibly be you?

"For finding fault with them, he saith, Behold the days come, saith the Lord, when I will make a new covenant (testament) with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah; not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt; because they continued not in my covenant ... For this is the covenant that I will make with [now undivided] Israel after those days ... I will put my laws into their mind, and write then in their hearts; and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people." Hebrews 8:8-10, with emphasis. Why does Jeremiah 31:31-34 say the same thing?

What did Paul - an Israelite from the tribe of Benjamin - mean by them (4x), their fathers, Israel (2x), Judah, they (2x), and a people to whom the New Testament (Covenant) was given in a Hebrew epistle of your Bible? If "God abandoned them" why do these verses disagree with modern theology? Are we being divided by Paul, or by a hidden agenda that lurks behind the training of our ministers? Consider: Prior to 1930 the Rockefellers gave $30 million in gold coin to Foreign Baptist Missions alone ($2 billion + in today's intangible credit), with additional sums to Union Theological Seminary, etc.

"I say then, Hath God cast away his people? God forbid. For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin. God hath not cast away his people which he foreknew." ["foreknew" in the New Testament, = 'knew' or 'known' in the Old Testament - Amos 3:2] - Romans 11:1-2 (so said Paul).

BIBLE LAWS ON RIGHTEOUS JUDGMENT

Dr. Stephen E. Jones

This is the 2001 revised version of Bible Laws on Accusation and Mercy. It is a study of the 9th Commandment about bearing false witness. The book also has a unique section on God's Supreme Court and a very important section on "God's True Method of Subduing the Earth," showing how God intends to subdue the earth largely by peaceful judgments, rather than by violence as most people seem to think.

We're told the church is spiritual Israel; the posterity of Israel according to the flesh (Romans 1:3 & 9:1-5), who hearken back 4,000 years to literal ancestors: Abraham, Isaac and Jacob-Israel. If Jesus the Christ was sent to you, could these be your forefathers?

"But Jesus answered and said, I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel." - Matthew 15:24 (Ezekiel 34:16 says why).

That said; let's insert another new key into the old lock.

"James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad, greeting." - James 1:1.

Pastors call these 12 tribes of Israel a figure of speech. Does your Bible say that? Would the truth be easier to see without the uninspired page between Malachi and Matthew which divided the Word of God and sheep of Israel against themselves?

Then there's the special emphasis given to all Jesus' words in red letter Bibles. But all scripture is given by inspiration of God; not just the more recent ones printed in red letters. And since Jesus is "one" with the Father (John 10:30), why are there no red letters between Genesis and Malachi?

Reference Bibles also influence the way we interpret scripture by dint of their proximate notes upon which we come to rely. Believers often put as much faith in their Scofield notes, for instance, as the Word of God itself. This is not unlike the perverse influence supplied by an axe-grinding media. Our perception of world events, God, and Scripture are molded by people we have never met, whose motives most of us never doubt or question. So are your beliefs really your own—or were they cunningly shaped by someone else? And since Paul's Hebrew-Israelite epistle is on the table, let's stir the pot a little more.

"Strictly speaking, it is incorrect to call an ancient Israelite a 'Jew' or to call a contemporary Jew an 'Israelite' or a 'Hebrew.' The first Hebrews may not have been Jews at all... The Jewish Almanac compiled and edited by Siegel & Rheins, Ch.1 (Identity Crisis) p.3, Bantam Books (1980).

It's odd how Christians ignore what is openly admitted in Jewry, how our role in the Middle East is based on a belief that Jews are God's chosen people, over 90% of whom they admit are not of Semitic origin, and whose ancestors never lived in [the state of] Israel. yet our biased foreign policy has been to wage war against Islam—for 64 years.

"Now the LORD had said unto Abraham ... I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all the families of the earth be blessed." Genesis 12:1,3.

Name one such family that was blessed after we created the Israeli state in 1948! Calamity awaits us for failure to discern a people who lost their name (Isaiah 62/65), are redeemed (Galatians 4:4,5), under the law (Romans 9:1-5), and fooled by those who openly deny Jesus Christ. (1 John 2:22,23).

"Behold, I will make them of the synagogue of Satan, which say they are Jews, and are not, but do lie; behold, I will make them to come and worship before thy feet, and to know that I have loved thee." - Revelation 3:9 (2:9).

"REMEMBER"

by R.J. Rushdoony

"Remember what Amalek did unto thee by the way, when ye were come forth out of Egypt; How he met thee by the way, and smote the hindmost of thee, even all that were feeble behind thee, when thou wast faint and weary; and he feared not God. Therefore it shall be, when the LORD thy God hath given thee rest from all thine enemies round about, in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee for an inheritance to possess it, that thou shalt blot out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven; thou shalt not forget it." Deuteronomy 25:17-19.

The word "remember" appears repeatedly in the Old Testament, and over twenty times in Exodus, Leviticus, and especially Deuteronomy. The Hebrew word means to mark and to recognize, and it has a positive, masculine note. It means to remember and thereby command and exercise dominion. We are to remember so that we might act.

What we are to remember is Amalek, an historical example of evil and a type of pleasure in depravity. Amalek's hatred of God was manifested in their hatred of the covenant people [just like the Jews hate Jesus and God's people today]. It was not simply that they warred against Israel but that they began by attacking the stragglers in the wilderness march. These were the weak and the feeble, the faint and the weary.

This encounter had been at Rephidim near Sinai (Ex. 17:8-16). The attack by Amalek had been an unprovoked one. If, as Velikovsky held, Amalek used the occasion of God's devastation of Egypt as an opportunity to conquer Egypt, Amalek should have been grateful to Israel rather than hostile. The attack was thus an act of contempt for God and Israel. The nation had reacted to God's judgment on Egypt with terror. Some forty years later, Rahab spoke of the continuing "terror" because of God's acts and fears for His covenant people (Josh. 2:9-11) and the great triumphs over Egypt known to all. The animosity of Israel to Amalek was a religious one, as 1 Samuel 15:2-3 makes clear. It was a duty to oppose Amalek. This text is not comprehensible apart from that fact. There are religious boundaries on pity and friendship, and we are not allowed to transgress in these spheres.

This is an aspect of Scripture too seldom noted. In the New Testament we see limits placed on our fellowship:

"Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; AND AVOID THEM. For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple." (Romans 16:17-18).

"A man that is an heretic after the first and second admonition reject; knowing that he that is such is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned of himself." (Titus 3:10-11)

"Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son. If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him

THE PURPOSE OF RESURRECTION

Dr. Stephen E. Jones

If men receive their "eternal rewards" when they die, then what is the purpose of resurrection? The answer depends upon whether one holds the Greek or the Hebrew view of creation. It introduces the concept of resurrection itself, along with the difference between the first two resurrections (barley and wheat companies).

This is the first of a 3-part series: (2-The Barley Overcomers, #386 @ $5.75; 3-The Wheat and Asses of Pentecost, #434 @ $7.15 - are the others.)

not into your house, neither bid him God speed: For he that biddeth him God speed is partaker of his evil deeds.” (2 John 9-11).

Some will argue that there is a difference between these New Testament texts and the law concerning Amalek, in that one commands simply a separation while the other orders death. This is not an honest interpretation, because no unprovoked attack on Amalek is ordered. Attention is called to the unremitting hostility of Amalek; the law then requires no mercy in time of war. There is no instance of lawless violence against Amalek. However, when Amalek had gained a portion of Canaan Samuel ordered war against them, and their destruction. Saul’s sin was that he sought a treaty with them after defeating them (1 Samuel 15:1-25). What is forbidden, thus, is any compromise between causes which cannot be reconciled.

Those who believe in the reconciliation of all differences either want the surrender of one side, or else they believe that nothing exists which cannot be compromised. False doctrines of reconciliation are basic to many of the most bitter conflicts of the twentieth century. Because some men believe that truth and justice can be compromised does not make it so. Since God is the author of all truth and justice we can have neither except on His terms.

In vs. 19, we see that God ties Israel’s inheritance of the covenant land to the destruction of Amalek. When God gives Canaan to Israel, “thou shalt blot out the remembrance of Amalek.” Remembrance in Hebrew is a word, zeker, related to remember, zakar. The Bible sees history as in part a memory war. Jeremiah sees his enemies as men seeking to obliterate the very memory of him (Jer. 11:19) because their cause in history is anti-God. As against this, God seeks another goal, which Isaiah 2:4 describes thus:

“And he shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people: and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.”

This peace comes not by compromise but by conversion and victory, by a rejection of every attempt to reject the antithesis between good and evil, right and wrong. When the moral fact of all human action is ignored, then change between one force and another is a matter of compromise. Issues then not being moral, they are thus amenable to rearrangements designed to obscure differences. For the moral antithesis in history, Hegelians have substituted a dialectical one, so that thesis and antithesis lead to synthesis, i.e. “right” and “wrong” come together in a new formulation. This becomes a perpetual conflict, a continual antithesis to every new synthesis, because nothing is nor can by definition be called true. This has been described as “perpetual war for perpetual peace.”

This text concludes with the words, “thou shalt not forget it.” With some things, there can be no peace. “Thou shalt not forget it” again invokes, as does the first word, “Remember,” memory. Without memory, we are miserable creatures; we do not know ourselves because we then have no past. True amnesia is rare, and disastrous. Our text warns us against religious and historical amnesia. We have today, as a result of our humanistic faith, a prevalence of abortion, homosexuality, euthanasia, and other evils. We are oblivious to a variety of evil forces around us because of our moral and historical amnesia. We are as a result moving blindly into disasters. In Isaiah 59:7-10, we have a vivid description of such moral blindness:

“Their feet run to evil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity; wasting and destruction are in their paths. The way of peace they know not; and there is no judgment in their goings: they have made them crooked paths: whosoever goeth therein shall not know peace. Therefore is judgment far from us, neither doth justice overtake us: we wait for light, but behold obscurity; for brightness, but we walk in darkness. We grope for the wall like the blind, and we grope as if we had no eyes: we stumble at noonday as in the night; we are in desolate places as dead men.”

Moral blindness means historical death. The Biblical emphasis on memory is an important aspect of its moral demands. Memory is not normally seen as a theological concern, nor is history, but any intelligent reading of the Bible makes it clear how important both are.

An old American proverb says, “Memory is the guardian of the mind.” We can add that it is also important to our future.

Existentialism in the twentieth century has done much to destroy historical knowledge and memory because it is very specifically governed by the present, not the past nor the future. As a result, it has lost command of even the present.

THE CHALLENGES OF FAMILY LIFE

by Andrea Schwartz

When we come to faith in Christ, many of us hope that the practice of living out the faith will be a simple one. After all, the bottom line to Christian living is to fear God and keep His commandments (Eccl. 12:13). However, since our sinful natures have to be acknowledged by us and renewed by the holy spirit, we must work to become separated unto God—to become holy. Eventually, we come to understand that the process of our sanctification does not happen on auto-pilot, but must be lived out in a deliberate, self-conscious manner, without relying on gimmicks or simplistic formulas.

I recall the first time this was driven home to me. I was new to the faith and I was being discipled by a somewhat overbearing woman who made it seem as though all I had to do was memorize enough Bible verses and I would be safe from problems and trouble.

One day I decided to walk, rather than drive, from my apartment to the grocery store across the street. This turned out to be a bad idea because I purchased more than I could easily carry. I exited the store with two paper grocery bags full of ingredients for our spaghetti dinner. As I was approaching the home-stretch, my arms got weary and I became concerned that either my arms or the bags were going to give out. So applying what had been drilled into

COMMON SENSE II

America Betrayed

On January 10, 1776 a pamphlet entitled “Common Sense” was anonymously published in Philadelphia. Written by Thomas Paine, it logically argued the reasons why the American colonists should govern themselves rather than be ruled by a monarch who sits some 3,000 miles and three months travel time away. Paine’s booklet sold 500,000 copies in the country when the population was 2,500,000; one copy to every five persons. Paine contributed as much with his pen as Washington with his sword to the creation of the republic. Inspired by Paine’s pamphlet, this is intended to arouse insight into government and freedom.

me, I repeated with confidence, “I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me.” Immediately, and I do mean immediately, one grocery bag gave out and splatterings of spaghetti sauce, complete with glass fragments, were everywhere! “But,” I said to myself, “I thought that I could call upon the name of the Lord and be safe!”

My understanding of the faith has matured and deepened since that excursion. I now understand that God is not impressed with my incantations or a help-on-demand attitude. Living out the faith in the course of day-to-day living is not something we can do mindlessly, nor can we assume because we are in the Family of God, we get a free pass, exempting us from working out our salvation with fear and trembling (Phil. 2:12).

I have discovered in the course of raising a family myself and witnessing others do so, that often we look for a formula—a sure-fire method to produce good, respectable children who will become good, respectable adults. We take verses such as “Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it,” (Prov. 22:6) to mean that all we need to do is institute a plan of Bible memorization, catechism instruction, Biblically-sound textbooks, and all will be well. We incorrectly assume that since we have embraced a “correct” theology that family life can go on autopilot. Then, when problems arise (which they will), so, too, does disillusionment and despair.

The answer to these difficulties is not to abandon the Scriptures or to conclude that because child-rearing involves sinful people raising sinful people it is best to remain childless. Rather, we should reaffirm that since the family is God’s primary institution in society, we must embrace the full-orbed faith if our families are to impact the culture for the Crown Rights of Jesus Christ. Family life is not an end unto itself, but the primary vehicle to further the Kingdom of God on earth.

BIG FAMILIES START AS SMALL ONES

A new family begins when a man and a woman commit into a covenantal relationship in marriage. How these two people structure their relationship will have everything to do with how they embrace and welcome the addition of new members.¹ A Biblically orthodox pattern of living needs to be established. Spending time with families with older children from one’s own extended family or, in their absence, members of the church/congregation family, will help provide realistic expectations when the first child arrives on the scene.

The single most important aspect of preparing for family expansion is to concentrate on learning, understanding and applying the Law of God. By incorporating the ultimate Standard of life into one’s thinking (economically, socially, nutritionally, etc.), instead of “making it up as you go along,” parents can be confident that their decisions and practices aren’t arbitrary and will receive blessings from God.

Investing time with a first-born is essential to this process. too many mothers think leaving their child’s early years in the hands of paid providers (no matter how good they may be) is an acceptable choice. When a woman’s first child arrives on the scene, along with the normal care and nurturing which is true for all children, and additional emphasis needs to be given as this first child will end up being a de facto leader to younger brothers and sisters. The patterns that are established with a first child, who will be the first to reach maturity, are important because any younger children will use this older sibling as a litmus test for what is “really” allowed as opposed to what are the “stated” rules and regulations of the household.

This child (boy or girl) is to be groomed to assist the mother as more children are added to the family. One of the ways to bring about a unified family is to establish with older children the duties and responsibilities attendant with their position within the family. Birth order may seem accidental to them, but God has a distinct purpose in how He configures families. Making a point to deputize the older children apprentices them for the time they will manage a household of their own. It also gives them an accurate picture of where their loyalties should lie.

THE EYES OF THE CHILDREN ARE UPON YOU

It is not uncommon in Christian home schooling circles to see large families with seven, even ten children or more. Psalm 127 makes it clear that children are an inheritance from the Lord and a man is blessed with a quiver-full. But that doesn’t mean that there aren’t problems and situations that are unique to families with many children.

Since the world currently doesn’t view children as the blessings they are, big families are often ridiculed and criticized as being irresponsible and careless in an already “overpopulated” world. When it is pointed out that most of these families are self-supporting and not relying on government assistance, the argument is raised that the mother cannot possibly give each child the love and attention it needs. This is a ridiculous argument from a society that has no problems with murdering babies in the womb, or shipping their little ones off to day care, and then to public school (complete with before- and after-school care). Why should anyone believe that these critics have any idea of what nurture, love and discipleship entail?

Large families have the unique opportunity to impart to their youngest members the understanding that they are part of a larger entity while remaining a unique individual with duties and responsibilities in both roles. This involves understanding what according to Rushdoony is a basic question of philosophy—the One and the Many:

“Is unity or plurality, the one or the many, the basic fact of life, the ultimate truth about being? If unity is the reality, and the basic nature of reality, then oneness and unity must gain priority over individualism, particulars, or the many. If the many, or plurality, best describes ultimate reality, then the unit cannot gain priority over the many; then state, church, and society are subordinate to the will of the citizen, the believer, and of man in particular. If the one is ultimate, then individuals are sacrificed to the group. If the many be ultimate, then unity is sacrificed to the will of many, and anarchy prevails.”²

Missed Video: FORMED TO FLY Dr. David Menton

Evolutionists have long argued that birds evolved by chance from reptiles. However, in this lecture, you will see that the two classes of vertebrates differ more dramatically than do reptiles and birds. Unlike the dinosaurs, from which birds are said to have evolved, birds are truly “formed to fly.” With the aid of scanning electron microscope, Dr. Menton examines the feathers of birds and compares them to reptile scales. Contrary to the claims of evolutionists, feathers are profoundly different from scales in every respect. It is biological nonsense to claim that one evolved from the other by chance. 61 minutes.

It is much harder to live successfully as a spoiled brat when a child is one among many in a family. This does not mean that the children in large families are all carbon-copies of their parents or each other. Each comes to the family with a sinful nature that needs to be acknowledged and addressed. As Biblical standards are conveyed to each new member, each unique individual is trained in the ways of God and given the chance to learn how to interact peaceably with others.

Large families do have particular issues and problems that aren't faced by smaller families. For example, it is not uncommon for older children to be approaching adulthood as new members are being added to the family. If the parents have not prepared themselves to deal with the new circumstances older children will experience and face; family growing-pains can be debilitating.

Mom may be dealing with the nursing and diaper stage (a stage she is familiar with) just as older ones are learning to drive, finding employment, or attending college (a stage which she isn't familiar with as a parent, but only previously as a daughter). In a fragmented society with extended family often too far away to assist the mother as her older ones are ready to spread their wings, the mother may experience overload and find it difficult to keep juggling all her responsibilities.³

Conflicts arise that require revisiting lessons that were the hallmark of the Christian education at the core of their homeschool. Parents should welcome these opportunities to re-establish Biblical guidelines for themselves and their older children as such tensions arise. This process is played out in front of an attentive audience in large families. Most parents realize that how they deal with these realities will become precedent-setting as the younger children grow. The parents' desire to do things in an orthodox, Biblical manner is enhanced by the knowledge that the younger ones are paying close attention to how the parents are handling the matter.

Those who thought that their "formula" would prevent problems realize that their families are not immune to the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life. They discover that the world, the flesh, and evil are factors that need to be acknowledged and dealt with. It isn't that the parents have failed; it is just that the time of testing has arrived.

I am not making a case for small families. Small families do not mean fewer problems. These problems will arise regardless of family size. But large families have to work these problems out in front of many younger siblings. This is all the more reason for parents to be grounded with Biblical solutions.

IT TAKES A FAMILY TO RAISE A FAMILY

The foolish humanistic mantra that it takes a village to raise a family has a kernel of truth. Mom and Dad cannot tackle this task successfully on their own, for the task is overwhelming without assistance. Instead of a village, it takes a family to raise a family. That is why the Biblical model is the trustee family.⁴

A Biblical trustee family is a generational model that is concerned with the health, education, and welfare of its members in all aspects of life. Far from the atomistic model of just the parents and their children, all members of this extended family have a vested interest in the health and well-being of each other. The trustee family has a stake in how children are raised. This is a foreign concept in a day where the prevailing secular model is that young people "do their time" in the family environment until they can leave home and create a life for themselves. This is a recipe for moral failure and future economic woes for the "grown" child, and feeds our statist system by weakening the family. R.J. Rushdoony comments:

*"Atomistic individualism, because it denies all power to the supernatural, and rebels against the family, claims for itself both sovereignty and power. But, because the atomistic individual is anarchistic only with reference to God's Law, and family law, his need for a framework of reference is concentrated on men at large—collective man, the state. Atomistic man calls the totalitarian state into existence as his source of morality, religion, sovereignty, and power. The atomistic individualism of every era, whether in antiquity, the Renaissance, or in the twentieth century, has called into being the omnivorous power of the state as its destroyer, for social atomism is inescapably suicidal. By affirming the totally immanent one, the individual, it creates the greater concentration of immanence and oneness, the totalitarian state."*⁵

Raising and rearing children is an investment in effort, time, and financial resources. Biblically speaking, the investment of feeding, clothing, sheltering, training and educating offspring should bring a better return than heartache and separation. This is where the trustee model is so important itself; it is the foundational means by which the Kingdom of God is pursued. That is the reason that when deciding upon a spouse, you must understand you are not just marrying a person, you are marrying a family. The question must be: Is it a covenantal family that will provide the necessary support (spiritually, emotionally, and physically), and also shares the desire to see God's will be done on earth as it is in heaven? (if not, perhaps you should rethink your situation).

Family life is not an end unto

Where a family chooses to live should take into consideration the kind of familial support that will be available, be it their own family or the family of God. Making use of grandparents, aunts and uncles, friends with older children are all a plus if the people who help share the burden share your perspective on the Faith and its practice!

CLEARING HURDLES

You cannot ultimately determine whether or not your children's names are written in the Lamb's Book of Life, but you can inculcate in them the realities of living according to God's Word and the resultant blessings and curses that will follow from their decisions. Parents should focus their attention on preparing their children for the days of testing, using church life, academic pursuits, the arts, sports, and other activities as the milieu in which these lessons are taught.

Having a vibrant understanding of how the Law of God applies across various disciplines and issues will prepare them to address the challenges their future children will face as they expand their circle outside of family life. When the inevitable "butting heads" occurs, it is wise to make use of the extended family (both biological and the family of God - the church) to act as buffers to assist in unjamming the loggerheads. It is not a "given" that there will be generational conflict. This is a humanistic device intended to weaken the family, the culture, and set the stage for tyranny.

There is a formula that works in families, but it cannot be reduced to isolated Bible verses or wholesome curriculum choices. Raising a family is a top-down transmittal of Biblical Law (orthodoxy and orthopraxy) and will have a resultant, positive impact in a humanistic culture. Rushdoony explains:

*"Meanwhile, the economic, political, religious, ecological, and educational crises of the modern world are increasing. Every age has its problems, and many eras have had more difficult problems than the modern age, but the test is the ability of a culture to cope with its problems. The modern age has lost even one of the most elementary abilities of any culture, namely, the ability to discipline its children and maintain its authority. Without this elementary ability, a culture is very soon dead. The modern age gives every evidence of approaching death. This is a cause, not for dismay, but for hope. The death of modernity makes possible the birth of a new culture, and such an event is always, however turbulent, an exciting and challenging venture. The dying culture loses its will to live. A new culture, grounded in a new faith, restores that will to live even under very adverse circumstances."*⁶

Rushdoony's optimism is not ill-founded. As Christians continue to have large families and concentrate their efforts on establishing a realistic approach to transmitting the faith to their children, we will see strongholds being pulled down and the vain imaginations of those who hate the Lord cast aside. (2 Cor. 10:4). Now that is a formula for success!

NOTES:

1. For example: by learning to live within the means of the husband's income, the wife prepares herself to not have to be in the workplace and remain the mainstay in the rearing of her children. This will put the family on a better footing.

3. Depending on the age of the mother, she also may be in the midst of peri-menopause, the years preceding menopause. If she has not given ample attention to her health and well-being, an adrenal-depleted mother can have additional pressures when her older children are spreading their wings. This is another good reason for mothers to delegate, delegate, delegate when it comes to running their households. The Proverbs 31 woman is not a slave, but an efficient, godly manager who "looks well to the ways of her household," without being its slave.

"LET BOYS BE GIRLS. OR GOYS BE BIRLS"

by Joel Hilliker

Society is coming to embrace the notion of 'gender fluidity.'

The public now accepts homosexuality and same-sex

"marriage." But the fight is not over. The offensive to reshape society in even more radical ways pushes forward.

An effort is gaining ground to create a world where not just "sexual orientation," but sex itself, is a choice. Where boys can be girls and girls can be boys, or something in between. Where people are expected to ignore the biological reality of sex so that all people coexist androgynously, or according to whatever gender suits them at the moment. Where everyone pretends that gender confusion is normal, if not desirable, and anyone who doesn't play along can be punished and silenced.

This demonstrates unprecedented contempt for reality and common sense, let alone morality.

BOYS IN THE GIRLS' ROOM

Think of the implications with respect to public bathrooms, sex-segregated activities, locker-rooms, college student housing and countless other areas of human interaction. Does the idea of a boy who thinks he's a girl showering next to your daughter in P.E. class make you uncomfortable? Then you'd better brace yourself. This cause is winning critical legal battles—and it is starting with our youth.

In July, the California Senate passed a bill saying that throughout K-12 education, a student is "permitted to participate in sex-segregated school programs and activities, including athletic teams and competitions, and use facilities [e.g. bathrooms, locker rooms] consistent with his or her gender identity, irrespective of the gender listed on the pupil's records." "Gender identity" is the terminology these ultrasensitive, morally sophisticated lawmakers use to refer to the sex a person happens to identify with.

In June, a Colorado governing body ruled that a 6-year-old boy who thinks he's a girl has the right to use the girl's bathroom at his elementary school. The Colorado Division of Civil Rights said denying him that right "creates an environment rife with harassment" and is akin to racial segregation.

See where this is going? The public majority already agrees that denying same-sex couples the 'right' to "marry" is exactly like prohibiting interracial marriage. Now, denying someone access to a public bathroom on the basis of biology is just like excluding blacks from white-only facilities.

These lawmakers and officials are determined to ensure that these children grow up in a world where sex confusion is welcomed, even encouraged.

What about the girl who feels awkward about having a boy walk in while she's using the bathroom? Sorry, She is the one who needs to adjust her thinking—not the boy.

This is actually being promoted within our children's education. Our sons and daughters are learning doubt about sexual matters. Teachers and administrators are implanting and fostering this confusion and it is occupying more and more of our young people's thinking (and time). Misguided radical social engineers enthusiastically treat this like it's the brave new front in civil rights and societal progress. And with coaching from these radicals, youths predisposed to question and reject authority are starting to view their own sex at birth as something "imposed" on them, and any social pressure to conform to it as a form of oppression.

Does that sound like an exaggeration?

ZE, ZIM AND ZER

“A new generation of young people is challenging our understanding of gender,” intoned National Public Radio in a July 16 report. (Speak for yourself, NPR) “They’re calling for more fluid categories, beyond just male and female.”

Beyond male and female. Within the politically correct cocoon of academia, students in many colleges and even high schools are so diligent to accommodate gender-confused people that they introduce themselves with their “PGPs” — preferred gender pronouns. As in, “My name is Stacey and my PGPs are he, him and his.” As in, Today, I would like to be identified as a male. These youths insist not only that whether their “emotional gender identity” aligns with biological reality is entirely a matter of choice, but also that everyone else needs to pretend this is perfectly sane.

These students “are going way beyond transgender,” NPR reported. “They are arguing for a world beyond the gender binary.” In other words, not only is gender a choice, it is a spectrum. Even pronouns like he and she, they view as confining and unnecessary.

Lynn Walker, a director at a housing organization that caters to many transgenders, told NPR, “We encountered high school students who said, I want you to call me ‘tractor,’ and use pronouns like ze, zim, and zer. And in fact I reject the gender binary as an oppressive move by the dominant culture.”

Behold the product of our public schools: Students who are convinced that MALE and FEMALE—basic biology—is tantamount to tyranny that must be overthrown.

This is America’s up-and-coming generation of voters and lawmakers. This is a glimpse at where our world is headed.

We are looking at the next “logical” step in society’s wholesale departure from the understanding of masculinity and femininity. Though the concept of your sex having a bearing on your role in society and within a family has dominated human relations for humankind’s entire history, we are now throwing it out as if the facts are subjective. Today it is viewed with contempt. Now, it’s not just roles we reject, but biological absolutes. Everything is relative. Anything is respectable. Nothing is deviant.

PLAY ALONG, OR ELSE

At present, in many circles the world remains a fairly hostile place for gender-confused individuals. But society is changing—fast. On July 15, Slate featured a photo of a camp for “gender nonconforming” boys. There young boys dress like girls and women, apply make-up, and walk a fashion runway to the cheers of their parents. Such examples are increasingly appearing in the national spotlight—to the cheers of the mainstream press.

Those boys are part of a generation that is receiving the message that it’s not they who must change, but everyone else. And they are gaining the advocacy of lawmakers who are determined to force the world to embrace their behaviour.

On the surface, preventing society from badgering poor, gender-confused people may sound like a worthy goal. But this cure is far worse than the disease. Rather than helping people overcome thoughts and tendencies that lead to self-destructive, depressive, anti-social behaviour, the transgender crusade encourages and inflames them—and demands that everyone else play along.

Hate crime laws increase penalties on criminals who are deemed to have been motivated by animus against a protected class. In 2009, the U.S. Government expanded protected classes to include “sexual orientation” and “gender identity.” Anti-discrimination laws based on sexual orientation and/or “identity” exist in 21 states and more than 140 cities and countries. Illegal discrimination includes anything perceived as different treatment because of behaviour perceived as not stereotypically male or female.

Ripple effects from these laws are enormous, and already spreading. Universities nationwide are hosting gender neutral student housing, bathrooms and locker rooms. Transgender law advocates are pushing for health insurance plans to include hormones and sex-reassignment surgery. In June, the Social Security Administration changed its policy for those who want to switch gender on their Social Security card, removing the requirements of sex-reassignment surgery. After victories in California and Colorado, efforts to open public toilet facilities and locker rooms to transgenders continue. Thus, to protect the right of a man who says he feels more comfortable as a woman, the law is preparing to trample on the right of women who feel more comfortable in public bathrooms devoid of perverted men.

That is the truth of the matter. These social engineers want you to think their cause is all about inclusion and tolerance. But if you disagree with them, they have no tolerance for you. The push for transgender rights is a religious mission, aimed at converting the hearts of men. Its missionaries want to nation to repent of its archaic attachment to the traditional family, and to become devotees to the cross-dressing, bisexual, homosexual cause. The only victory is complete victory. Until transgender crusaders achieve this utterly impossible goal—every individual a true believer—they will continue their battle, using every tool of coercion they can summon.

THIS AFFECTS YOU

Today, the LGBT life is relentlessly promoted as happy and bright, free of shadows—and without consequences. Mainstream media and politicians ignore its darker side—the diseases, the guilty consciences, the family breakdown.

While a minority still condemns it, the typical “conservative” opinion has become indifferent. As long as it doesn’t affect me, let them do what they want, people say.

But how can anyone look at what is happening in society today and still claim that homosexual-related behaviour doesn’t affect those who disagree with it? When it fills our television screen and movie theaters—when it infiltrates our public school curricula, being taught even to elementary school children — when public discussion increasingly ridicules and bullies anyone who isn’t vociferously supportive of it—when judges overturn publicly approved measures to safeguard traditional family — when public policy punishes people who voice their disapproval or act on their conscience based on biblical standards? How can anyone sincerely continue to insist that this is a strictly private matter — so just mind your own business and keep your mouth shut?

They cannot. This issue affects everyone. Our society has transformed into an immoral “do your own thing” world that tolerates and accepts anything and everything (except Christianity). It is just as it was in Israel during the cursed and bloody period of the Judges, when “every man did that which was right in HIS OWN EYES” (Judges 17:6, 21:25). People pompously promote and push a way of life that ignores, insults, challenges and defies God in so many ways.

Our Creator made TWO SEXES—male and female—not a gender spectrum (Genesis 1:27), Matthew 19:4). In Scripture God strongly differentiates between the two, in what He expects in dress, hair length and appearance (e.g. Deuteronomy 22:5 specifically, directly forbids precisely what parents, peacemakers and the media are applauding in our youth. It is a law by which God intended to accentuate and preserve the differences between the sexes. Problems are proliferating in society today because we ignore this law!).

God also makes dramatic distinctions in the roles men and women should fulfill within family and society (e.g. Genesis 2:18, Ephesians 5:29-33, 1 Timothy 5:8). He created male and female for a reason. Do you know that reason? “Gender spectrum” talk reveals complete ignorance of it. But it is a wonderful subject to study—because it radiates with spiritual significance and beauty!

WHEN GOD SAYS “I WILL”

by W.B. Record

When God says “I will,” whatever is indicated is already a completed matter from God’s viewpoint. And the passing of time demonstrates that when God says “I will,” it does come to pass. Suppose we look at some instances where God said “I will.”

To Abraham, “I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee .. and thou shalt be a blessing.” (Gen. 12:2-3)

“I will make thee exceeding fruitful, and I will make nations of thee .. I will establish my covenant between me and thee and thy seed after thee, to be a God unto thee, and to thy seed after thee.” (Genesis 17:6-7).

“Sarah thy wife shall bear thee a son indeed; and thou shalt call his name Isaac; and I will establish my covenant with him for an everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him.” (Genesis 17:19).

I am calling attention to these “I wills” of God in order to ask when, where, and in whom do they find proof of their validity. So let’s look at what occurs in due time. “...I will bless thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy seed as the stars of heaven, and as the sand which is upon the seashore ... and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed...” (Genesis 22:17,18). May I ask, Are you looking down the corridors of time from Abraham and Isaac’s day to see where and in whom such things are fulfilled?

In Genesis 26:4 the Lord repeats the promise of God to Abraham and to Isaac saying, “I will make thy seed to multiply as the stars of heaven ... and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed.”

Let me now ask - Has this vast multiplicity of seed ever been found in the people known as Jews? You know full well it has not. Then do these promises find fulfillment in the unbelieving nations? Not if God’s Word is true. Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and Joseph were not unbelievers: nor is their offspring.

Since this promised multiplicity of seed is never to be found in the Jews, and since it cannot be fulfilled in other races (God’s Word being true), then you must expect to find the Abrahamic seed elsewhere. And you do; you find it in Anglo-Saxondom. Therefore who are they? They are not Jews. That are not heathen nations. What then? They are the Israel peoples, the multitude that was to come of the seed of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and Joseph. The facts prove that it simply cannot be otherwise.

I would remind readers that of the 50 chapters in Genesis, 12 of the last 13 chapters have to do primarily with Joseph. And note please, what is said of him in chapters 48 and 49.

In Genesis 48:19 we are told that Joseph’s offspring was to become a multitude of nations. May I ask the reader where those nations are? Are they found among the Jews? They should be found there if they constitute Israel. Isn’t there something radically wrong with popular preaching which insists that the Jews constitute the Israel people? And that all other people are ‘gentiles’? Do you see the contrast between the popular preaching of today, and the “I wills” of God substantiated in the now well known facts?

In Leviticus 26:12, “I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye [Israel] shall be my people.” Paul points out the fulfillment of this promise in 2 Corinthians 6:16 where we read “As God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them: and I will be their God, and they [Israel] shall be my people.”

Here we are at the close of this age. Surely great fulfillment of God’s sure promises should be evident today. And the evidence is ample and before the eyes of all who will but take an unbiased look.

“To the law and to the testimony, if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them.” (Isaiah 8:20).
